Hurricanes, Earthquakes, Fires
People Helping People

Matthew 25:34-40  Then shall the King say unto them on his right hand, Come, ye blessed of my Father, inherit the kingdom prepared for you from the foundation of the world: 35 For I was an hungred, and ye gave me meat: I was thirsty, and ye gave me drink: I was a stranger, and ye took me in: 36 Naked, and ye clothed me: I was sick, and ye visited me: I was in prison, and ye came unto me. 37 Then shall the righteous answer him, saying, LORD, when saw we thee an hungered, and fed thee? or thirsty, and gave thee drink? 38 When saw we thee a stranger, and took thee in? or naked, and clothed thee? 39 When saw we thee sick, or in prison, and came unto thee? 40 And the King shall answer and say unto them, Verily I say unto you, Inasmuch as ye have done it unto one of the least of these my brethren, ye have done it unto me.
Getting sick isn't convenient. We are.

How many times have you gotten sick or hurt before the doctor's office is open or after the doctor's office is closed? Now you can walk in and get the help you need sooner – even lab and radiology services. Mission My Care Now Blue Ridge is available Monday through Friday from 7 AM to 7 PM, Saturdays from 9 AM to 4 PM and Sundays from 1 PM to 5 PM with no appointment necessary. Plus, with an integrated electronic medical record across Mission Health physician practices, your health information is collected and available in one place so your providers can access your care updates. Why wait?

(828) 213-4444
(828) 766-3555
missionmycarenow.org
Welcoming patients three months of age and older
Church Directory

Altabase Baptist Church
3631 Altabase Hwy Spruce Pine, NC 828-765-0660 altabasebaptistchurch@att.com www.altabasebaptistchurch.com Dr. Marcus R. Benefield Sunday School - 10:30am Worship - 11:00am Sunday Evening - 7:00pm Sunday Youth Program - 7:00pm 1st & 3rd Sundays (Conductors for Christ ages 5-11) 2nd & 4th Sundays (Teeny Tones ages 12-18) Wednesday Evening - 7:00pm “A Christ-Centered, Bible Believing Church”

Pine Branch Baptist Church
48 Church Road Spruce Pine, NC 28777 Phone: (828) 766-9101 www.pinebranchbaptist.net Reverend Bobby Greer Sunday School - 9:45-10:45am Worship Service - 10:45am Sunday Evening - 6:30pm A Bible-believing Fellowship Loving God and Loving People

The Bridge Church of WNC
207 Pinebridge Avenue Spruce Pine, NC 28777 TECWNC.org Pastors - Tom & Tammy Anglin Sunday Service: 10:30AM Wednesday Service: 7:00PM Church Office M-F 9:00AM-5:00PM Our passion is to help connect the Body of Christ in this area under the Fire of God transform our community, state, nation and world. (See John 17:21)

Morganton Seventh-day Adventist Church
2157 James Road Morganton, NC 828-594-8212 Pastor Rick Mercier Sabbath (Saturday) Bible Study - 9:30 am Sabbath Worship - 11:00 am Vegetarian Buffet after church Wednesday Praise, Pray, and Proclaim - 7:00 pm www.morgontonsda.org

Bakersville United Methodist Church
119 S. Mitchell Avenue Bakersville, NC 828-765-5016 Pastors - Dr. Louis H. Woodard, & Rev. Gene Lanier Sunday School 11:00 AM Morning Worship 10:00 AM “Come grow with us”

Baker Creek Baptist Church
327 Baker Creek Rd Bakersville, NC 28705 www.bearcreekbaptist.com Reverend Bruce Cannon Sunday School 9:45 AM Worship Service 10:45 AM Discipleship 5:00 PM Evening Worship 6:45 PM Wednesday Worship 7:30 PM “For God so loved the world, he gave his only Son…”

Burkemont Baptist Church
4668 Burkemont Rd. Morganton, NC 28655 828-475-2040 For more information, please visit www.burkemontbaptist.org Dr. David Mills, Sr. Pastor 8:30am - Early Worship 9:45am - Sunday School 11:00am - Worship 6:00pm - Evening Worship

Bear Creek Baptist Church
307 Bear Creek Road Bakersville, NC 28705 www.bearcreekbaptist.com Reverend Bruce Cannon Sunday School: 9:45am Worship Service: 10:45am Discipleship: 5:00pm Evening Worship: 6:45pm Wednesday Worship: 7:30pm “For God so loved the world, he gave his only Son…”

Great Hope Seventh-day Adventist Church
29077 Hwy 70 E Morganton, NC 828-475-2040 Pastor Barry Mallory Sabbath (Saturday) Bible Study: 10:30am Sabbath Worship: 11:45am Vegetarian Buffet after church Wednesday: Praise, Prayer & Proclaim: 7:00pm www.greathopesda.org

First Baptist Church of Spruce Pine
125 Tapinn Street Spruce Pine, NC 28777 www.firstbaptistofsprucepine.com Dr. Rocky Branch Senior Pastor Sunday School: 9:45am Worship Service: 8:30am and 11:00am Sunday Evening Service: 6:30pm “Knowing God, Obeding God, Serving God, Submitting to God”

Faith Fellowship Church
Champlin Rd. Micavoy, NC 28755 828-475-6384 www.fnc.org www.fcradio.org Pastor: David Gillespie Sunday School: 10:00am Worship: 11:00am Wednesday Bible Study: 7:00pm “The steps of a good man are ordered by the Lord and he delighted in his way” Psalm 37:3

You can let tourists, visitors, and even neighbors know where your church is and when you meet by listing in the BRCN Church Directory. This visible and effective advertising is specially priced at $300.00 per year for your churches - approximately $8.75 a week!

Call us at 828-765-6800 to enroll in this important outreach effort.
I Am a Christian Have I Been Baptized in the Spirit?
By Pastor Dean Honeycutt
Mitchell County

When I was a child I was playing in the ocean and a big wave came and knocked me down covering me with water and telling me over and over, I thought I was going to drown. But the wave went away. The water never touched me. It baptised me.

So what is baptism in the water and baptism in the Spirit? Water baptism does not save you and is not a prerequisite to enter heaven. Water baptism is a public testimony of a new life in Christ, symbolizing his death and resurrection. The water in baptism is trusted Theological dictionaries of the Greek New Testament means to dip, baptize, immerse, sink, drown, bathe, and wash. Therefore, we can conclude literally speaking, Christian baptism is the immersion of the believer in water i.e. the complete covering of the body in water. In John 1:26 it is said by John the Baptist "I baptize with water". What did John do? He immersed, dipped, or sunk people into the Jordan River. Concerning the baptism of Jesus in Mark 1:10 "And straightway Jesus was tempted after the baptism in the Holy Spirit." This would mean when Jesus' body was under water and then came up out of the water.

This document is very important to our understanding of baptism in water and baptism in the Spirit. In Romans chapter 6 the Bible teaches us that water baptism is a picture of the death and resurrection of Jesus Christ. Consider verse 4, "There is therefore now no condemnation for those who are in Christ Jesus, because the Law of Christ (who was crucified with us), but the Spirit of God who lives in us (who was raised from the dead with the glory of the Father even so we should walk in newness of life)." Then we know it is right to say that the new man is crucified with him and raised with him. So the new man is a new creation, and since the old man is dead with Christ (who was raised from the dead with the glory of the Father even so we should walk in newness of life) we know that baptism is a picture of the death of the old man, publicly identify with the death and resurrection of Jesus Christ, and the new creation is born. This is a picture of entering into our new life in Christ. Water baptism is a Christian's first step of obedience and accountability to a New Testament Church.

If we could picture the day of our baptism does it not happen like this? A "teapot" is first poured over our heads and then we are lifted up out of the water. What a beautiful way to picture our new life in Christ. Water baptism is a Christian's first step of obedience and accountability to a New Testament Church.

Baptism, then, is not just a public profession of faith. It is a symbolic act that connects us to the death and resurrection of Jesus Christ. It is a way of showing our commitment to follow Jesus and to be a part of his church. So if you have not yet been baptized, consider doing so. It is a simple and joyous way to express your faith and commitment to Jesus.

Fallen Leaves
By Jacob Wilis
Yancey County

Ecclesiastes 3 says, "To everything there is a season, and a time to every purpose under the heavens: A time to be born, and a time to die; a time to plant, and a time to pluck up that which is planted; A time to kill, and a time to heal; a time to break down, and a time to build up; 4 A time to weep, and a time to laugh; a time to mourn, and a time to dance; 5 A time to cast away stones, and a time to gather stones together; a time to embrace, and a time to refrain from embracing; 6 A time to seek, and a time to lose; A time to keep, and a time to cast away; 7 A time to rend, and a time to sew; a time to keep silence, and a time to speak; 8 A time to love, and a time to hate, a time of war, and a time of peace." Fall is here and for many people changes of the season is a reminder of life, death, and change.

Fall is a time of beauty in this area that is unmatched in any other season. The leaves change and the weather gives way to brisk mornings and cool nights. The sight of autumn’s evening and morning piece through the clouds and fog like a million fireflies flickering all at once. Fall represents the time of life when we are wise and still active. It is where strength meet us in a wonderful melody played for those fortunate enough to live this long and learn from it. Fall is the time when we empty nest and watch our children’s childhood play. It is when great opportunity happens for those who have prepared all their lives for it. Fall is beautiful.

Fall also reminds us of new and the changes that are coming. Many elderly people suffer from depression as fall approaches. They know when the leaves begin to fall, the days shorten and the flowers fade that things will die. In a spiritual sense maybe they realize their own mortality is approaching. Maybe they look back to fail in their lives with longing. Hoping for the beautiful days of middle age again. Fall also reminds us of the changes all around us. Fall is the greatest reminder that we all will in beauty fade to winter. We will all as the gospel song says, "Become fallen leaves that lie scattered on the ground." Some people are at their best in fall. They accept themselves wants and all. They use their wisdom to help others, they forgive and receive forgiveness. Fall is about living and preparing to die. It is about the metaphors that happens when we as Paul says in 2 Corinthians’s 5: "For we know that if the earthly tent we live in is destroyed, we have a building from God, an eternal house in heaven not made with hands." Fall reminds us not only of winter, but also of regeneration. That not too long from now we will be new. We will be in a place where roses don't fade, we will never grow old, and we will be a new creation. We have hope that even in the winter of our lives we will be held, loved, and transformed. We can go ahead and enjoy fall.

Jacob Willis is an ordained pastor and Bereavement Coordinator for Yancey County Hospice. You can contact him at jacobwhospitalcyofyance.com
Reformation
Pastor Terry Cheek Th.D.
McDowell County

Thanks for joining me for another publication of “The Blue Ridge Christian News” and my article “The Inspiring Word”.

With October upon us, we obviously have our hearts turned toward fall and the coming holidays. My heart warms to think of them, time with family and friends, the special fellowship and atmosphere found only in the body of Christ! This year October brings something very special. This October we recognize the 500th anniversary of the beginning of the Reformation. On October 31, 1517, Martin Luther nailed his 95 theses to the church door. His stand of biblical authority began a work that continues today! The Reformation has never ended. The body of Christ continues to stand on God’s word as absolute authority for all people and in all things.

Too often the Reformation is portrayed as a theological division among Christians and, as such, very few study it and discover how deeply their Christian walk is influenced because of it. I’m not going to spend a lot of my article on it but I do want to encourage you to embrace this time in history and in doing so take time to read and learn about an event that continues to shape your faith 500 years after it began.

Many around the southeast and Midwest continue to recover from Hurricane Harvey and Irma. The road to recovery is going to be long and difficult. Sadly these are some who will never fully recover. I say this as someone who has lost everything to a disaster, leaving no assurance, with a family and an infant child I was under the weight of hopelessness and despair. God came through for me and I know He will come through for those dealing with the recent disasters.

Given my experiences, I write to you this month with a heart of missions. Will you ask God to show you what He would have you do in His name for these folks? You may think it is insignificant but really it isn’t. When we personally get involved in missions we collectively make a strong impact. By getting involved through your local church you join others around the world who share the love of God through material gifts that meet the daily needs of food, shelter, bathing, washing clothes, along with biblical and spiritual counseling, just to name a few. You can be a significant part of the outreach. I’m sure you have already joined the effort. If you haven’t, make a prayerful commitment today. There are many organizations and possibly your church is capable of directly reaching out with a heart of missions. The opportunities are many. Let’s not forget we are reaching out with and through the gospel. Remember the Lord’s words from Luke 10:2 “…The harvest truly is great, but the laborers are few: pray ye therefore the Lord of the harvest, that he would send forth laborers into his harvest.” We all have an opportunity to be a laborer in the Lord’s work.

The English word laborer is translated from a Greek word that means servant. In other words, this is a person who does whatever is necessary to be the means which purify the end. God has called His church to be laborers in Christ work. What is that exactly? Well, it begins with the spreading of the gospel. This only happens when we love people. I’m not talking about behaviors, I’m talking about seeing others as God sees them. His creation is His image with a soul that Jesus has died for. The body of Christ has the privilege of knowing what that means, we know through experience. We gained the experience because a messenger was sent with the gospel and the Holy Spirit convicted us to seek forgiveness and renunciation of sin through the blood of Jesus Christ! Be that messenger and while you’re delivering the message take along some food, a blanket, a stuffed animal, the word of God and a warm hug for someone wandering – What will I do? God has it all figured out and part of His answer is you and me. I will close with Jesus’ answer to the Pharisee, Mark 12:28-31 “And one of the scribes came, and having heard them reasoning together, and perceiving that he had answered them well, asked him, Which is the first commandment of all? (29) And Jesus answered him, The first of all the commandments is, Hear O Israel; The Lord our God is one Lord. (30) And thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart, and with all thy soul, and with all thy mind, and with all thy strength: this is the first commandment. (31) And the second is like unto it, This is the second commandment. (32) And the second is like unto it, Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself. There is none other commandment greater than these.”

Our time has come and gone, until next time may God keep you firmly in His grip.

Terry Cheek is Pastor of Calvary Baptist Church in Marion.

Backyard Creations
Virginia Bauw 328 East Court Street Marion, NC 28752 828-652-2667 Fax 828-652-1445 Store Hours: 10-6 Tues-Fri - 10-2 Sat

October 2017 - Blue Ridge Christian News page 6
October is Pastor Appreciation Month. This is an article which has been printed before, but I felt compelled to share again. Read with an open heart and show your pastor and his family how much you appreciate them for all they do for your church family.

Support your Pastor!

Several years ago, I approached my former pastor and issued an apology. This man was my pastor when I accepted Christ as Savior and baptized me. He faithfully preached the Bible, pastoried the church, attended night classes at Fruitland Baptist Bible Institute, worked on a job during the day, and continued to be a faithful husband and Dad. The reason for the apology I gave was the fact that after being in the ministry for a few years, I realized that I could have been a much better church member! In all my years of raising my family in church, I had still found things to whine and complain about. Personally, I failed to realize how much was on me. Instead of looking for things to whine and complain about, I should have been praying, helping, and supporting him more. In other words, when God called me to pastor, I became to understand through experience what a pastor faces every day in the ministry. Unless you are a pastor, you cannot understand the day to day challenges he faces.

The most important thing to do for your pastor is to pray for him. A faithful pastor who has been called of God comes under constant assault from the devil. But the one who is responsible for breaking the Bread of Life to the disciples of Christ carries the cross of the evil one. Any pastor who stays in the ministry has no battles not being done what he needs to be doing. There is a constant daily spiritual battle that faithful pastors go through to minister to the congregations and communities in which God has placed them. When a man answers the call to preach the Gospel he instantly steps onto the spiritual battlefield. To carry such an important responsibility places him as a target for the forces of Satan. This constant spiritual battle can take its toll on the man of God.

What I’m saying is your pastor needs your help!!! Pray for him every single day and if possible several times a day. As he is praying himself he needs to feel the prayers and support of those he is trying to minister to. Pray for God’s strength to sustain him. Pray for God’s wisdom to guide him. Pray that the Holy Spirit will assist him in his studies and his preaching. Pray for protection from the captain of the devil’s army. Your pastor, if he is doing what he should be doing, is constantly praying and thinking of the messages from the Bible that will help the people to whom he will be preaching. He needs the prayers of God’s people to help him as he prepares. If you believe his preaching needs to be deeper and improve start praying and stop complaining. It will help much more to pray for him than to complain to him!

Next, be understanding. Don’t just assume that your pastor only works on Sundays and Wednesdays. A pastor is never off duty. Even when he is at home with his family, he is on call. A pastor can expect phone calls at any time. There is no set time card which he will punch to say the work day is over. For the most part, many people will go to work and leave that job at a certain time. This is not so for the faithful pastor. At all times and in all places, he will be called upon to fulfill his calling as a pastor. He can be called away from his family during supper or in the middle of the night. In the grocery store, at the ballgame, walking down the street, eating in the restaurant. Wherever he is, he is still on duty as a pastor. The responsibility he has is not a career but a calling of God. Whenever he is called upon, wherever he is at, he cannot say, “I’m not on duty!”, but must faithfully answer the call when it comes. Don’t expect a pastor to have to be there for every little thing. What he is called to do is to teach and direct you, take your needs, bind up your hurt, and to come every time you stump your toe! Understand that sometimes will have to place priority on certain things and cannot be in more than one place at a time. He must take time to study God’s word and bring a message, for that is his most important responsibility as a Pastor. Be understanding that he is a husband and father and must have time and opportunity, just like you, to fulfill those responsibilities also. He must first pastor his family before he can be a pastor to you.

My wife knows me as Chris first, not Preacher Chris. My boys know me simply as “Daddy”. If your pastor also works on a public job, think of how much more pressure is placed on him to try and balance his responsibilities to his family and church. Be understanding and allow him to be a family man. He will be a better pastor to your family if he has time to be with his family.

Be a blessing and not a burden. Be an encourager and not a discourager. Often the only time some church members speak to their pastor or want a visit, is to bring a complaint to him about something that will make no difference in eternity. Now to one thing if he is denying the resurrection of Christ, but its another thing if he didn’t have time to visit your second cousin twice removed who you should have already visited! Let your pastor know you love and support him. Let him know you are praying for him. Be faithful to worship services and serve in, not just sit in, your church. It is very encouraging to a pastor to see people who are hungry for God’s word and choose to be there to be fed spiritually. Your pastor will be a better pastor and your church will be a better church to the glory of God if you work to help and not hinder. Always strive to be one who is willing to help carry the burden with your pastor so the entire body of Christ will prosper in the work of God’s Kingdom. I challenge you, after reading this article, to go to your pastor and ask him what you can do to help. After he wakes up from passing out (Ha Ha), help him as your church worships and serves the Lord.

Get together with the leaders of your church and do something to show your appreciation for all that your pastor and his family does to serve you and your church family.

Hebrews 13:7 Remember them which have rule over you, (your spiritual leaders) who have spoken unto you the word of God: whose faith follow, (imitate their faith) considering the end of their conversation (way of life). Parentheses mine.

Preacher Chris Rathbone serves as Pastor at Mine Creek Baptist Church.

Therefore said he unto them, The harvest truly is great, but the labourers are few: pray ye therefore the Lord of the harvest, that he would send forth labourers into his harvest. Luke 10:2.
Avery Mitchell Correctional Institution
"Do You See What I See?"

By Jody Griffin

Avery County

"Whither shall I go from thy spirit? Or whither shall I flee from thy presence? (Psalm 139:7)"

It's not a fair question, I know. Because each person sees through a unique set of lenses, the value of the Life we are given to share. Please allow me the privilege to explain...

Many believe that within the walls of the correctional facility there is nothing but spiritual darkness. While I must admit that there is some measure of truth in that, I am so blessed to offer you a glimpse into a place where the Light of the Love of God often shines brightest.

At a recent event for correctional chaplains from around the state, I was struck by the spirit of my brothers and sisters who share this gift of ministry together. Of the thirty some gathered, for three days of training and sharing, I did not hear a single complaint about the work we all do. Not one.

Without fail, every person expressed humility and awe that God would allow them to be present in a place many would never choose to go. Amongst those, many would rather avoid or ignore. There was a common sense of JOY in serving God by serving those who are incarcerated. Really!

The truth is, there is a vibrant spirit of faith within every facility because there are those who dwell and those who serve within who realize that they are not alone! The spirit of God is present and at work in so many ways! Here are just a few examples!

God is actively: Preserving, preparing, presenting perfect love to many; soothing, solidifying, stringing, souls; service both within and without and the prison gates; breaking, binding, building lives; once broken into bold statements of God's abilities!

I have personally seen these works taking place. I have witnessed the baptisms of those who have committed themselves to God in Christ!

And participated in a Blessing Service, where men are given the affirmation they deserve as sons of the Living God, whereas the focus is on their future, NOT on their past!

And counseled several men whose families have experienced severe illness, tragedy, and death. Can you imagine being incarcerated knowing that your loved ones have faced hurricanes, earthquakes, community violence and more?

Let me testify to you that in the face of these uncertainties and more, the Spirit of God is at work amongst those who live within these walls!

Thank you so very much for your continued prayer and your faithful support of this ministry! We couldn't do it without you!

Jody Griffin is pastor of Central Baptist Church in Spruce Pine and Community Funded Chaplain at Avery-Mitchell Correctional Institution.

Avery Mitchell Correctional Institution

"Celebrate Recovery"

By Barbara Farrall

There are many prospects on the drug issues that we face in society today. After our district attorney I decided to shine the light on 2 of these.

The first is Drug Courts. For over two decades, Drug Courts have led the charge towards a more humane, cost effective justice system. Research demonstrates that Drug Courts provide a highly effective alternative to incarceration for individuals whose involvement in the criminal justice system is rooted in serious addiction to drugs and alcohol.

A Good Definition is: A special court with jurisdiction over cases involving drug abuser offenders. Drug courts are treatment based alternatives to prisons, youth-detention facilities, jails, and probation. These courts make extensive use of comprehensive supervision, drug testing, treatment services, immediate sanctions, and incentives.

Drug courts concentrate the efforts of judges, prosecutors, defense counsel, substance abuse treatment specialists, probation officers, law enforcement and correctional personnel, educational and vocational experts, community leaders, and others on individuals who are charged with illicit drug abuse. The criminal justice system works cooperatively with treatment systems and others to provide an offender with the necessary tools to get into recovery, stay in recovery, and lead a productive, crime-free life.

The drug court acts to help the offender change his life and in order to stop criminal activity, rather than focusing only on punishment of the offender. Drug courts also help to provide consistent responses to drug offenses among the judiciary, and they can foster coordination between intervention agencies and resources, thus increasing the cost-effectiveness of drug-intervention programs. Successful completion of the drug court's treatment or intervention regimen usually results in the dismissal of drug charges, shortened or suspended sentences, or a combination of these. Participants acquire the wherewithal to rebuild their lives.

At first, drug courts were geared toward adult populations. The successes of adult drug courts in intervention and in changing the lives of adult offenders prompted juvenile courts to establish similar drug court programs aimed at juvenile offenders. Juvenile drug courts likewise have proven successful, and now many jurisdictions include family drug courts that primarily hear substance-abuse and neglect cases.

Difficult needs across jurisdictions have resulted in a variety of drug courts in terms of their structure, scope, and target populations, but they all share three primary goals: To reduce recidivism, reduction of substance abuse among participants, and rehabilitation of participants.

To achieve these goals, drug courts generally structure them to:

- Incorporation of drug testing into case processing.
- Prevention of non-adversarial relationships between the offender and the court.
- Identification of offenders who are in treatment and referring them to treatment as soon as possible after arrest.
- Access to a continuum of treatment and rehabilitation services.
- Monitoring and evaluation of program goals and effectiveness.

Once established, a coordinated strategy to target drug court participants is necessary.

- Forging of partnerships among drug courts, public agencies, and community-based organizations in order to generate local support and to enhance drug court effectiveness.

Drug courts can be used for a variety of case types and are adaptable enough to fit the needs and acceptability of any given community. Jurisdictions tailor their drug courts to meet the specific needs of their communities. Most drug courts are pre-plea courts, but some drug courts are post-plea, and others are used as a method of alternative sentencing. In a pre-plea program, charges are deferred while the defendant is actively participating in the drug court program. At that point in the process, he or she has not pled guilty to any charges. This program is designed principally for non-violent, first-time, low-risk offenders. Drug courts can be used for a variety of case types and are adaptable enough to fit the needs and acceptability of any given community.

The next question would be do they work? Most of the data I have accessed has had improvement in recidivism as well as lower costs overall if taking into account future cost if they relapse. There are a lot of factors that can influence the outcome of the success rate, even the interaction with a particular judge or personnel turnover.

continued on page 14
But for the Grace of God
By Doug Harrell

Luke 6:37 Judge not, and ye shall not be judged: condemn not, and ye shall not be condemned: forgive, and ye shall be forgiven.

As I have grown older, and hopefully a bit wiser, I tend to look at people and situations with more compassion, and maybe understanding, than I did when I was younger. In my younger years, I tended to be very judgmental toward people and the things they did, and I am still guilty of this in some instances, if I am honest with myself. That being said, when I look back on my growing up years, I realize how blessed I was and am to have had the people and parents I had in these years. Recently, I have had opportunity to deal with people, both young and older, that had different situations growing up and have had harder challenges in life in many ways than I have. I don’t know how I would have turned out in those same circumstances, and maybe I am learning to view them differently, but for the Grace of God go. If my parents had not taken me to church, taught me to work, taught me to be honest and truthful, set a moral example for me, how would I have turned out? Only God has the answer to that question.

When I am in situations today that I am dealing with people that have an addiction of some kind, or have had one, maybe I can see more clearly now. As Jesus said, I cannot set to save the just but to save the unjust. Romans 11:11. Let us not therefore judge one another any more: but judge this rather, that no man put a stumbling block or an occasion to fall in his brothers way. Maybe we help more if we have compassion and love, not enabling, but directing, with the guidance that we strive to provide. It is critical that we be loving and understanding, but also firm in our convictions. Accepting things as right, that are wrong, will never help anyone navigate this life and have happiness. But guidance with love and compassion can make a difference in many lives. My prayer is that we can truly love and accept the individual, even if I despise the sin in their lives, and try, if it is sin, and we never help anyone without an understanding of God’s teaching truths. True happiness can only be found in living a life as God ordains, not one without moral limits. Matthew 9:11 But go ye and learn what that meaneth, I will have mercy and not sacrifice: for I am not come to call the righteous, but sinners to repentance.

As we read the scriptures, it is very evident that Jesus was not afraid to approach the unapproachable, but that he as a guiding lighthouse for meaningful change in their lives. My prayer for each of us is that we be that beacon of light for those around us that are struggling each day with the challenges that life has thrown them. Will you love others and pray for guidance in your own life, and the life of others around you today?

Doug Harrell is a life-long resident of Mitchell County. Owner of Harrell Hill Farms, Inc., a member of Bear Creek Baptist Church and Publisher of the Blue Ridge Christian News.

BEAR CREEK BAPTIST CHURCH
Welcomes You to Celebrate Recovery
Thursday’s at 7:00pm
Hope & Help from Addiction Through Christ
"Peace Be With You"

By Shawa Thomas
Burke County

"Jesus came and stood in their midst and said to them, 'Peace be with you.'" (John 20:19)

"Peace be with you; as the Father has sent Me, I also send you." (John 20:21)

"He said it once, it would have been important; as He repeated it THREE TIMES it should really have our attention!"

It is striking that when the Lord Jesus first appeared to His disciples after His resurrection from the dead, He repeatedly shared this same message: "Peace be with you.

This was a word that those first disciples sorely needed: they were hiding in fear, living in doubts and uncertainties after the events surrounding His death. But in the midst of it all He appeared, and His message was that there was peace for them, because He was alive!

This is actually what Jesus came to give each of us. "Peace", "shalom", connotes not only the absence of conflict in a life, but also a "wholeness" that comes from a right relationship with God. We broke that "peace" with God through our sin, but Jesus came to die on the cross, not merely to "forgive our sins", but also to restore us back to that "wholeness", that "peace" in our relationship with God.

Thus, this three-fold message of Christ was not only for those original disciples in the upper room. It is for each of us today. What would Jesus say, were He standing before YOU today? It might well be these very same words: "Peace be with you.

You truly can have peace with God, and peace in my situation in life, as you turn your life over to the resurrected Lord Jesus.

Shawa Thomas is Senior Pastor at Pleasant Ridge Baptist Church in Morganton. His messages and devotions are available at www.shawatbr.com

God's Powerful Voice

By Jerry Lewis
McDowell County

I have met people with powerful voices. When they speak, people listen. They walk into a room and the entire dynamic changes. Maybe you recall the calming voice of your mother, or perhaps it's her commanding voice you remember most. Maybe the assuring voice of your father comforts you, or his correcting voice still confronts you.

God's voice exceeds them all. Consider the psalmist:

The voice of the LORD is full of majesty. The voice of the LORD breaks the cedars; the LORD breaks the cedars of Lebanon. He makes Lebanon to skip like a calf, and Sirion like a young wild ox. The voice of the LORD flashes forth flames of fire. The voice of the LORD shakes the wilderness; the LORD shakes the wilderness of Kadesh. And the voice of the LORD makes the rivers to roar and the waves of the sea. (Psalm 29:3-9, ESV)

In the beginning God created...with his words, his voice. He started with nothing and said, "Let there be..." and there was. Fares in Psalm 33:6 warns us that his voice is not diminished at all. The God who created with words, shakes his very creation with the same voice with which he created it.

Jesus did too. Asleep in the boat, tired from the demands of his day, he was suddenly awakened by his disciples. The boat was rocking, waves crashing, fear mounting. They thought they were dying!

And they went and woke him, saying, "Master, Master, we are perishing!" And he awoke and rebuked the wind and the raging waves, and they ceased, and there was a calm. He said to them, "Where is your faith?" And they were afraid, and they marveled, saying to one another, "Who then is this, that he commands even the wind and the sea, and they obey him?" (Mark 4:38-35, ESV)

You may be in a situation right now that only God's voice can handle. Unless He steps in, there is no hope. A broken marriage, incurable cancer, unbelievable debt, you need God's voice. David ends his Psalm with this affirmation: "May the Lord give strength to his people: may the Lord bless his people with peace." (Psalm 34:11, ESV)

"Ask for his powerful voice,
And sit again...and again...and again..."

Jerry Lewis is Senior Pastor at Grace Community Church in Marion.

Spooky Meadows

Sponsored by City of Morganton Parks & Recreation

Rediscover the thrills and chills of a good old-fashioned Halloween Hayride!

FOR ALL AGES

When: October 27 & 28
Location: Catawba Meadows Park
Time: 7:00pm - 10:00pm

For More Info Contact: 828-438-5350

Hayrides Provided by Valley Hills Antique Power Club

www.brcnews.com

October 2017 - Blue Ridge Christian News page 10
How Big is God to You?

By Billy Graham

In the fourth chapter of Hebrews, verse 12, it says: “For the word of God is living and powerful, and sharper than any two-edged sword, piercing even to the division of soul and spirit, and of joints and marrow, and is a discerner of the thoughts and intents of the heart.”

It is the world’s best-seller. Yet this book, for the past 200 years, has been under increased attack. Many people, even within the church, have come to doubt whether the Bible is authoritative. When you talk about the Bible, someone will allege “Bible criticism.” In other words, worshipping the Bible and not the Christ of the Bible. No, this is not Bible criticism; the only knowledge we have of Jesus Christ is the Bible.

Today there’s a growing movement to do away with the Bible. And if this movement succeeds, we’re in trouble. “This generation must face the appalling fact that it’s either the Bible, or the backdoor, and the jungle, that’s exactly what will happen.”

Now the Bible teaches that God loves. All over the world men hunger to know God. Buddhists, Hindus, Islam, all the religions of the world, have come from man’s search for God. But God has already revealed Himself, and it’s reasonable for me to suppose that God, an intelligent Being, would somehow reveal Himself to us as a human race. Even our most atheistic scientists are beginning to say that something is behind the universe. There is some sort of order behind the universe. There is some sort of intelligence. They may not say it’s God, but we call Him God. This intelligence who ords, arranges, and creates, and makes us—down in our hearts we hunger to know Him.

“Down through the years it’s been ridiculed, burned, refined, destroyed, and the destruction is in the soul that has worn our many hammer. Most books are read, live a few short years, then go on the way of the leaves, they’re forgotten. But not the Bible.”

Has God revealed Himself?

He has revealed Himself in nature. I look through a telescope and I know there’s a God. I look through a microscope and I know there must be a God.

And He has revealed Himself in His Son, Jesus Christ. But we get our knowledge of Christ out of the Bible. Only one or two other men contemporary with Christ ever mentioned that He ever lived, Josephus being one. Our total knowledge of Christ comes from the Bible.

The Bible was written by 40 writers, over a period of 1,000 years, in 60 books. And the great theme from one end of the Bible to the other is redemption—God’s love for the human race and God redeeming and bringing man back to Himself after man had rebelled against God. That’s what the Bible is all about.

Two prophetic messages of the Bible have been the closing trumpets in our day. In 2 Timothy, written almost 2,000 years ago, it says, “But know this, that in the last days perilous times will come: For men will be lovers of themselves, lovers of money, brawlers, proud, blasphemers, disobedient to parents, unthankful, unholy, unspiritual, without self-control, full of avarice, deceitfulness, malignity, 3 traitors, headstrong, haughty, lovers of pleasure rather than lovers of God, having a form of godliness but denying the power thereof.” (2 Timothy 3:1-5).

Isn’t that happening? The Bible says in the latter period travail shall increase, knowledge will increase (Daniel 12:2). Look what has happened in the last 75 years in the world. The whole world has become a neighborhood without being a brotherhood. That’s precisely what the Bible said 500 years before Christ.

And Jesus, 2,000 years ago, looking forward, said there would be a day like this. Oh, the Bible is true.

Archaeological discoveries have thrown some people for a loop. For instance, 3 years ago, many writers spoke of the sure results, the absolute certainties and the final position of a science (archaeology) that had disproved the Bible, but these phrases are no longer uttered.

Hundreds of old volumes fill the libraries right now saying that Moses could not have written the first five books of the Bible because writing had not even been invented until that time. But tables and inscriptions have been found which were written several hundred years before Moses. The Bible was right and scholars were wrong.

And then many very good-filled libraries about John’s Gospel. They stated that he could not have written it, that it was not written until the third or fourth century. Yet scholars of Ryland’s University, Ryland’s Library in Manchester, England, uncovered a fragment from the Gospel of John dating to around 100 A.D., proving that the Gospel of John was written near the time the scholars were wrong. A scientist once said in the New York Times, “Every fact and every science that man has so far discovered adds luster and testimony to the value and integrity of the Bible.”

I used to decide one day and I had to do it by rain. I saw all the evidences, but I couldn’t move them. I could almost believe, but I had to take a step of faith. When I did, my life and ministry changed. There was a command, and a power, and as assurance and a security.

But let’s see about Jesus—and here was the big convincing thing to me. Jesus quoted constantly the Old Testament and not once did He even tell us to doubt. Not one time. Not one time did He throw a doubt on the Bible. He quoted from it authoritatively many times. He said the Scriptures cannot be broken. He said all this was done that the Scriptures of the prophets might be fulfilled and after His resurrection the Scriptures said, “And beginning at Moses and all the Prophets, He expounded to them in all the Scriptures the things concerning Himself.” (Luke 24:27).

He was saying, “The whole Old Testament teaches about Me.”

And then Jesus did something that was fantastic. The two things that are the most difficult for people to believe are that the whole swayed Jonah and that it wasn’t Jesus in Jonah’s day and covering the world. And Jesus deliberately picked out those two stories, confirmed them and underlined them. You say, “Well, Billy, I don’t understand. I don’t understand all that. I don’t understand how a fish swallowed Jonah.” But I believe that Jesus is God, He could do it. But I believe even more than that. I believe that Jonah could have swallowed the whale if God wanted him to, because God is God. Now if you wrap God up in a little box and make Him as small as you are, of course I couldn’t do it. If you make God as small as your laboratory in the university, He couldn’t do it. But God is the God who created all of space and if you believe in that kind of God, He can do anything. And if Jesus said He did it, I believe Jesus.

The very heart of this Bible from Genesis to Revelation is the fact that Jesus Christ is God’s Son. That take by faith, that He was born of the Virgin Mary, and that He died on the cross for a special purpose. It wasn’t just death because He was put to death by the Romans. You and I put Him to death. I helped my sins. The Bible says that God took all of our sins and laid them on Him. And it was my sins, your sins, the whole world nailing Him to the cross. But in that cross is a great victory cry. The Bible tells us that Jesus Christ triumphed over sin and death and the grave and hell and there is hope today—security, peace, assurance—in coming to the cross. But the first step that you must take is a child-like step. It’s a simple step, so simple that many will rebel at it. It’s so simple that you may reject it. In fact, the Bible says thousands of people stumble over it because it is so simple, because you see the man, with His Ph.D. has come to like a little child exactly the same way. And that’s hard for a businessman or schoolmate, or union leader, show person, or journalist to do. We don’t like to humble ourselves and become small and just come with simple childlike faith. But when you do, your life is changed. Believe that and accept Him by faith into your heart.

But you have to be willing to give up your sins. Repentance means that you acknowledge that you have sinned, that you are willing to turn from them and if you are willing, you come by faith to Christ, and He will give you a new life. And it becomes God’s life because the Bible says that God exists from eternity to eternity. Eternal life begins at the moment you receive Christ. It’s a new dimension of living. We have third dimension. We’re talking about fourth dimension. But I tell you there’s another dimension, it’s the spiritual dimension that thousands in America have not tried. It’s the dimension revealed in this Book—the dimension that Jesus Christ offers free to everyone who will trust Him. ©1961 BOEA Scripture quotations are taken from The Holy Bible, New King James Version.

Check out our new Website—www.brcnnews.com And find us on Facebook

Need Gutters? Call Energy Savers Now!

Wayne Peight
828-467-9959

www.brcnnews.com October 2017 - Blue Ridge Christian News page 11
What a Tragedy!
By Franklin Graham

Could there be anything more that our troubled nation and its leadership needs right now than the wisdom, power and guidance of Almighty God as revealed in the Holy Scriptures?

America’s 16th president, Abraham Lincoln, who led the nation with great moral courage, said: “All the good the Savior gave to the world was communicated through this Book. But for it we could not know right from wrong.”

John Quincy Adams, the 6th president, remarked, “My custom is to read four or five chapters of the Bible every morning. … It is an invaluable and inestimable mine of knowledge and virtue.”

President Harry Truman said, “The fundamental basis of this nation’s laws was given to Moses on the Mount. The fundamental basis of our Bill of Rights comes from the teachings we get from Exodus and Saint Matthew, from Isaiah and Saint Paul.”

And it was only a few decades ago that President Ronald Reagan said: “Of the many influences that have shaped the United States into a distinctive nation and people, none may be said to be more fundamental and enduring than the Bible.” In 1983, Reagan signed into law an Act of Congress proclaiming it as the “Year of the Bible.” The Act asserted “a national need to study and apply its teachings.”

It was at the very beginning of my father’s ministry that he decided once and for all that Scripture was the infallible Word of God, and that his life and preaching ministry would be built on the life-changing power of the Bible. During an era where many denominations and ministries became progressively more liberal and began to dogmatize on the inerrancy of God’s Word, my father always lifted his Bible high in the pulpit and stood squarely on its unchanging truth.

In fact, one of his Bible expositions was an erudite erudite of his ministry will be part of the next annual Museum of the Bible in Washington, D.C., and any hope that this groundbreaking museum will expose a new generation to the enduring, transforming and saving power of Scripture. God says in his Word will not return void, and I pray that hundreds of thousands of people will come to saving faith in the Lord Jesus Christ. The museum will open on Nov. 17, just two blocks from the National Mall and three blocks from the U.S. Capitol. It will be an historic moment.

There has never been anything quite like it—a museum dedicated to the unique history, narrative and impact of the Bible through the millennia, filled with Biblical artifacts and manuscripts from Old and New Testament times, all testifying to the incredible role played by God’s Word throughout the ages.

The first thing you will see when you enter into the 430,000-square-foot museum is a massive replica of the Gutenberg plates that were used by Johannes Gutenberg to print the world’s first Bible in movable type, sparking a revolution in the mass reproduction of the Scriptures. You’ll also see fragments of the Dead Sea Scrolls, large portions of the Tyndale New Testament, early Bibles and Bibles of Martin Luther, and some amazing displays that highlight the Bible’s unsung role in influencing entire civilizations with the power of God’s transforming truth.

I love the Bible. I love how the Lord speaks to my soul as I begin my days reading passages of Scripture. I love to pray for its transforming truths in our Festivals and Crusades.

I can’t think of anything more encouraging than a premier exhibit on the historical, cultural and spiritual impact of the Word of God placed in the heart of the nation’s capital.

I believe that hundreds of thousands of men, women and children will pass through the Museum of the Bible each year and will leave with new wonder and awe at how God used men to communicate His inspired, authoritative, inerrant Word.

Think of it 66 books written by more than 40 authors on three continents over a time span of 1,500 years. All of it with a single, recurring redemptive theme of a Savior who comes to rescue people from their sins through repentance and faith in Jesus Christ.

Every single word from Genesis to Revelation is God-breathed, as the Spirit of God superintended the minds and pens of men. “All Scripture is breathed out by God and profitable for teaching, for reproof, for correction, and for training in righteousness” (2 Timothy 3:16).

In virtually every sector of public life today, the vacuity and relativity of the Scriptures is being questioned. Scholars and theologians constantly cast doubt. Most schools and academicians can rarely bring up the topic of Scripture without the fear of legal action (though some are able to present the Bible as literature). Biased newspapers and federal courts and hostile government mandates have served to practically ban any Biblical references in the public square.

When Sen. Marco Rubio recently referred Scripture verses such as John 14:27 and Proverbs 10:9, the backlash was immediate. A Washington Post reporter suggested Rubio had been “reckless or perhaps ‘totally lost it.” An Esquire blogger called the tweets “oddly terrifying,” and another journalist deemed them “unsettling.”

Such is the state of affairs in our land, where the Pew Research Center found that fewer than half of adults could name all Four Gospels, and only four in 10 knew that Job was a Biblical figure known for following God in the face of great suffering. Nearly 40 percent of Americans admitted to rarely or rarely read the Bible.

Many years ago, when I was a young boy, my mother taught me the importance of memorizing key Scriptures. To this day, I can recall many of them, and the promises of God’s Word have sustained and guided me through the years.

I love the Bible. I know how the Lord speaks to my soul as I begin my days reading passages of Scripture. I love to pray for its transforming truths in our Festivals and Crusades.

That’s why I’m concerned about and prayer that we will have a resurgence of interest and esteem for God’s Word. Any renewal or revival movement must have the Bible as the cornerstone, for “faith comes from hearing, and hearing through the word of Christ” (Romans 10:17). God saves us, from, and He does so as the truth of God’s Word is clearly proclaimed.

John Wycliffe, who will be featured prominently in the Museum of the Bible and who first translated God’s Word from Latin into the common English language of the mid-15th century, said: “Holy Scripture is the preeminent authority for every Christian. Forasmuch as the Bible contains Christ, that is all that is necessary for salvation.”

Men like William Tyndale have been burned at the stake for it. Like Martin Luther have had to hide away in a castle while translating the Scriptures into the language of the people.

And that is why there is no other book on earth that can even compare to this Book—the inspired, infallible, inerrant Word of God. ©2017 BGEA. Scripture quotations are taken from The Holy Bible, English Standard Version.

Reverend Franklin Graham is president and CEO of the Billy Graham Evangelistic Association and Samaritan’s Purse, an international Christian relief organization.

---

SECU Hospice House
Hospice Care in Forest City, NC
372 Hudlow Rd, Forest City, NC 28043
www.hospiceofrutherford.org
828-245-0095 or 1-800-218-CARE

The SECU Hospice House, located in Rutherford County, North Carolina, strives to provide state-of-the-art, compassionate care in a beautiful and tranquil setting. From 18 private comfortable suites with private patios & personalized Round-the-clock care, to elegant living areas for visits, anytime 24/7, with family and friends, it is truly a ‘home away from home.’

---

Jonathan’s
Used Appliances

• Cash In, Don’t Trash It! We buy your used appliances!
• We repair all major brands of appliances.
• We repair Monitors, A/C’s and Refrigerators.
• We repair all major brands of appliances.

149 Roan St, Spruce Pine, NC
828-766-9005 (Cell) 828-766-9198

---

October 2017 - Blue Ridge Christian News page 12
Keeping Your Finances Right
By Dr. Tom Walker
McDowell County

There are many reasons why homes break up. I am going to list several of these for you by way of introduction to our marriage topic:
1. Gross involvement with members of the opposite sex
2. Selfishness in the marriage
3. Disrespect toward the other marriage partner.
4. Outbursts of anger
5. Failing to share feelings with one another
6. Lack of physical intimacy
7. Failure to mesh lives together through shared activities
8. Failure to communicate
9. Destructive habits and addictions
10. Character defects such as dishonesty and bitterness
11. The unequal yoke (believers should marry another believer).

Overlooked by many, poor financial management may well be the number one cause for divorce. When a couple is not wise with their money, when the finances begin to fail and cause extreme pressure in a marriage, trouble is on its way.

It is easy to obtain credit cards, but it is another thing to manage them properly that you might avoid over obligating yourself financially.

What can you do to avoid over obligating yourself when it comes to money?

Talk About Your Finances and Create a Budget
It is essential in most cases for a couple to have a budget. CBS News gave the following information over the Internet:

"Your budget is the lifetime of your personal finances. It doesn't matter whether you choose to create your budget with an advanced budgeting software program like Mint or with a paper and pencil. What matters is that you use a system that works for you. At the end of the day, your budget should list all the income you have coming in, your fixed expenses, your variable expenses and the date your bills are due.

This step will take you a couple of hours at first. However, once you're over the bump of figuring out realistic budgets to set for spending on groceries, entertainment and other categories, you'll only need to make small tweaks month to month. Every dollar in your budget should have a job. That means each time you receive your paycheck, you should know where and how your money will be used. It could be for fixed expenses, like housing and insurance; variable expenses, like groceries and utilities; or items like savings and investments.

If you have extra money in your budget, send it toward the top item in the financial priorities list you created when you developed your plan. This way you always have your money working toward the most important financial goal. This takes the guesswork out of budgeting and makes it easier to know how to handle your money.

Eventually, you will reach your financial goals of eliminating your debt and increasing your savings, and somewhere along the way you will notice that your cash flow has increased — and what seemed like a struggle from paycheck to paycheck slowly disappeared. It all starts with getting ahead that first month, then slowly increasing your savings from there."

Make Sure You Have a Savings Account
It is sad when a financial crisis comes in your married life and there is no savings account to draw money from to meet the unexpected bill.

Even if you are a Christian and say, "Well, the Lord will supply my needs", you still need to remember there is personal responsibility. God has given us a brain and desires that we use it and put money back for a rainy day. It will rain and the unexpected will come our way. Presumption is not faith; there is quite a notable difference between the two.

Savings money is an important matter. Things that are made by men can and will malfunction from time to time. What are you going to do if your well pump fails, if the transmission goes out on your car or if you face a major dental or hospital bill?

A couple ought to save some money every month if at all possible. It may not be a large amount, but saving even a little each month adds to your emergency resource fund.

Make a goal of how much you plan to save from each month. If you do so, after a while you will see your savings account increasing. That should give a person a great deal of satisfaction.

Use Credit Cards Wisely
Credit cards are easy to obtain but sometimes difficult to control. When our eyes get bigger than our wallet and our financial resources, then trouble is on its way.

Debt can tally up quickly with the misuse of credit cards. The credit card companies want you to build up your debt with them, so they can charge you unfair prices for using their money. The interest on several cards combined can become so great that you simply pay on the interest and bring your debt down very little each month.

The misuse of cards can become a trap that is very hard to find your way out of immediately.

The best way to use credit cards is to pay off what you have charged at the end of the month. If you do so, you are not giving the credit card lenders a lot of money for using their money. It is not wise to give the credit card people money that could be in your pocket or your savings account.

You can become too financially obligated that you have no choice what you are going to do with your money after you receive your paycheck each week or each month.

If you don’t, go to a reputable financial counselor to assist you in getting your finances in order.

Realize Misuse of Finances Can Be One of the Most Detrimental Forces in a Marriage
When things get out of killer in a marriage relationship, often the blame game begins. One blames the other for the financial woes they are facing. As a result, a couple gets further and further apart until their marriage is totally destroyed.

Husbands and wives can have different ideas about money. While one wants to be conservative with their money, the other wants to spend as soon as he receives it. One partner may want to give to the church, while the other does not see the need of it. One may want to go on expensive vacations, while the other partner thinks it is best to stay at home rather than deplete their finances on an expensive vacation trip. A couple needs to get together over money lest it pulls them apart.

If management of finances is the number one cause of marriage failure, it would behoove us to be very wise in how we deal with the money we earn so that we can use it wisely and budget our finances in order.

Honor the Lord with Your Finances
God has a simple formula for the Christian’s financial success. It is found in the Word of God: Malachi 3:8-10 says, “Will a man rob God? Yet ye have robbed me. But ye say, Wherein have we robbed thee? In tithes and offerings. Ye are cursed with a curse, for ye have robbed me, even this whole nation. Bring ye all the tithes into the storehouse, that there may be meat in mine house, and prove me now herewith, saith the Lord of hosts, if will not open you the windows of heaven, and pour you out a blessing, that there shall not be room enough to receive it.”

If you honor the Lord in your giving, He can make the funds you have a lot further. If the Lord can take five loaves and two small fishes and feed a multitude, then He can take what we have and cause what resources we possess to go a lot further.

Tom Walker is President of Foothills Baptist Bible College and Pastor of Zion Hill Baptist Church in Marion, NC.

Medicare costs hard to swallow? SHIP can help find the best Medicare Prescription Drug Plan for you.

It’s time to evaluate your plan and see what’s new for 2018. SHIP, a division of the NC Department of Insurance, offers free, unbiased information about Medicare and can assist with enrollment and subsidy calculations that could save you money.

October 2017- Blue Ridge Christian News page 13
Hospice and Palliative Care of the Blue Ridge

WELCOMES KRIS GOFORTH

By Brent Price
Mitchell County

Hospice of the Blue Ridge, formally Mitchell County Hospice, is proud to welcome Kris Goforth to our team. Kris is a life-long resident of Avery County and has over ten-years' experience in the healthcare field. He is a familiar face to many who have been blessed by his care and compassion.

We believe Kris brings a wide range of gifts and talents that will be invaluable as he works to create and maintain relationships with physicians and other healthcare providers. However, the most important relationships are those he is developing with patients and families who need our services.

Kris has the heart and integrity to enter into these relationships with the care and consideration each patient and family deserves. We are blessed that Kris has joined us and believe he will bless many others as well.

Reverend Brent Price is a chaplain at Hospice & Palliative Care of the Blue Ridge.

Celebrate Recovery

Locally we have drug courts in several counties but not all. This type of treatment would probably require inpatient and outpatient treatment facilities and smaller counties don't have enough of these.

One of the things I noted in researching the Drug Court was no mention of the faith-based community. What would happen if the churches stepped up to fill the gaps in some of the treatment that is lacking in the system because of funding?

Our church is now involved in a program called “Celebrate Recovery.” Could these types of programs be used to lessen the strain on the government budgets?

But, this leads us to the 2nd observation. We need Christians to step up to the plate and begin to treat these people like God's children. When someone comes to your church dressed differently or maybe a little dirty or they have a drug reputation, what is your reaction? Whether we will admit it or not, we probably withdraw a little. They don't need our condemnation, but a loving acceptance.

Could we become their friend? Ask them to have coffee? Take them out to eat? We need to get rid of our Pharisaical attitude and know that as our attorney general said, “Except for the grace of God, there go I.”

*NADCP

*www.encyclopedia.com

CROSSWORD SOLUTION

BEAR CREEK BAPTIST CHURCH

WELCOMES YOU TO CELEBRATE RECOVERY

Thursday’s at 7:00pm

Hope & Help from Addiction Through Christ

SUDOKU SOLUTION

BUBBA’S GOOD EATS

CHOOSE BUBBA’S FOR ALL YOUR CATERING NEEDS

- Churches
- Reunions
- Holidays
- Family Gatherings

Best Food and Prices!

828-678-3388
394 East Main St.
Burnsville, NC

www.brcnews.com

October 2017 - Blue Ridge Christian News page 14
The Rest of the Story
Doug Harrel

Clint was always interesting to watch and listen to, his mechanical ability was next to zero but his overall intellect was close to 100. I had the opportunity to see him in a high powered corporate arena and also on the farm. He really fit better in the corporate arena, but he certainly kept things lively on the farm. This story is no exception to the rule. You just have to laugh loud at the experiences.

Dear Friends,

A devoted reader, and a self-proclaimed Funny Farra Fun, recently admonished me...“If I were you I would stay away from that Doug Harrel. When you see him coming you should run the other way!” And I replied, “Where were you ‘back in the day’ when you might have spared me the dangers of Harrel Farm Tales? She, of course, just chuckled.

Again I come before you this month to share another tale of terror. You know, even I am astounded by the sheer volume of pointless escapades which baffles me during the years 1990 and 2020. You do realize, of course, that this is my 20th Funny Farm column...how is it possible that so much drama could occur in 7 month spans on the farm? But it did and at least the nightmares are fewer now that I can share my stories with you.

A New Look

I recall when I arrived at Harrel Hill Farm I was a BIG CHUBBY city boy from Hendersonville, NC. At a svelte 299 lbs I was most comfortable dressed in a panty hose; my wardrobe options were limited at best. (Having flashbacks, even as I type, of struggling my round self up and down the mountains driving equipment, GIANT backpacks filled with fertilizer, etc...stumbling and rolling down multiple hills.) It is a miracle that my heart didn’t explode early in my farming career.

Well it took only 2-3 months before I was transformed from Shaun to the less-mean Farmer Clint you know today. Now, a shadow of my former self, I began longing for some true farmer’s attire.

One summer’s day Doug dispatched me to Griffith’s General Store in Tipton Hill. (My flashback continues...it was less than 90 days since I purchased SIZE FIFTY jeans to angrench my generous girth. I have a vision of merely needing a rope to cinch them since I could not find a large enough belt.) Anyway, I recall the purpose for going there as my only task was to purchase some piece of farm paraphernalia which I would never recognize without a written note from Doug. Anyway, as I browsed the millions of cool armors in this rural Mecca, I caught sight of my heart’s new desire...genuine overalls. I mean the bib kind, with the suspenders thingies and pockets galore. I was in love.

Recall that upon arrival at the Harrel farmhouse a short while back I had no money...zero dollars... nada. But Doug recently shared some $$SS from an outside job he’d obtained for raking hay...my royalty as you may recall. I decided then, the next time Farmer Clint千 overalls. I must confess, although not with fake pride, I was looking good! Being a bit shy and not wanting to appear too dapper, I decided to keep the secret of my new acquisition from Doug until the next morning.

Well, as usual, morning (or as I should say middle-of-the-night) came with the familiar knocking from my friend at the foot of the suitcase...“Let’s go, Pollard! We’re burning daylight!” Why does he do that? I sprang to my feet, showered in 3 minutes, and quickly donned my new duds. I must say, I was looking good.

Doug was in the kitchen, making his patented backwaist pancakes which I probably ate homemade waffles when I was my own man. He welcomed me, as usual, to the table and started looking in my direction for long. A little ‘Doug-smirk’ on his face, those eyes twinkling as they do, he said, “Nice clothes.” That was it...I think shock-and-awe struck him as I pranced about in my new persons.

Bees In My Birthing?

Today was to be another ‘teaching moment’...Farmer Clint’s first use of a chainsaw. I was anxious, a bit terrified to tell the truth, but excited at the same time. We were getting ready to build a new house in preparation for building a new house on the farm later that summer. I mean, think about it, how much better could things be...beautiful, cool summer’s morn...my best friend and I side-by-side...I would learn a new skill with a new tool...and I was looking like a million bucks.

Doug is always very serious when he begins mentioning about DANGER-OH-SIS imposed on us today...it was expected. I was warned never to use a chainsaw unless someone was with me, I learned where to stand in relation to the tree being felled, he demonstrated how to cut tree limbs in a tree to make it fall where you want it, he talked about the importance of sharpening the blade, the chain, the oil...all the rules you reflex the tool; blah, blah, blah! Of course, I listen intently but he makes us do all that maintenance stuff since I’m scared of it!

At last, in answer to prayer, Doug stepped talking/warning/chastising/teaching/ preaching and walked away. I cranked that saw and felt the power of Paul Bunyan demand upon me...Farmer Clint the Lumberjack.

To sell the absolute truth, I was only permitted to chop down the tiny birch trees...well, if I am totally honest, the one’s ‘assigned’ to me were more like twigs...but who cares! I was free and unencumbered...alone with a power saw. Doug it was cool! I stood, chopped and mutilated dozens of sprigs that morning...rejoicing as each one fell with a THUD (okay it was more like a ‘plunk’). Let’s think you think I was on safe ground, know that I was challenged to NOT TUMBLE down the hill with chainsaw clanging away.

After a brief while I began feeling a ringing sensation in my nether-regions and legs. Chalking it up to adrenaline, I imagined that I was just excited in my new role. When suddenly something stubbed me in a place one should not be stubbed...I felt scratching, itching, stinging sensations from my chausled abs to my ankles....SEEMS, it must BEES in my new overalls!

Sawdust Staggers

Not wishing to make a scene and hoping to avoid another embarrassing squawk, I extinguished my chainsaw (or turned it off— for you novices) and bolted behind a big pine. I began disrobing, dropping those overalls to the ground and slapping at my various body parts. I must kill the swarms of critters that was aggressively devouring my flesh!

As my pants hit the ground I noted ton of sawdust cascade from beneath my shirt and pants legs...my sweaty carcass causing snatch of the chainsaw dust to cling like blood-soaked leeches.

Quickly, I mused to myself...

“Perhaps overalls are not the best attire when using a chainsaw?” You see, as the wood chips exit the saw they are propelled backwards and, at you might envision, those tiny slices of wood were entering the open top of my overalls. So, my pants were filled with sawdust.

Well I emptied my Farmer Clint pants and resumed the task at hand— blessed that God spared me from another attack of killer bees, choosing instead to teach me another farm lesson...NEVER EVER WEAR OVERALLS WHEN USING A CHAINSAW!

Back At The Farmhouse

Showered, dressed and gathered around the dinner table, I thanked Doug for my “chainsaw badge” (I insisted that whenever I did something without getting killed he had to give me an achievement badge). He asked if I enjoyed it and I replied, “Yes, but I learned to not wear my overalls when running a chainsaw...all the sawdust goes in the top.”

There it was, that little glimmer in his Farmer Doug eyes, “Pollard, you are a smart.”

I’m not sure, but I think perhaps he witnessed my unclad self frolicking in the woods trying to id myself of the killer wood chips. Whatever the case, Doug never again chose to let me use that chainsaw again. Hmmm. And, FYI those overalls are too big now...think I’ll get a new pair for a date with my new bride Kaye. Think she’ll be impressed?

At the end of the day I praised God that I had survived yet another near-death happening on the Funny Farm.

Humbled in the Hills,

Farmer Clint (aka TIM Lumberjack)

OPEN ENROLLMENT

Medicare: Oct. 15- Dec. 7
ACA Individual Plans: Nov. 1 - Dec. 15

We Do the Work So You Can Be At Ease!

EbenConcepts

Amy Ellis
Marsha Letterman
Rhonda Robinson
Benefit Consultants

(828) 765-3499
(866) 514-3266
alexis@ebeconcepts.com
138 Highland Ave.
Spruce Pine, NC 28777

Specializing in Medicare and ACA Enrollment Plans

October 2017 - Blue Ridge Christian News page 15
Evergreen Church

Why I Love the Bible
By Rev. John McCoy
Joan Mountain, Tennessee

O how I love thy law! it is my meditation all the day. - Psa. 119:97
Can we say with the psalmist "I have rejoiced in the way of thy testimonies ... I will delight myself in thy statutes." I love the Bible because it is the Word of God. Both, the external and the internal evidences for this are overwhelming ... God speaks through the Bible to man, and the believer's heart is changed. That's external evidence. Bible accounts of saints and sinners alike with our own experience. That's internal evidence. I love the Bible for its unity and union. Many authors in different places and circumstances wrote the Bible over a period of many years, yet it has a unified message about God's purpose for man and His plan of salvation. I love the Bible because it is strictly honest about my condition as a sinner. It is not biased toward sinful man even though its authors were men. Jeremiah 17:9 declares this without apology. "The heart is deceitful above all things, and desperately wicked." I love the Bible because the Holy Spirit speaks to my need through it, first by interpreting it, then by convicting me; and third by condemning me. Finally, it presents the remedy of salvation through faith in the blood sacrifice of Jesus Christ - I know He died for me (Romans 3:20-25).

1. I love the Bible for its consolations, its confirmations, and its consolation. It pours the refreshing blessings of its promises and places them before us, and it satisfies us over and over again. After many followers had turned away from Christ because of some hard saying, the Lord questioned the twelve disciples, "Will ye also go?" Peter answered, "Lord, to whom shall we go? thou hast the words of eternal life" (John 6:68). The same declaration applies perfectly to the Bible. Thy testimonies also are the delight of my soul (Psalms 119:98-109). We affirm the human origin of Scripture, for it was written by human beings and bears the marks of human authorship. However, we also affirm the divine origin of Scripture that God superintended the authors of the biblical text in such a way that the final product cannot be marred. If we believe otherwise, then we have denied the omnipotence of God and have no reason to trust that He can save us. The power and infallibility of scripture "So shall my word be that goes out from my mouth; it shall not return to me empty, but it shall accomplish what I purpose, and shall succeed in the thing for which I sent it" (v. 11). Isaiah 55:10-11 emphasizes the power that the Lord has invested in His revelation. The word that goes forth from the mouth of our Creator-which is Scripture-is Scripturally "I am the Lord" (2 Tim. 1:16-17). It cannot fail to accomplish the Lord's purposes for it: When God sends forth His Word in order to bring about a person's salvation, that person will not finally resist His revelation. It will convert the man, woman, or child that God intends to save. At the same time, when the Lord sends forth His Word to someone He has not chosen for salvation, that revelation will result in the hardened person's hardening his heart even further. God's Word is powerful and effectual both to reveal the way of salvation to Christ's sheep and to hide it from the goats, those who have not been chosen from the foundation of the world for redemption (Matt 11:2-6). Just as the Word of God cannot fail to achieve the purposes for which it is given, Scripture cannot fail to teach the truth. The Scriptures are infallible, that is, incapable of teaching error. This is a necessary consequence of divine inspiration and inerrancy of Scripture. Scripture is God-breathed, and since God is truth Himself (Jesus, who is God incarnate, identifies Himself as truth), John 14-16, He is incapable of teaching error. Every word of God provokes trust, as Proverbs 30:6 tells us. The power of God guarantees the infallibility of His precious Word. Some people argue that this is possible for Scripture to contain errors because it was written by human beings, and human beings are capable of erring. However, being capable of error and actually making an error are two different things. "All things are possible with God" (Mark 10:27), and surely God can inspire people to write in such a way that their words cannot teach error.

Hurry In!

Exit 81 I-40 - 136 Worley Road - Marion, NC
(828) 652-7667
Tuesday - Friday 10am - 6pm, Saturday 10am - 2pm, Closed

L&B FURNITURE
McDowell County's Largest Selection of Furniture

Queen set starting at $259

Table Chairs & Bench $87

2 Recliners for $599

$399

for Sofa & Loveseat

COOPER TIRES
TIRE SERVICE
828.765.2186
Oak Ave, Spruce Pine, NC
HOURS: 7AM - 5PM, MON - FRI

S.......................... MONEY & KIDS
T.......................... HOME
E.......................... MASTER
R.......................... DISCOVER

Mary-2784: Master: 744-789

$100 REWARD Cooper Tires Visa Prepaid Card
$50 REWARD Cooper Tires Visa Prepaid Card
$50 REWARD Cooper Tires Visa Prepaid Card

$100 REWARD Cooper Tires Visa Prepaid Card
$70 REWARD Cooper Tires Visa Prepaid Card
$50 REWARD Cooper Tires Visa Prepaid Card
$30 REWARD Cooper Tires Visa Prepaid Card
$10 REWARD Cooper Tires Visa Prepaid Card
$10 REWARD Cooper Tires Visa Prepaid Card
$10 REWARD Cooper Tires Visa Prepaid Card
$10 REWARD Cooper Tires Visa Prepaid Card
$10 REWARD Cooper Tires Visa Prepaid Card
$10 REWARD Cooper Tires Visa Prepaid Card
$10 REWARD Cooper Tires Visa Prepaid Card

www.brevnews.com

October 2017 - Blue Ridge Christian News page 16
“Let Sleeping Dogs Lie…”

By Timothy W. Tron
Barnes County

The rain fell in large conserving drops. It had been a sultry afternoon in our little town of Colletsville. My clothes were soaked through with sweat, so the coolness of the precipitation was appreciated. The rain had stopped my work on the land and allowed me the opportunity to run to the store for fuel for the tractor. Closing the door of my truck, I turned to walk inside to prep. The first thing that caught my eye was the pair of dogs lying on the porch, one reclining against the wall and the other resting peacefully on the bench. Earlier that morning when I passed, they were on the opposite end of the store, sleeping under the shade of the shelter. People passed, coming and going from the store at an almost constant rate, yet the two scenes were the more bothered. Neither beast stirred from their sleep. Their caretaker mummered some incantation, it made me almost want to join them.

The first thing that came to mind were the scenes from the Beverly Hillbillies when Jed Clampett would be sitting out in front of the mansion whirring on a stile, while Duke, the old bloodhound would be sleeping nearby. All that was missing was Jed and his carved knife. Then, again, other than the fact that the community was in constant motion, there were actually plenty of “Jed’s” around, just didn’t have time to stop and sit on this particular day. If one were to pass long enough to take heed, they might see logging trucks roving past one minute, a landscaping crew the next, or perhaps a caravan of motorcycle riders heading for the winding roads nearby. Yet, amongst all the bustle of the daily grind in the valley, there was also a sense of peace and serenity. Call it the aura of the Johnson River that flowed peacefully behind the store, call it the sweetness of the pure mountain air, but it was something that tended to float over the area no matter the day or time.

One might think of this as a little slice of heaven, where the cool waters flow and the people all say “Howdy,” but it is much more. The history portrays devastation, death, and mourning, but through it all, the hearty mountains people here have survived. The scripture, “My Grace is sufficient for you, we find strength in Him in our weakness,” comes to mind in such moments. Their memories tell of stories of struggles and survival. They seldom shrink from any dangers, for their spirits are embedded in the ancient tales of those distant lands from which they traveled centuries before. A hearty breed of people that conquered many lands beyond their own, now they have settled into lives that are more complacent than any time before in their history. Yet, occasionally there are tales that rival these deads of old.

Today we take for granted so many things.

Mr. Zelma and Ms. Clara shared with me this morning of their Grandmother who was a midwife dating back to the early part of the 20th century. She was a so important to the area that she was the only person with a car. She would haul people down pig paths covered with deep ruts of wagon wheels, cars bouncing wildly, while she raced to the next person or persons in need. Mr. Zelma recalled her car doors encompassed both the front and back seats. “Huge doors no child could close,” she reminisced. Her grandmother was one of the last “Mountain Doctors,” as Granby on the Beverly Hillbillies might say. It was her knowledge of herbs, natural cures, and the “Old Ways,” that made her a true M.D. Today, so much of that past has been forgotten, closed by our failure to communicate that invaluable wealth of information from one generation to the next. So, we rely on pharmacists, food industries, and many other man-made, processed entities we either consume or take supplement what the Lord hath given. All the while, cases of cancers and heart disease continue to rise in new heights.

In the end, we don’t take what the Lord hath provided, because of what was taken for granted, so much the irony of it all.

If we would only live as God had intended.

---

Our society’s pace is dictated by the world in which we live, creating little time for the “Old Ways.” We find it easier to justify buying the can of beans rather than canning our own. Meanwhile, the meat we consume has been pumped full of growth hormones, and additives to make it more appealing and sellable in the marketplace. In the old days, the animals would be processed in community hog killings, for example, not only providing the protein of meat to live on, but also keeping the purity of the food as it had been intended from the beginning. And not just the food was preserved, we were the ways of the people by coming together as a community.

In those gatherings, whether they were baking beans, putting up hay, or killing hogs, they talked while they worked. There the communication carried on, and in that way, those cured and tines of old would pass from one generation to the next. Later, in the slower seasons, they would be rolled around the winter firplace-ies while their bellies would be filled with the foodstuffs that had been prepared in the easy, summer days. When they read from “The Book,” from the faint glow of the lamp light or wood fire, the words would have more significance because the ens in which they lived more closely matched those of Biblical times, as God had meant it to be.

If only we’d take the time to slow down and sit for a spell. Like those dogs, let us find ourselves just sitting in the moment. Come join me and sit for a spell.

“Yep, the rain is good.”
“Yep, the rain is good.”
“Yep, the rain is good.”
“Yep, the rain is good.”

See Us on Facebook

McClure Construction
-- GRAVEL YARD --

Dyed Red Mulch
Pine and Hardwood Mulch
Top Soil
Now Offering Wood-waste
Recycling Stumps, Limbs, Brush
Call for Dump Fees

12715 Hwy 226 S., Spruce Pine
(828) 766-6169

Decorative Gravel
Washed Stone
Sand
Commercial Gravel
Public Welcome
Seniors of the Month
By Doug Sudofich
Mitchell County

At their meeting on September 21st, the Rotary Club of Spruce Pine welcomed Mitchell High School Seniors of the Month, Anna Zheng and Garrett Buchanan, and Grant Sparks, Counselor at MHS.

Anna Zheng shared her appreciation for the academic courses and for being a part of a community in which she has learned life skills that will be assets in her future. She has been class president since her freshman year and currently serves as president of FBLA and captain of Varsity Cheerleading. She credits these experiences for her developing leadership skills and building her self-confidence. Her future plans include attending UNC at Chapel Hill and studying dentistry.

Garret Buchanan spoke of his faith as the focal point of his identity and the values he places on integrity, honesty, and empathy. He has been involved in community projects and helped families who were affected by Hurricane Matthew last year and currently serves as student representative to the Mitchell County Juvenile Crime Prevention Council. A member of the football and wrestling teams, Garrett still finds time to enjoy reading, writing, and drawing, especially about things in nature.

His future plans include studying health sciences at Duke or UNC at Chapel Hill with the goal of becoming a surgeon and returning to western NC to practice.

The members of the Rotary Club of Spruce Pine congratulate Anna Zheng and Garrett Buchanan as exemplary high school students and wish them future success as they work to accomplish their educational and career goals.

Doug Sudofich is the Public Relations Officer for the Spruce Pine Rotary Club.
What Is Life
By Pastor Steve Williams
Mitchell County

The Bible tells us a lot about life. James 4:14 says …

For what is your life? It is even a vapor, that appeareth for a little time, and then vanisheth away. Our lives have also been compared with grass that waxeth up; and flowers that fade away. All these three are only temporary. Our lives are like these things. We must make the most of them while we can.

When you ask people what is life they will give you different answers. It's Wonderful, it's Challenge, it's Hard to Understand, it's Depression, it's Not Fair and you could just keep on going, but Life is really just how you look at it.

The day I was sitting in my study thinking about this question, What Is Life? And I thought, people are looking for happiness in life. They are looking for something to give them some rest and relaxation. They're searching for something that will fill a void they have in their lives, and they will try many different things to do this. People get involved in many different activities, trying to find what will answer for them. And I looked and saw my Golf Clubs sitting in the corner, and it came to me that life is like a game of Golf. Now before you quit reading this article or say I'm not interested in golf, or I don't care about golf, or that Golf doesn't have anything to do with God, please, read just a little further. Give me a chance to explain to you what I believe God has shown me as I was sitting there thinking about this question "What Is Life?" Life is finding God and learning about God. It's called Christianity. That's What Life Really is about.

Now, if we were to talk about this life that we have as a game of golf, the first thing a lot of people would say is, Steve, golf and Christianity have nothing in common. Well if you let me make a connection between Golf and Christianity, I believe it will become clear.

People say Golf is a senseless game because all you are doing is chasing a little white ball all over the place trying to get it in a hole. Life with Out God is also senseless because you are chasing nothing, expecting to find something, only to be let down.

Golf is difficult, and you must practice it to be good at it. Christianity is also difficult, and it too must be practiced daily if we expect to get better at it.

Golf is all about being consistent in obtaining a better score. Christianity is about living a consistent life for the Lord, every day, so we may develop a better life.

Now in Golf there's a Starting Point, you must see the ball up to get started. Christianity starts with God, when you believe in God and Accept Him to be your personal Savior.

In Golf, you need to line up with the ball before you hit it if you expect it to go where you want it to. Christianity, your life must line up with God's Word if you expect to experience what God has in store for you.

If you have to keep your eye on the ball to make a good hit, Christianity, you must keep your eyes on God so you can follow Him.

Golf you must follow through on your swing, because if you don’t, you will either hook or slice, or you will see your ball go in the wrong direction. Christianity, you must follow through in your walk with God, or you will find yourself going the wrong way.

In Golf, you must be aware of all the different hazards on the course, like Water, High Grass, Woods, and the Out of bounds areas. Christianity, you must beware of the traps of Satan that he has set, Distraction, Temptations, Choices, you have to make along the way.

And in Golf, if you do all things you’ll have some bad shots along the way, but over all you have a better game.

And in Christianity, if you do all these things you’re still going to have bad days, hard times, and life will not always make sense, but you will develop a better and stronger life.

Life’s Victories don’t come by accident, it comes by practice, and until we start practicing what God’s Word tells us we are going to find ourselves in a rough predicament.

Fact: The reason I’m not good in golf is because I don’t practice enough. Could this be the reason so many struggle with their Christian life, there is not enough practice taking place.

Words of Wisdom:
• Only God can change my life, so I must choose Him. N/A
• There are two great days in a person’s life - the day we are born and the day we die. N/A
• Life is really simple, but we insist on making it complicated. N/A • Life is full of happiness and tears; be strong and have faith. N/A
• The good life is one inspired by love and guided by the Lord. N/A

A Little Laughter:
A little girl, late for Sunday School, was running as fast as she could toward church. As she ran, she prayed, “Dear Jesus, please don’t make me late for Sunday School.” Just as she was in sight of the church, she tripped and fell, bruising her knee and tearing her clothes. Undaunted, the little girl got up and started running again, this time praying, “Dear Lord, please don’t make me late for Sunday School, but please don’t push me, either.”

Steve Williams is the Pastor of Berry Chapel Baptist Church in Spruce Pine.

---

Movie Ministry
By Libby Miller
Tinsley County

We live in a visual society. Movies give us an opportunity to sit back, relax and enjoy learning. If you are seeking a closer relationship with God, yet, your life is too busy or hectic, or you may find the Bible difficult to read and understand, or you may have not had the opportunity to attend church as a child, our Movie Ministry may be just the thing for you. The movies shown will visually take you from Genesis through Revelation giving you a great understanding of the entire Bible! (The movies we will use are under our CPL License).

If you are currently in a Sunday School Class, you already have the best in Bible Study. This is for those who are not currently attending a class.

Beginning: First of October
Location: Faith Fellowship Ch. - Newdale
Classroom in new addition back door
Time: 9:30 am - 10:45 am
Contact: Libby-Miller to register or if you need directions (602-3306).

Following Sunday School, you are welcome to stay for our Worship Service at 11:00 am with Pastor David Gillegue and our Praise and Worship Team.

Libby is a member of Faith Fellowship Church in Newdale and has taught Sunday School for 35 years.
Overcoming Adversity

Congratulations to Michael Harris
Madison County

Many people have challenges in life and those of you that have the pleasure of meeting Michael are aware of his many challenges and maybe a few of his accomplishments as well. Michael grew up in the Burnsville area and attended schools in that area. In 2009 Michael graduated from NC State with a degree in Forest Management and minors in Business Administration and Agriculture Business Management. Shortly after graduating he went to work with a large corporation and became a paraplegic. Since that time, Michael has accomplished many things to be proud of including marrying his beautiful wife Tiffany. In August Michael received his Master’s Degree in Business Administration from Gardner Webb University, graduating with a 3.95 GPA.

In talking with Michael, his love for his church and church family shows through in his conversation. He and Tiffany attend First Baptist in Burnsville, where he and his family have been members for years. One of the reasons that Michael gives for his being able to move forward with his life was the love and acceptance shown him by his church family and he thanks them from the bottom of his heart. Family and friends have also had a tremendous impact on his life, his dad and mother were totally supportive and were the ultimate care givers. He lost his mother last year, and that was hard to handle. His father, Tony Harris, went through cancer and even in the face of all this, faith remained strong. Childhood friendships have also helped carry him through hard times with fishing trips and other shows of support and acceptance of him with the different lifestyle he has had to live.

Michael wants to encourage each of you to be willing to really be supportive of those around us that face challenges of all kinds. A warm smile and show of support can mean so much to someone that is hurting and facing struggles that most of us never face. Let us all remember, here but for the Grace of God go I. Congratulations to Michael on the continued journey of success that as and Tiffany are embarked on, thank you for letting your love of Christ continue to grow through loud and strong in the face of adversity. May God continue to guide your path and bless your efforts and thank you for being the example God would have you to be. A light for others to follow by being the person you are.

Comments from Michael:
In thinking of church, especially during these incredibly divisive times, it should be a place where we affirm one another. Not criticize or degrade each other. It should be the place where each person can be their true self and not worry about what others think, because we all need to admit and know that we are sinners and fall short. As a society, we love rules. We love for someone to just give us the answer because we are intellectually lazy. I feel this is not the correct approach in life, or faith. If you go to church just to get answers, you’re not being intellectually challenged. In order to learn and grow with God, you should leave with more questions than answers. This way you want to know more, and search in order to learn. In thinking of rules, I feel it would be awesome for churches not to display the ten commandments, but the beatitudes. As the body of Christ on this planet, and in attempts to unite, we should not build walls. We should build bridges in order to live out his mission outlined in Luke 4:18-19. An authentic religion where the display of love, compassion, and empathy to everyone is seen, and where all who are weary and seek rest are welcomed is what people are searching for. Seeing and experiencing acts like these show who God truly is, and it changes lives. These acts are not experienced or seen in the rules or processes which so many desire and claim would fix societal problems (i.e. praying and doing the pledge of allegiance each day in school, being in church every time the doors are open, etc.). They are seen and experienced by paying close attention to what is said in the red letters. Following this example can help you act in such a way that you are proof of a living God.

Doug Harrell is a life-long resident of Mitchell County, Owner of Harrell Hill Farms, Inc, a member of Bear Creek Baptist Church and Publisher of the Blue Ridge Christian News.

The best time to bag a trophy home.
Save thousands on a new home.

(828) 433-8455
1276 Burkemont Avenue
Morganton, NC 28655
www.claytonmorganton.com
Quality is our Priority
Quality of Expertise. Quality of Care. Quality of Service. Quality of Life. For more than 45 Years, PruittHealth has been providing peace of mind to our patients, residents and clients.

Committed to Caring
Our health centers offer a wide range of care options, including short-term rehabilitation to get you well and back home again, or more traditional care in a skilled nursing home setting.

Proven Professionals
In the world of ancillary medical services, one company provides single-source solutions that satisfy both the patient’s and the health management organization’s best interests.

Best Nursing Homes
PruittHealth announces that 17 of its skilled nursing and rehabilitation centers were recently recognized as the “Best” by U.S. News & World Report.

We offer a spectrum of services allowing patients to receive the uninterrupted care they need within the same family of providers.
- Skilled Nursing
- Physical Therapy
- Occupational Therapy
- Speech Therapy
- Medical Social Work
- Nursing Assistants

Serving Mitchell, Yancey, Avery and surrounding counties.

PruittHealth
HOME HEALTH

Mitchell (828) 688-3421 | Yancey (828) 682-7825 | Avery (828) 733-1550
www.PruittHealth.com

The PruittHealth Organization complies with applicable Federal civil rights laws and does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, national origin, age, disability, or sex.
McDowell Residents Walk in Support of Life
By Marion Seghan
McDowell County

“Sadly, one of the most dangerous places for this generation is in a mother’s womb,” asserts Mike Zullo, a member of the McDowell Pregnancy Care Center’s Board of Directors. Zullo, pastor of Amazing Grace Baptist Church in Marion, was sharing his insights through the Center’s video “You Don’t Have to Walk Alone.”

On Saturday, September 15, about 300 men, women, and children stepped around the YMCA outdoor greenway in Marion so that local families will not have to walk alone through unplanned pregnancies. The occasion was the McDowell Pregnancy Care Center’s 6th Annual Walk for Life.

The walk raised almost $27,000 to help the Center provide support to help mothers bring their babies to term. These resources include pregnancy tests, peer counseling, diapers and baby supplies and ultrasounds showing the new life growing within a mother.

Much of the money raised was through donations collected by the walkers and money collected from local businesses and churches who purchased spots on the back of event t-shirts. Funds were also raised through “Celebrate Life Footprint” signs arrayed along the trail. Supporters donated $5 to display the names of special individuals on the signs.

Church teams harnessing the most donations this year were: Glenwood Baptist Church, collecting $4,665; Providence United Methodist Church, $2,763; and New Anna Baptist Church, $2,063. These teams received plaques for their efforts.

Top individual fundraisers were: Denis Lovin, Glenwood Baptist Church, $7,400; Landon Dowdle, Providence United Methodist Church, $1,718; and Jake McKeaney, Nebo Baptist, $620.

These winners received their choice of the door prizes donated by local merchants. Also contributing to this year’s effort were about 20 volunteers, who manned registration tables, painted faces, served snacks, and inflamed balloons. Businesses and individuals donated more than 100 door prizes distributed via random drawings at the end of the walk, according to Amy Dowdle, the walk’s organizer.

Local Christian musicians also offered up their voices to the effort. Performing for the walkers were the Hipp Family and the His Place Worship Center Praise Team.

Marion Seghan is a Christian freelance writer and attends New Covenant Community Church in Marion.
Forest for the Trees
By Kate Groff

On October 7, the Toe River Arts Burnsville Gallery will be hidden within the trees for an exhibit entitled ‘Forest for the Trees’—paintings by Debra Carpenter. The exhibit will continue through November 11.

Debra moved to Spruce Pine from St. Augustine in 2015. For years, she would work in her little house on the beach, exploring color and discovering a new way to interpret the landscape. ‘My eyes were losing focus. I noticed the way light ‘mosaics’ between the branches of trees. I painted that using the layers and light play.’” When she decided it was time to make a move, she recalled the many trips to Portland with her mother and the wonderful area. A listing on Zillow drew her to Spruce Pine, she has “never been happier.”

“For many decades, I experimented with interpretations of trees, from the focus on the way light through their limbs seemed to break into prisms, to color patterns thrown on fields like confetti. I played with background color and contrast, it seemed as if the limbs were alive. Painting is communication, a reaching out, from the canvas to the artist to the viewer—a constant journey with an ever-illusive destination. It is my hope you, in viewing these selections, will also enjoy the ride.”

“Forest for the Trees” will explode in huge displays of color on the gallery walls from October 7 through November 11 at the Burnsville Gallery, 102 West Main Street. Gallery hours are 10:30 am to 5 pm, Tuesday through Saturday. Toe River Arts is a non-profit dedicated to connecting arts and the community and supported by individuals, organizations, and businesses who believe in the benefit of an arts filled life to a thriving community. For more information, please call 828.682.7215 or visit the website, toeriverarts.org.

Kate Groff is the Program Coordinator for the Toe River Arts Council.

Hospice and Palliative Care of the Blue Ridge, Inc.
Formerly Hospice of Mitchell

THANK YOU!

Hospice and Palliative Care of the Blue Ridge would like to extend our sincere gratitude to the sponsors, vendors and members of our community and the Mountaineer Shrine Club made this year’s Cruz-In for Hospice a great success. Your support and generosity is vital to our agency and enables us to continue to deliver the exceptional care that our community deserves. We would like to give special thanks to the Rod-Busters of WNC, without their kindness and dedication, this event would not have been possible.
Bits 'n Pieces
continued from page 29

grace Trotter, played by Steve Elderbrock, doesn't know which of the characters snowbound in the old inn is a murderer. Maybe it's Mrs. Boyle, played by Rose Ray. Agatha Christie's The Mousetrap opens on September 30, running for three weekends. Tickets are available at www.parkwayplayhouse.com or by calling 818-662-4285.

October Free Seminars: Maryland Small Business Center

Basic of Bookkeeping (3 Hours)
This class will discuss the four most important financial statements in business: the personal financial statement, the balance sheet, the income statement, and the cash flow statement. The class will also cover basic bookkeeping and record keeping skills. Attendees will gain a worthwhile knowledge of how to properly record financial transactions for a business.
10/2, M, 5:30-8:30 p.m. Fee Waived - Holfield-Mitchell 818.766.1295

How to Market Your Business Online to Increase Sales (2 Hours)
This seminar teaches how to get your business successfully launched into the digital world as well as online marketing strategies that will increase sales. Energetic and informative.
10/3, TH, 5:30-7:30 p.m. Fee Waived - Douglas-Mitchell 818.766.1295

Your Small Business Taxes (3 Hours)
Gain a solid understanding of taxes required for small business owners and develop the best tax strategy for your business. Attendees will become familiar with the latest tax forms and procedures for both state and federal taxes. Class will be taught by a CPA.
10/9, M, 5:30-8:30 p.m. Fee Waived - Sisk-Morris-Mitchell 818.766.1295

Create, Market, Sell! (2 Hours)
World-renowned basket maker and marketing expert, Matt Tomney, started out crafting baskets for fun from Kudzu. Merging his love for art with his knowledge of marketing, Matt went full-time into the business of making baskets. He made his passion his job and now owns a luscious studio on the River Arts District of Asheville, NC. Sign up for this seminar and get ready to create, market and sell your art.
10/11, W, 4:00-6:00 p.m. Fee Waived - Tomney, TRAC Art Resource Center, Spruce Pine 828.766.1295

Woody Worm Craft Show Primer (2 Hours)
Just in time for the Woody Worm Festival! In fact, this seminar will be located at the site of the 2017 Woody Worm Festival at the Banner Elk/Mountain Sapphire Campus. Learn how to properly display your wares to get the attention of prospective buyers. Topics will include booth types, setting up, tent styles and recommendations, common show requirements, building displays that target your buyer and the elements of a customer friendly booth.
10/12, TH, 4:30-6:30 p.m. Fee Waived - Styles-Banner Elk 828.766.1295

Business Plan Presentations and Graduation (2 Hours)
Development of a business pitch is a crucial factor in getting funding and building a customer base. In this seminar, each participant will be provided a maximum of ten minutes to present their story, passion, and business idea to their classmates. Graduation follows with a presentation of certificates.
10/16, M, 5:30-7:30 p.m. Fee Waived - Cook/Phillips-Mitchell 828.766.1295

How to Sell Your Product or Service Online (2 Hours)
Developing a revenue stream from online sales is often an easy way for small businesses to increase profit. Learn what it takes to sell both your product or service. Energetic and informative speaker, James "Zen" Douglas will discuss popular as well as up and coming websites that might increase your bottom line.
10/19, TH, 5:30-7:30 p.m. Fee Waived - Douglas-Mitchell 828.766.1295

Forecasting Income in a Seasonal Market (1 Hour)
The Avery-Mitchell-Yancey County market is considered a ‘travel and tourism’ dominated market. The population varies greatly from summer to winter. In this class, we will explore data sources that are available to assist a business owner to predict sales and income from season to season. This seminar will also show you how to use this information to plan your business year.
10/24, T, 5:30-6:30 p.m. Fee Waived - Branch-Yancey

Halloween Special
October 31st
on the Square

Sponsored by: First Baptist Church & Yancey Chamber of Commerce

828-765-6144
www.brbluegrass2017.com

Blue Ridge Bluegrass Festival
WITH DARIN AND BROOKE ALDRIDGE
OCTOBER 21, 2017
1PM - UNTIL
PRESENTED BY: Buck Stove
200 Ethan Allen Dr.
Spruce Pine, NC 28777

Other Performances By:
DAVID HOLT
THE SURLY GENTLEMEN
UNSPoken TradITion
WHITewater BLUEGRASS

ADMISSION:
$20 Advance
$25 At the door
12 and under free

• VENDORS • ARTISANS • FOOD • FUN
• BUCKS TINY HOUSE TOURS!
Lees-McRae College

New Heights on U.S. News & World Report
By Nina Mastandrea
Avery County

BANNER ELK, N.C. — In an increase from last year’s No. 23 spot, Lees-McRae College landed at No. 19 as best regional college in the South in addition to a spot on the “Best Value” School list in the newest evaluation released by U.S. News & World Report.

U.S. News assessed more than 1,800 institutions, and considered numerous factors such as student population, graduation and retention rates, reputation, student selectivity, faculty and financial resources and percentage of graduates who give back as alumni.

As for the Best Value ranking, the “calculation took into account a school’s academic quality, as indicated by its 2018 U.S. News Best Colleges ranking, and the 2016-17 net cost of attendance for a student who received the average level of need-based financial aid,” according to the U.S. News & World Report website.

“The higher the quality of the program and the lower the cost, the better the deal.”

“Only schools ranked in or near the top half of their categories are included, because U.S. News considers the most significant values to be among colleges that are above average academically,” added the U.S. News website.

U.S. News & World Report, an online resource for up-to-date rankings and advice on subjects including education, health, money, travel and more, released its annual rankings to highlight the most cutting-edge programming.

The four-place bump in ranking can be attributed in part to improvements in retention and graduation rates, as well as increased peer recognition during the previous academic year.

“Lees-McRae is an institution with a commitment to continued improvement,” said Lees-McRae President Barry Buxton.

Nestled in the Blue Ridge Mountains of western North Carolina, Lees-McRae College is a private, four-year college offering diverse baccalaureate degrees, strong athletic programs and outstanding faculty. Field-specific career preparation and hands-on learning enhance the broad core curriculum. For more information, please visit www.lmc.edu or call 828.898.3241.

Nina Mastandrea is the content manager of Lees-McRae College.

Effective Fundraising

WNC Nonprofit Pathways Workshop Focuses on Effective Fundraising
By Susan Larson
Mitchell and Yancey County

Nonprofit organizations in Yancey, Mitchell and Avery counties are invited to a lunch and learn session on Friday, October 20, from 10:00 a.m. to 2:00 p.m. at the Yancey County Public Library. Nonprofit consultant Beth Trigg will lead the workshop “Alternatives to Special Events: Effective Fundraising Strategies.” The discussion will focus on the annual campaign and fundraising from individual donors as efficient alternatives to events.

Many nonprofit organizations use special events to raise money. But do they work? Nonprofit staff and volunteers sometimes have a love/hate relationship with events. They value the visibility and outreach benefits of events but are frustrated by the time and energy that is required to organize one that is successful and the stress that often accompanies event planning. This workshop will explore some key questions about events as part of an organization’s fundraising plan. Topics will include how small organizations can be most efficient and effective with fundraising and what fundraising strategies have the highest return on investment.

Beth Trigg has worked at every level of nonprofit organizations: as a staff member, as a board member, as a volunteer, and as a consultant—with organizations from the smallest, most grassroots level up to the scale of larger international organizations.

This event is the first in a series of 2017-18 Lunch and Learn Workshops sponsored by WNC Nonprofit Pathways especially for the Avery, Mitchell and Yancey County region. Please email sjanelasm@gmail.com or call Susan Larson at 828-765-2552 to pre-register and have the link sent. The deadline to register is October 16. There is a nominal fee for each Lunch and Learn session with lunch included in the fee. WNC Nonprofit Pathways makes high quality, capacity building support available at low or no cost to nonprofits across the mountain region, thanks to generous collaborative funding from a group of foundations.

Susan Larson coordinates programs of WNC Nonprofit Pathways in Avery, Mitchell and Yancey counties. She lives in Mitchell County with her husband, retired physician David Larson.

A HIGHER STANDARD OF CARE!

Yancey Hospice and Palliative Care

Yancey’s Community Hospice Since 1982

HospiceofYancey.org
828-682-9675
Bowman 8th-Graders Study History
By Cindy Ollis
Mitchell County

Upon studying the Battle of King’s Mountain in social studies class, 8th graders at Bowman Middle School share their views why it is important to study, commemorate and remember the army of citizen soldiers that changed the course of history. After five-and-half years of fighting in the Revolutionary War, a group of citizen soldiers, patriot militia took the threat from Major Patrick Ferguson he would "hang their leaders and kill their families and destroy their homes with fire and with sword." Their decision to take the fight to Ferguson was the beginning of a march known as the "overmountain men march" that would prove to be the turning point of the war according to many historians. Even though they were simple country people, their strong determination and allegiance to family and friends, proved to be enough to defeat the likes of Ferguson and his 1,100 loyalists on top of King’s Mountain in 1780. History like all things, stories, heritage, beliefs that it is not recorded, preserved and remembered. A battle fought and won by a group of "backwater men", that changed the entire war is too important to be left in the dust and forgotten. Bowman 8th-graders visited the Min-eral Museum grounds which was a museum of mincemaster depicting the life and times of the brave overmountain men and women who started a march from the Watoga Settlement. They crossed our very own mountains and made a difference through their sheer determination to gain their freedom. Demonstrations of 1780 life proved to be enlightening and educational.

Cynthia Ollis is an 8th Grade teacher at Bowman Middle School.

BEAR CREEK BAPTIST CHURCH
Welcomes You to Celebrate Recovery
Thursday’s at 7:00pm
Hope & Help from Addiction Through Christ
Habitat For Humanity

Home in Ledger for New Partner Family
By Robin Warden
Mitchell County

“We want to have a better chance at life and raising our son, Waylon, in a safe and warm place we can all proudly call home. We have both dreamed and talked about owning our own home, yet it seemed out of reach and almost impossible,” shares Jessica Hoyt and Joey Scout who are Mitchell-Yancey Habitat’s newest partner family.

In early spring, while working as a waitress in Spruce Pine, Jessica was serving one of her regular customers, Bill Smith. Her friend, Dr. Martina Walker, sat with him and jacko. In the course of their conversation, Dr. Walker, who is a local Habitat board member, volunteer, and member of the Family Selection Committee for Habitat for many years, expressed her desire to help Habitat find better ways to inform and involve community members in the Habitat mission in Mitchell County. Jessica, who was unaware of Habitat’s mission, was interested in learning more and was invited to attend a Habitat meeting. After attending the meeting, Jessica and her husband decided to apply to be Habitat homeowners.

“Joey worked at Spruce Pine Treehouse as an Assistant Superintendent of Production for 12 years. Over those years, he began to think more seriously about the future of his family and owning a home,” Hoyt reflects. “I grew up in Plastics Creek in Avery County with my brother and four siblings. ‘We grew up dirt poor,’ she reports. ‘We had a roof over our head, but not a very nice one. And we lived in a small trailer on a dirt road. Our living room was a bedroom and we worked seven days a week and had to go to school. I was always anxious to go to college, however, she had no emotional or financial support from her family. She paid for school with a small scholarship and student loans. She graduated from Warren Wilson College in Swannanoa, NC with a B.A. in Elementary Education. As a young teacher, she felt very challenged by large class sizes and discovered a love for teaching and education.

Although Jesse and Joey had been friends since middle school, they reunited their friendship in 2011. They discovered that they shared a similar passion for home ownership and that they had similar goals and dreams. “I was able to find a job in Asheville and we bought a house,” Joey reflects. “I love being a good teacher and paying it forward.” Joey was in recovery and able to work for the next five years. “I call myself a retired miracle and I have survived these incidents and have been able to find a path to a peaceful life,” he adds.

Joey was born on December 14, 2012. “Since that time, we have been in charge of our children and the children do all the cooking, shopping, cleaning and yard work,” she shares. “I know now that it’s not as hard as it seems.” In 2016, Joey was cleaned by his neurologist to go back to work part-time and is now providing general support with production, maintenance, and construction at Spruce Pine Treehouse. He is the proud owner of Treehouse General Manager, Brenda Wilson, for the generous and caring support they have provided for him to return to work.

Jessica has been supporting the family during Joey’s recovery by working six days a week, sometimes two jobs a day and on weekends in the retail and food industries. She shares, “I know now that I have to do whatever it takes to keep my job. However, it’s great to have a job where I can work and help build my education and skills to prepare for a future. I feel like I was meant to do more with my life and find that path.”

The family currently lives in a very small 150-year-old cabin owned by Frank and Linda Forbes, who have lived in the area for many years. Joey feels the Forbes have supported him and his family like his own parents and provided an affordable and safe place to raise Waylon. However, their son has allergies and asthma. And since Joey also struggles with COPD, they need a larger living space and healthier environment where these medical conditions can be more easily addressed.

With the help of Habitat, the family is now able to build a new Habitat Home in the community. “We have always wanted to own a home and save money by doing it ourselves. We have always dreamed of having a house of our own, and now we have the opportunity to make it happen,” Joey says.

Judgement House
Real People. Real Choices. Real Consequences.

Berkemont Baptist Church
4668 Berkemont Road
Morganton, NC 28655

“Payback”
Presentation Dates: October 19, 21, 22 and 25
For specific times and reservations call 828-437-6852
Recommended Donation is $30. All donations received this year will go to help hurricane Harvey and Irma victims.

www.brownews.com
October 2017 - Blue Ridge Christian News
Avery County Chamber
October 7, Leaf Lookers Hay Ride, Beech Mountain Town Hall, October 14, Old Fashion Apple Butter Cooking, Old Hampton Store and Tavern, Laurelville
October 14-15, Oktoberfest, Sugar Mountain Resort, October 21-22, 40th Annual Wooly Worm Festival, Historic BE School, Banner Elk
October 21, Valle Crucis Fair, Valle Crucis October 28, Beary Scary Halloween, Grandfather Mountain
Burke County Chamber
22nd Annual Golf Classic—October 12, 2017, 11:30 AM to 7:00 PM EDT
Minnesotis Hills Golf & Country Club—611 Golf Course Rd, Morganton, NC 28655 sponsored by Carolinas Health Care System.
Save the Date: November 16, 2017
Football Highs Education Center
What is your favorite Olympic Sport or Team?
This year’s theme is World Games and can be any team or sport.
Past, Present or Future?
The Chamber will be Sport Sailing, so jump on board with your best attire and see if you can win the Gold, Silver or Bronze Medal.
Catawba River Baptist Association—Good Samaritan Clinic East
The Good Samaritan Clinic East will host an Open House/Grand Opening on October 14, 2017 from 11:00AM-2:30PM. The Clinic is located at Oakridge Baptist Church, 7449 Oakridge Church Road Connolly Springs NC, 28612. There will be refreshments, free health screenings and health checks, and tours given. This will be a time for prospective new patients to register. The clinic serves those in the Eastern part of Burke County above the age of 18 who currently do not have insurance coverage, Medicare or Medicaid and do not have financial resources for proper medical care. If you have any questions about this event or the clinic, please call 828-322-1119.
Great Hope Seventh-Day Adventist Church Of Valdese—will be celebrating their one-year anniversary with a special Sabbath of worship and praise on October 21. The public is invited. Sabbath School begins at 10:00 am.
Pastor Stanley Knight, Youth Director for Caroline Conference, will be the worship service speaker at 11:00. A vegetarian buffet will be served, followed by a concert with George and Nancy Shultz at 1:30 pm. Address is 2907 D US Hwy 70, Denville. Questions? 828-445-1890.
COOKING FOR HEALTH AND JOY is a whole food, plant-based cooking class for those interested in being healthy. The class goes for 3 continuous Thursdays, beginning October 12 through October 26, 6:00 pm. This will be held upstairs in the Old Rock School in Valdese. There will be food demonstrations, samples, door prize, and all for $11 for all 3 classes. Reserve your seat today by calling Sharnay at 828-334-9004. This is provided by your friends of the Great Hope Seventh-day Adventist Church of Valdese.
Morganton Seventh-day Adventist-Burke County—Sharing Him—“It’s in the Bible...I believe it!” Evangelism Meetings will begin October 15th, through November 1st, every evening (except for Tuesdays and Thursdays) at 7:00 pm, at the Morganton Seventh-day Adventist Church, 2187 Jamestown Road, Morganton, N.C.
God's Choice—Morganton is seeking gently used or new children's clothing, shoes, and bedding (ages birth to teen) for our next FREE shopping event. Items may be dropped off anytime under our covered drive-through at the Morganton Seventh-day Adventist Church, 2187 Jamestown Road, Morganton, N.C. Please label box/tote with “God's Closet.” All donations are greatly appreciated. For more information, please contact Tesa at 828-344-3876. Like us on Facebook @ GodClosetMorganton Aglow International Hickory Lighthouse—Hickory Lighthouse meetings are the second Saturday of each month.
Mc Dowell County
Grace Community Church—New Prayer Line Launches in Marion, North Carolina—James S 16:4 says “The prayer of a righteous man is powerful and effective.” A. J. Gordon said, “You can do more than pray after you have prayed, but you cannot do more than pray until you have prayed.” Churches at McDowell County believe God’s Word and agree with A. J. Gordon. That’s why they have launched 6:00-DRAY, a prayer line where people can call anytime, leave a message and know that churches at McDowell County will be praying for them. Here’s how it works. The prayer line (659-PRAY) is housed at Freedom Life Ministries (freedomlifeoasities.org). Each day prayer requests will be sent to 23 partners/Churches who will immediately send those requests to prayer warriors in churches who will pray for them. The effect is knowing that your prayer request is covered daily by hundreds of people across McDowell County. 659-PRAY will begin on September 1. Between now and then, please and share your prayers if your church is involved. If not, encourage your leaders to reach out and get on board. For more information, please contact Robin @ 828-734-6599.
—Contact: Chris Allison Cell Phone: 828-559-7312 E-Mail: chris@rocketled-design.com.
Historic Marion Tailgate Market is open on Tuesday from 3 to 6 pm and Saturday from 9 am to 12 pm downtown Marion under the Tailgate Market shelter.
New Hope of McDowell (Marion)— New Hope of McDowell is seeking a fulltime Associate Director - Shelter Manager. New Hope of McDowell is a non-profit domestic violence and sexual assault agency located in McDowell County, NC. This position includes benefits such as employee health insurance and paid vacation, sick leave, and sick time. The primary purpose of this position is to provide direct client services and advocacy to victims of domestic violence and sexual assault and their children as well assisting with carrying out the strategic goals and objectives of the organization, providing direct leadership and supervision to all Client Services Advocates, and operating under the direction and expectations of the Executive Director/Court Advocate and Board of Directors.
First Baptist Church, Old Fort will be having a Community Health and Wellness Fair on Saturday, October 28, 2017 from 9 AM to 2 PM. The event is free to all. The Red Cross blood mobile will be taking donations and Fred’s Pharmacy will be offering flu shots, which are free with most insurance carriers, or if no insurance, $30. For children of all ages we will have the Old Fort Fire Department track and firehaus, Route 70 Cruisers with their classic cars and a children’s tent with other activities.
The McDowell EMS will be checking blood pressure, heart rate, C2 Stats & Sugar levels. A Senior Center FT will be doing Fall Assessment and the YMCA will be sharing fitness opportunities and their offered programs.
Other organizations participating will be McDowell Health, Dept WIC (Women, Infant, and Children) and Community Care of Western North Carolina. Additional educational booths will cover a variety of health topics, including allergy management, diabetes management, heart health, oils, skin cancer screening, stress management and women’s health.
We will be offering fall food service, but will have a variety of nutritional samples, with the nutrition information facts for each.
Mark your calendar and plan to come join us. For additional information, please contact Cathy Moore, 281-788-8577.
Old Fort Presbyterian at 144 Maia Street, has a free community dinner and musical entertainment every fourth Saturday from January through October. Meal is from 5:30-6:30 And music is 6:30-7:30.
Mitchell County
All Saints of America Orthodox—On Saturdays beginning in June, All Saints of America Orthodox Mission will be having Divine Liturgy at the meeting hall located at Trinity Episcopal Church, 15 Hemlock Ave, Spruce Pine, NC 28777. The Liturgy will be served weekly on Saturdays at 11:00 AM. Fr. Steven Webb, the priest appointed to serve the new mission, will be officiating. While All Saints of America Orthodox Mission is a part of the Russian Orthodox Church, all services are performed in the English language. Afterwards, all are invited to a picnic at 1065 Deer Park Lake Rd. Spruce Pine, NC.
Bear Creek Baptist Church-Ledge The Hinson Girls will be performing at Bear Creek for the 5th Sunday night singing on Oct 29th at 6:00pm
Celebrate Recovery NCCCA’s Celebrate Recovery and Biblical Based Program, giving hope and help for men, women and families suffering from addiction. Any questions contact Josh Wise @ 385-0061
There will be a meeting every Thursday night with someone there to talk to women, men, and their families.
Back Steve is Sponsoring a Blue Ridge Blue Grass Festival on Oct 11, 2017, until 2:00 Ethan Allen Dr. in Spruce Pine. It will be hosted by Darrin and Brooke Adridge. Brooks was raised in Avery County. He love for Jesus and the Blue Ridge Mountains ran deep. We are so excited to announce that this years BBMA female Vocalist Nominee will be hosting our 1-dr day festival. Other performances will include David Holt and others. There will be vendors, artisans, food, fun and Buck's Tiny House Tours.
$25.00 Advance tickets and $25 at the door. 12 and under will be free. For more info call 828-765-6144.
Calvary Chapel Asheville—Sponsored by Calvary Chapel Church in Asheville is sponsoring a home fellowship and Bible Study in Spruce Pine. The fellowship is held on Thursday evenings at 7:30. Contact Alex at 423-622-7075. Meet at 167 NW Creek Rd. Call John Jackson 760-793-3799 for information and directions. And bring your Bible.
Cane Creek Community Club will be having a Barbecue Fund Raiser on Octer 7, 2017 from 11:30am to whenever the food runs out. It is $7.00 per plate. It is to benefit the building of the road into the Cane Creek Cemetery. Donations would also be appreciated. They may be sent to Hazen Ledford at 254 Hazen Ledford Rd., Bakersville, NC 28715.
Grassy Creek Baptist Church Karen Peck and New River will be at Grassy Creek Baptist Church on Saturday, October 14th at 6:00pm. Admission is free; a love offering will be taken. Doors will open at 5:15. For more information contact the church office at 765-4600. Grass Creek Baptist Church is located on Hwy 726 south.
of Spruce Pine across from Parkway Fire Department.

Support Group For Caregivers Of Those With Memory Loss will hold meetings the first Friday of each month from 1-3PM at the Spruce Pine Senior Center. The support group for caregivers of loved ones who have memory loss, will hold monthly meetings at the offices of Hospice & Palliative Care of the Blue Ridge, 336 Hospital Dr. in Spruce Pine, from 1:00 PM to 3:00 P.M. High Country Caregiver Foundation welcomes and encourages all caregivers to attend.

You would profit from a level one with memory loss can quickly become exhausted, traumatized, and isolated, and this new group intends to provide support, friendship, education, information and referrals for caregivers. Monthly meetings held on the first Friday of each month will offer refreshments and fellowship.

There will be opportunities for caregivers to tell their stories, learn useful tips, trade information, and offer others the same situation.

For further information about the group and the meeting please contact Suzanne Russell at (714) 614-5867 or Janet Ouats at justoudo@gmail.com.

Mitchell County Chamber - Little Switzerland Fall Arts & Crafts Market

Save The Date for the Artisan League of Little Switzerland Fall Arts & Crafts Market. We hope to see you at our 7th Annual Fall Market, October 13th & 14th, featuring many of our returning league members and guest artists including sculptor Laura Kaplan and candle maker extraordinare Suzanne Harmon. It should be a fall weekend to remember in our beautiful mountains and we look forward to sharing the natural and artisan made works with everyone!

11th Annual Spruce Pine Potters Market

The 11th Annual Spruce Pine Potters Market will be held October 14 and 15 from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. at the Barrett St. Street Building, 31 Cross Street, Spruce Pine, North Carolina. The show and sale includes thirty-two regional artists:

- Stanley Maze Anderson
- William Baking
- Brick Potter, Potters, Paw Breuer
- John Brit
- Cynthia Brindille, Melissa Cartell, Cristina Cardona, Claudia Denay
- Chantal Dav_PARSER_ERROR
- Terry Geys, Betsy Gray, Michael Hunt and Naomi Douglas
- Shawn Ireland, Lisa Jocelyn, Michelle Klin, Linda Leland, lan
- Lyon, Jesseme Marchand, Courtney Martin, Kenz McLaughlin, Teresa Pietich, David Ross, Michael Rutkowski, Ken Sedberry, Ron Snell, Gareide Graham
- Smith, Liz Zlot Summerfield, Valerie Schumacher and Joyce Menden. Admission to the market is free. All vendors are encouraged to purchase tables for tickets for work to be divided by the artists. This year, these artists are Kenz McLaughlin, Jeanne Marchand, David Ross and Ken Sedberry. A portion of the raffle proceeds will benefit Safe Place, a non-profit organization working for the prevention of domestic and sexual violence. Food will be available for purchase on site.

Upcoming Penland Gallery Showcases

- Art on Designs | Marc Matrona
- October 6 - November 12
- Reception: Sunday, October 7, 4:30-6:30
- John and Robyn Horn Gallery
- Focus Gallery
- Conversation | What Remains
- Rachel McDermott
- October 2 - November 19
- Reception: Sunday, October 7, 4:30 to 6:30 pm

This could be your lucky fall—Penland still has a handful of concentrual scholarships for workshops in clay, glass, metals, photography, and wood! Scholarships are being awarded on a first-come, first-served basis.

Women Seeking God Freedom Retreat “inviting ladies of all ages, to join us for our 5th annual Freedom Retreat at High Pastures Retreat Center in Burnsville, NC October 6th-7th. Our theme this year is becoming women who “Let Go and Trust God.” If you often find yourself trying to make control of people and situations instead of trusting God with them or censured with fear and worry, this year is for you! We want to become women with deep roots planted by the living water, that don’t fear or worry but remain quiet and trust even in the seas of doubt and confusion. You will hear testimonies from local women Lacey Cannon, Kim Hort, Jornon Hecocif, Olivia Grindstaff and Shelley Grindstaff who are learning to let go and trust God with the people and situations in their lives. Worship will be led by the Body of Christ at Burnsville and a communicational event lead by Shelley Grindstaff. She has a heart to see the body of Christ joined together in worship and broken women find the freedom that is only found in Jesus Christ and the Truth of His Word.

It begins at 5:30 on Friday October 6th with dinner at High Pastures followed by worship and speaker Launa 6:45-9:30. Saturday, it begins at 8am with breakfast followed by worship and speaker from 9am – 3:30pm with lunch being served at 12. Cost is $15 for room and 3 meals. Staying encouraged to have focused time with the Lord, away from distractions but is option of conference only for $1 if you cannot stay for whole conference. Meals can be purchased separately by call Shelley Grindstaff at 336-394-2817. Meals are needed by Sept 25th. Space is limited. Registrations can be picked up and dropped off at Huggins UMC church office in Burnsville or contact Shelley Grindstaff at grinds@nc.unc.edu to receive by email or with questions call 284-8484. Also look up Yancey Women on Facebook.

Shelley and her husband have been serving together in ministry for 24 years. She has led women’s ministry called Mary Ministries for 16 years at the various churches they have served at. They are currently attending the Bridge Church in Spruce Pine. Her husband Steve is also fill in as interin pastor at South East Asheville. She works as a nurse in the Yancey Student Health Centers. They have two beautiful teenagers. Caleb, who will be leaving in September to go on mission with YWAM and Olivas a junior at MIHS who will be speaking with her mom this year.

Mitchell County Historical Society - The Mitchell County Historical Society is proud to announce our annual 2017 APPLE BUTTER FESTIVAL on Saturday, October 21, 2017, from 10 to 4 on the Creek Walk in Bakersville, NC!! As in the past, we will be making our signature Apple Butter on site and pre-sing it for sale.

Music, food, raffles, home-crafted goods, coffee, cider... good fun. Our genealogy experts will be on hand to try to answer questions about your family roots here in Mitchell County.

If you have any questions, or would like to become a vendor at our Festival, please call us at 888-4371 or email us at historian@morichettcounty.org.com.

[We have attached a vendor application with instructions. You can also pick up free applications at the Mitchell County Historical Society in Bakersville.]

Red Cross Blood Donation - The American Red Cross serving Mitchell and Yancey County has volunteer positions open as Blood Donor Ambassadors assisting in the areas of Reception and Hospitality at local blood drives in Spruce Pine and Burnsville. With the need for blood donations increasing during the holidays, this is a critical role and meaningful way to serve an urgent need through the Red Cross. Donors are held at the First Baptist Church of Spruce Pine and the Higgins Memorial Methodist Church in Burnsville. Volunteers serving in this role help the Red Cross provide a great blood donation experience for donors helping to save lives. For more information and to apply go to http://www.redcross.org/volunteer contact Kimberly Brewer, Volunteer Services Specialist supporting the Mitchell and Yancey area blood drives at kimberly.brewer@redcross.org or 828-333-9000.

Spruce Pine Farmer’s Market - We will have food for any mood!!! Water squash, tomatoes, cabbage, potatoes, cucumbers, beets, peppers, kale, mustard, chard, macorogreens, collards, eggs, pork, beef, cookies, cabbata, souses, browesies, chese指引. You can also find essential oils to heal and help with all with ails you have!! Come out and see us, Wednesdays 2-5 in the parking lot under the blue tent.

Tipton Hill Community Foundation (Tipton Hill) – Country Breakfast, the first Saturday each month, 7:30 - 10:15 am, at the old Methodist Church, across from Jerry’s Store. Come join us for homemade sausage, scrambled eggs, gravy, jellies, juice and coffee. Eat in or take-out, all meals support the Tipton Hill Community Foundation.

The River Arts Regional Artist Project Grant Workshops This Month The Regional Artist Project Grant (RAGP) deadline is October 11, 2017. Artists seeking to apply are encouraged to attend one of the FREE grant-writing workshops. The first workshop will be held on August 34 at 4 pm in the Burnsville Gallery (102 W. Main Street). The second is scheduled for August 29 at the Arts Resource Center of Spruce Pine (2nd Floor, 269 Oak Avenue). The workshop fee will last approximately one hour. Grant requirements will be discussed and any regional project ideas evaluated. Tea Rivers, in collaboration with Avery County, Buncombe and Madison county arts councils, and the North Carolina Arts Council, a division of the Cultural and Natural Resources Department, joint with Florida Humanities, the RAGP for projects (4) a state or local projects that enhance an artist’s career, the workshops are highly recommended. Registration is required. Please call 828-482-7215.

Women’s Prayer Breakfast: If you would like to join a group of women who are dedicated to praying, learning about God’s will, and fellowship, come join us for breakfast at DT’s in Spruce Pine. We will be ending by 10:00am. Open to all for more information call Barbara Harell at 828-467-3644 or email at barbaharell@brcnews.com.

Yancey County

Carlyra Chapel Asheville - Spruce Pine - Carlyla Chapel Church in Asheville is sponsoring a house fellowship and Bible Study in Spruce Pine. The fellowship is held on Thursday evenings at 7:00pm at 79 Seag Dr (estate area)—off Brush Creek Rd. We are studying the Gospel of John currently. Call John Jackson 760-793-7795 for information and directions. And bring your Bible.

Sunday School Movie Ministry - Faith Fellowship Church, Newdale, Ragington: Sundays in October Location: Faith Fellowship Ch. Newdale Classrooms is in new addition back door of church. Times: 10:00 am - 10:45 am Contact: Libby Miller to register or if you need directions (828-3806)

Yancey County Meals on Wheels (Burnsville) - Volunteers needed to deliver meals to Yancey County senior citizens, ages 60+ (age varies). If interested, please call the Yancey County Senior Center at 828-682-6011.

Parkway Playhouse - Opening next at Parkway Playhouse is Agatha Christie’s The Mousetrap. Also, Parkway Playhouse is looking for new members to serve on our Board of Directors. CUTLINE FOR MOURSPURT - Detective Sav...
Marlene’s Meditations

Legacy
By Marlene Hous
Burke County

Our legacy may bestow upon us that bulbous nose or spinkling of freckles from our long-gone relatives.
Perhaps that fiery temper and musical ability from great-aunt Annie appears again in four-year-old Peter.

What is your legacy? Precious heirlooms can be heirloom such as a grandmother’s wedding ring or a treasured secret recipe handed down such as my great-aunt’s peach pie.

When his cousin moved to South Africa, my son still acted like him. Quirks and preferences remained the same for my ten-year-old, surprising me with their consistency. He still acted the same as his cousin even though continents separated them, and I knew it was genetic, at least partially. Sometimes the facial expressions of my cousin mirror those of her sister’s so much that it’s like looking in both of their faces at the same time. The legacy of physical traits bestowed to each generation come alive in the birthing room as family members comment on the newborn. “Does he have Aunt Susie’s toes?” or “Look at that head of hair, just like her brother’s.”

Ancestors endow this tiny new addition to the clan with multi-layered histories of colorful stories, awe-inspiring courage, and dark tales of calamity. Hopefully, the legacy will include breath-taking faith in God that moves mountains and guides us to our own relationship with Christ.

Such was the case for Sarah, Abraham’s wife who became a great woman of faith.
Her story is found in Genesis, Isaiah, Romans, Hebrews, and First Peter.
Sarah’s dire circumstances and treatment by her husband Adam bestowed access to her roots and grand stories about the human race, its failures and God’s mercy and love in redeeming it. As demonstrated by The Wall Chart of World History (Professor Edward Hull, 1/70 years before Sham died. Sham “talked with” Methuselah for 98 years, and Methuselah “talked with” Adam for 243 years. Their monumental stories of the depths of human darkness and the shining hope of redemption must have stunned the generations to follow. In a modern parallel, my daughter knew her great-grandmother who was born in the early 1900s who probably knew an elderly relative who was born in the early 1900s. That person may have known someone who had talked with George Washington who died in 1799.

God has designed us to be intrigued and guided by stories, and they are easily passed down to descendents along with cultural and genetic predispositions. Therefore, it is logical to assume that the biblical Sarah had access to her own legacy of Enoch’s faith, Noah’s faith, and a myriad of other devout men of God. She lived in U of the Chaldees, a sophisticated and cosmopolitan city with a large library where perhaps readied the census and history of her people. In Genesis chapter 10, the “table of nations” details where Sham’s ancestors settled after the dift. It is the same Mesopotamian region as Sarah and Abraham! Therefore, it is entirely plausible that she talked with her cousins every day, drawing from a legacy which had the power to grow her own faith.

Psalm 51:5 defines our legacy as Christians today: For thou, O God, hast heard my vows: thou hast given me the heritage of those that fear thy name.

We have as our legacy today the ones who identify, whether living or dead, with the God of the Bible and His Son, Jesus, who died for our sins and was resurrected in power. Their magnanimous testimonies, their everyday faith, and their consistent walk with God through failures and triumph call us to greater living in Christ. Even if our physical ancestors were godless and evil, our salvating gifts us into this spiritual legacy, and we are strengthened to fulfill His plan. The impact of their faithful lives stirs in us the motivation to live for Him. The substance of their faith is a rain on the seas of life that gives hope for survival and triumph.
And the gifts of their wisdom, their compassion, and their joy in the Lord encourages us to plop our feet solidly on the stepping stones to our own faith.

I remember Grandma Greene, 93 years old, her red hair long turned white and wound in a bun, reciting Scripture. I’m motivated to push on, despite the battle, because her faith became a living legacy to me.

Marlene Hous is a regular contributor to Blue Ridge Christian News. Her passion is to delve deeply into the truths of Bible women and to discuss those in Bible Studies called Buckeye Pass to Bible Women. She and her husband discover joy, nurtured, and challenge in their church. Her contact is marlenehous@belttusa.net

We serve
SOFT ICE CREAM
Cones • Shakes • Sundaes
Floats & Boats

Bantam Chef proudly practices and promotes recycling for a cleaner community.
and a greener environment.

Ask about our ongoing recycling program and how you can participate in our contributions to CarePartners Hospice & Palliative Care
| McDowell

Open Monday - Saturday
6:30 - 11am Breakfast
11am - 9pm Lunch & Dinner
(Winter Hours - Close at 8:30pm)
Since 1971, Serving Marion and the Surrounding Communities.

Matthew 14:16-21
And Veterans

Support Your Troops
Evil, the Rapture, Responsibility, and Radiation

By Dr. Mark Creech

Just a few days ago, our country commemorated the terrorist attacks on the World Trade Center and the Pentagon. That morning, September 11, 2001, death, carnage, and mayhem ravaged our country.

Evildoers — that was the very old-fashioned, almost biblical sounding word evoked by President Bush to describe the September 11 mass murders. The evil ones was another phrase he used," writes William J. Bennet in his book, Why We Fight. "Not since Ronald Reagan termed the Soviet Union as 'evil empire,' and thereby called down upon his own head the indignation of supposedly oppressed people everywhere...[It took George W. Bush, 'cowboy' president like Ronald Reagan, to revive the language of good and evil."

Whatever happened to good and evil? Evil is often nowadays called good. And see, this, called evil.

Matters of moral import didn't use to be so fuzzy, added Bennett in his book. "In one form or another, an easy-going relativism, both moral and cultural, is our common wisdom today. But things didn't use to be that way. It used to be that a child in this country was taught to revere its institutions and values, to identify with its national traditions and pride in its extraordinary achievements, to verify its national symbols. What was taught along these lines in the home were reinforced in the community and the schools; what may have been wanting in the home was supplied by the community and the schools and reinforced by the public authority. The superior goodness of the American way of life, of American culture in the broad sense, was the spoken and the unspoken message of this ongoing instruction in citizenship.Obviously, this is no more. C. S. Lewis once said, "When a man is getting better, he understands more clearly the evil that is still left in him. When a man is getting worse, he understands his own baseness less and less." Now spot-on. And I suggest what is true for the individual is also the case for a culture. Americans seem to understand less and less the seriousness of our character dilemma.

Today evil is pervasive and "evil-doers" abound in our country. Violence is on the rise in many of the nation's largest cities. Approximately a million lives are mercilessly ripped to pieces by the abortionist's knife every year. Human sexuality is now twisted and perverted on numerous levels. Religion, in general, is marginalized, ousted from the public arena, while Christian is assimilated. The news media has become a band of liars and talebearers. Corruption in government is commonplace. So much so the case, Americans now expect their public officials to deceive and manipulate.

The plight of the poor is real. However, the people claiming to help them most often leverage their poverty for their own gain and tax policies which make them slaves of the state. Alcohol and drug abuse are a national calamity. There hardly a family anywhere who hasn't been touched by one or the other. The government now species its own citizens to sustain itself with proceeds from gambling. This is only to point out a few faces of evil.

Christians already know about these things. Many times when I discuss our cultural realities with fellow believers, whether in a personal conversation or in a group setting, the common response is that they fully agree morality is in a free-fall and our nation is in real trouble. But then they almost always add to their expressions of agreement something like this, "Well, you know the Bible said it would get this way before the return of Christ."

I'm not interested in getting into a debate on eschatology. Still, let me tell you what does bother me. I find it troubling so few ask, "Well, what should we do about it?" It seems too many would prefer being ruptured out of responsibility, rather than engaging society to make a difference.

Christians possess the one answer that can turn back the tide of evil-doing. I think the motto of the Christian Action League, the organization I represent in North Carolina, sums it up well. It reads, "The only lasting cure for evil and injustice is Christian action."

In 1661, a K-19 Soviet Nuclear Submarine was conducting a training exercise in the North Atlantic, when a pipe carrying coolant to its nuclear reactor burst. In the reactor room, the temperature quickly soared to 140 degrees, and the radiation level seriously inhaled. The reactor room had to be cooled or it would rupture and poison the sea with toxic radiation. The captain of the ship called for volunteers to go into the perilous room and weld a new cooling system. Knowing the dangers involved, the men worked in three-man shifts for five to ten minutes, wearing only tunicos and gas masks for protection. They eventually succeeded in repairing the cooling pipe and prevent the Sub from exploding. Afterwards, the men who had gone into the reactor room started精品ly vomiting. They experienced skin reddening and swelling. Dot's of blood appeared on their foreheads and scalps. Within a couple of hours, their appearance wasn't even recognizable. In just a few days eight of them died a horrible death. After two years, fourteen more of them died from the effects of radiation.

Evil is like radiation. If the breach allowing it is not mended, it spreads and the results can be catastrophic. The Captain of the Ship of Zion calls for volunteers — volunteers willing to bear a Cross for righteousness sake — volunteers willing to suffer — volunteers even willing to die to address societal evil. Jesus is indeed coming again. Perhaps he will come soon, but just exactly when no one knows. It could be decades from now — another century or more. In the meantime, evil is spreading and moral nuclear holocaust seems imminent if we are unwilling to resist it at the cost of sacrifice.

What kind of life will be left for our poverty if Jesus tardies and the evils of our day are permitted to flourish? Don't be so heavenly minded that you're no earthly good.

There's work to be done, short and long range, and the Savior should catch us doing it when he arrives.

Rev. Dr. Mark Creech is Executive Director of the NC Christian Action League. You may contact him at rev.markcreech@christianactionleague.org or 919-787-0995.

Put ye in the sickle, for the harvest is ripe: come, get you down, for the press is full, the futs everflow; for their wickedness is great. Joel 3:13.
An alarming and growing epidemic in our country of opioid addiction has taken a significant toll on the citizens of our state. The negative impact of this epidemic affects not only those suffering from addiction, but extends exponentially. Our law enforcement, court system, departments of social services, as well as employers who need as able workforce, all struggle to deal with the effects of an increasing number of opioid-addicted citizens.

In an effort to combat this pervasive problem, I have supported significantly increased funding, over $3 million over the last two years, to upgrade and improve the Controlled Substance Reporting System (CSRS). This statewide reporting system was established by North Carolina law to improve the state’s ability to identify people who abuse and misuse prescription drugs classified as Schedule II-V controlled substances. It also assists clinicians in identifying, and referring for treatment, patients who misuse controlled substances.

Additionally, I supported an appropriation of $4 million to Mission Health for additional beds for inpatient care, including substance abuse.

Other steps include $10 million for opioid and substance abuse treatment state-wide, an opioid prevention pilot, a quick response team to address the needs of opiate and heroin overdose victims, and the enactment of House Bill 243 - Strengthens Opioid Misuse Prevention (STOP) Act, which was signed into law on June 30. Provisions of the STOP Act include the following:

- Extends the state-wide standing order practices for opioid prescribing to any governmental or non-governmental agency.
- Requires physician assistants or nurse practitioners treating patients in pain clinics to consult with their supervising physician before prescribing opioids if a patient’s use of the opioid will exceed 30 days.
- Limits opioid prescriptions to a five-day supply for acute pain relief, and a seven-day supply for post-surgical pain relief.
- Requires hospice and palliative care providers who prescribe opioids for in-home treatment to provide written and oral information to patients and their families regarding proper disposal of opioids.
- Requires dispensers to report information required by statute to the CSRS database no later than the close of the next business day after the prescription is delivered, and imposes a civil penalty on dispensers for failing to report the required information within a reasonable time.
- Requires practitioners to review a patient’s preceding 12-month history in the CSRS database prior to initially prescribing an opioid, and again every three months afterward that the opioid remains part of the patient’s medical care.

Opioid addiction is a serious tragedy that wastes human lives and potential. It is a problem that requires attention on many fronts and I will continue to focus on solutions.

As always, please share your thoughts with me on issues related to state government by emailing me at ralph.hise@ncleg.net or calling me at 919-733-3460.
NC House District 118

Speaker makes interim appointments:
Over the past couple weeks, House Speaker Tim Moore (R—Cleveland) made appointments to various committees that will meet during the legislative interim. He appointed me to the House Select Committee on Strategic Transportation Planning and Long-Term Funding Solutions. The committee will hold its first meeting on October 2.

For constituents who have contacted me about transportation issues, you know I am always happy to help. I will provide updates about committee work as the committee process moves forward.

NC House District 86

Special Need: Funding
For the first time in what is over 20 years, the State Legislature decided to tackle the spending deficit for children with disabilities in the public school system. Though we did not fund the increase at as high an amount as I had advocated, we made a first step in the right direction. In the state’s new budget, we included approximately $6 million in new funding to increase the number of fully-funded special needs children. Again, while this is a positive development, it is not in any opinion where we need to be. However, the additional funding will help and I will be continuing my efforts to at least incrementally increase funding with an ultimate goal of full funding for all such children. In addition, I have been asked to serve on the Council of Educational Services for Exceptional Children State Advisory Council. The council studies and advises the State Board of Education on the unmet needs of special education students and how to best address those areas. That position will hopefully help me to better argue the need.

During the interim, I have also been appointed by the Speaker to serve on the legislative Joint Taskforce that will study how we allocate dollars to local school systems. That position, too, will, I hope, also enable us to urge a new method of funding that will fully recognize the needs of our special student populations with Individual Education Plans.

Dave Ramsey—Extra

The 401(k) Option You Never Should Take
By Chris Hogan

There’s a trend among 401(k) participants that keeps me up at night. It’s a trend that I don’t know how to stop, and it’s one less person who’s losing money. This trend is called the tax trap.

In theory, when you take money from your 401(k) account in a lump sum, the taxes you owe on that money are calculated based on your income tax rate, which is determined by your income level at the time you take the money. This means you could pay taxes at a higher rate than you would have if you had waited longer to take the money, which means you could pay less taxes overall.

However, in practice, things are not quite as simple as they seem. There are many factors that can affect how much you’ll pay in taxes when you take money from your 401(k), and some of them may surprise you. For example, if you have a non-irascible (or “non-irascible”) job, you might be able to use the money from your 401(k) to buy a car or pay off credit card debt. But even if you aren’t able to use the money for such expenses, you might still be able to save money on taxes by taking out what’s called a “rollover” from your 401(k) account.

A rollover is simply moving the money you’ve taken out of your 401(k) into an IRA (individual retirement account) instead of leaving it in your 401(k). This can be a great way to reduce the amount of taxes you’ll have to pay because IRAs have lower tax rates than 401(k)s.

Whether it was a car or a washing machine, they understood the value of hard work and took extra jobs when finances got tight. And they didn’t buy things they didn’t need to impress the neighbors. That’s a relatively new phenomenon—and a dangerous mindset to have. The total household debt in the United States is roughly $1.2 trillion. Of that, credit card debt accounts for $31 billion. How can we as a nation expect to prosper if we live beyond our means and have no idea how we’ll magically turn our finances around?

I understand that life happens and sometimes we have to spend money for things we need. But rather than getting a 401(k) loan to pay for life’s missteps, why not prepare in advance and put money aside? Then, when Murphy’s Law comes knocking, you’ll already have the money to make it go away.

The 401(k) loan is a simple way to fund a much larger cultural problem. But change has to start somewhere. And the best way to do that is to make it easier for workers to save for retirement and pay less in taxes. This is a small but necessary step toward fixing America’s retirement crisis.

Chris Hogan is the #1 national best-selling author of Retire Inspired: It’s Not An Age, It’s A Financial Number and host of the Retire Inspired Podcast. A popular and dynamic speaker on the topics of personal finance, retirement, and leadership, Hogan helps people across the country develop successful strategies to manage their money in both their personal and professional lives. You can follow Hogan on Twitter and Instagram at @ChrisHogan560 and online at chrisogany.com or facebook.com/chrishogan560.
First Success Story
By Daniel Barron
Mitchell County

On the afternoon of July 2nd, Mitchell County 911 received a call from a family saying an adult registered with Project Lifesaver was missing. A team of 5 Emergency Service and 2 Head Start Personnel followed the established protocol they had learned recently during Project Lifesaver training. A team member serving as the officer-in-charge along with the local fire and rescue group and a member of the team with access to the location seeking technology responded to the area the subject was last seen. Fortunately the individual was located quickly because the families knew exactly what to do to assist the first responders and they, in turn, followed the search techniques they had been taught. While the technology was on the way, the other aspects of training paid off and prevented this individual from wandering into a more dangerous mountain side. An entire team of the equipment demonstrated its potential benefit had the initial search not been successful.

As of this writing, 4 children and 2 adults have received the Project LifeSaver location devices, been registered with 911, their families instructed in the appropriate steps should their loved ones become missing, and have families that can rest easy knowing that their loved ones will always be guided home. Four other individuals are in the process of becoming registered and receiving their location devices.

Mitchell County Project LifeSaver has resulted from the efforts of individuals who are dedicated to making sure that children with autism and adults with Alzheimer’s always have a lifetime to home should they ever wander away. This initiative began in June 2016 with concerns for the safety of one 3-year-old child with severe autism entering an early childcare program located between a major highway and a creek. The resulting conversations resulted in forming Safety Awareness for Everyone (SAFE). The membership includes representatives from Head Start, Mitchell County Sheriff’s Office, both DDS Children and Adult Services, the Family Support Network, Bakersville Police Department, Mitchell County Public Library, Bakersville Community Health Center, and area Fire Departments.

The initial funding for the equipment and training came from a grant awarded by The Fund for Mitchell County in collaboration with The Community Foundation of Western North Carolina (https://www.cfwnc.org/All Funds/ The Fund for Mitchell County.aspx) to SAFE and the Mitchell County Sheriff’s Department. The system can accommodate as many clients as can be identified so others will be added. Persons with limited budgets may qualify for free service. To learn more about Project LifeSaver go to http://www.projectlifesaver.org or contact locally Pam Snyder: pansnyder4@yahoo.com or 828-688-2109 ext 14 or Detective Courneye Beam: cbeammcgo@gmail.com or 828-385-2522.

Dr. Daniel Barron was a distinguished Professor Emeritus at University of South Carolina. He was the former director of AMT Regional Library. Dan is now retired.

Bear Creek Baptist Church
The Heavens
By Rev. Bruce Cannon
Mitchell County

The heavens declare the glory of God, and the firmament shows his handwork. (Psalm 19:1)

I have always been fascinated with the heavens. As a young boy, I can remember staring into the heavens and being so amazed at the beauty, the vastness and the expanse of them. How amazing! A moon rise coming up out of the water, a starry night or a sunrise or sunset all speak to the magnificence of creation.

But the mountains aren’t half bad either. And, they have already begun their annual “show”. Here, in late September, the colors have already begun to become vibrant. The reds, yellows and oranges will make the mountains appear as if a beautiful handmade quilt were draped across them.

Yet, as beautiful as all of this is, there is One behind all of this that is so much more amazing, beautiful and special! A hermeneutical principle I learned in seminary is, “that which is created is always significantly less than the one who created it.” My wife makes a spectacular pound cake. It takes almost an hour to get it ready for the oven and another hour or so to cook it. When it is cooking our whole house smells wonderful. When the cake comes out of the oven, it truly is a site to behold. And the taste…0 my! Yet she is so much more special than the cake for many, many reasons. One being, once I eat the cake it is gone. She, on the other hand, can make more cakes. Therefore, for that simple reason alone she is much more significant and special than that one cake.

A simple illustration, I know, but one which serves to make my point. The heavens, the mountains, the oceans, or a baby all are absolutely incredible. Yet, behind all of these is One who is absolutely so much more amazing!

He did not have to make the mountains so colorful. Neither did He have to make the stars so bright. Spectacular. Yet He did it, and it was no problem for Him to do so at all.

Remember, that which is created is always significantly less than the one who created it. He, our God, the Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, is so much more amazing, so much more incredible and so much more special than the objects of His creation. And, His heart is on us. My first grandson is now 3 months old. And I thank He is very special. He has my heart wrapped around his tiny fingers. I would do anything for him.

Our God will do anything we need Him to do for us. He incredibly loves us! He always wants the very best for us. He is always giving us spectacular gifts.

Do you know Him? If not, why not accept Him today? If you do know Him, rest in His care. He is for you, not against you. He loves you with an everlasting and amazing love! Rejoice in this. And, as the mountains get so much prettier over the next few weeks, enjoy. Our God did all of this!

Rev. Bruce Cannon currently serves as the Senior Pastor of Bear Creek Baptist Church in Bakersville. Formerly he served as Director of Missions for the Stewardhip Baptist Association and has served on the General Board of the Baptist State Convention of North Carolina.
HALLOWED BE THY NAME

By Joyce (Joy) Harwood Baldwin

It's Halloween again, they say
In October every year
The children go to trick or treat
Think I'll just stay right here.

Goblins, ghosts and ghouls
Whoever thought of such a thing
The as a child I took my part
Now I'll sit by the window and stare.

My Song is "Our Heavenly Father
Hallowed be thy name all year
I'm glad You are Holy and Mighty
So we never have to live in fear."

If children don't know about His Love
To cover their head they might Yet knowing of The Father's great power
They feel safe 'n secure on Halloween night

Joy is a resident of Madison County, where she now lives with her husband, Danny Joe Baldwin. She is currently a member of Mt Zion Baptist Church in Marshall, NC. As a previous member, she calls Forks of Ivy Missionary Baptist Church in Waynesville, "home away from home". She is currently singing with the Gospel Group "Jonah's Voice" out of Mars Hill, NC. Her latest song "Homecoming" will soon be heard by many.

John's Precision Auto Body
1385 Rutherford Road
Marion, NC 28752
(828) 652-2018
Fax (828) 652-4898

Save the Date!
You are invited to attend our Thrift Store Customer Appreciation Event on Friday, October 27th from 11:00-2:00.
Join us for hot dogs, chips, drinks, baked goodies AND EVERYTHING WILL BE ON SALE!

All Buck Stoves
Wood and Gas on Sale!

Layaway now for the upcoming heating season.

Toyostove
Laser L-730
Vented OIL HEATERS
40,000 BTU - heats up to 2,000 sq. ft!

Sales, Service and Installation

Peoples Furniture Company
274 Oak Avenue, Spruce Pine, North Carolina 28777
Phone: (828) 795-5955 • Fax: (828) 795-5956
www.peoples-furnitures.com
The Rest of the Bird Story
By Lana Ellis
Tennessee

I prefer to write lightheartedly with a moral to the story but the Rest of the Bird Story is far from that. In the previous article I contrated the living conditions of the swallows in the wooden bird house and the kildare who nested in an unprotected open area on a bed of pebbles. The last time I saw swallows at the box there was a bird on the fence nearest and another bird sitting out from inside the box. Soon that bird flew away with the other one and I saw no more action. While cleaning out the bird house I found a very well build nest with a nice feather bed but to my dismay inside the feather bed were three dead birds. From outward appearances the swallow siblings were living a life of ease but now we knew they were in captivity. Just as captivity has no place in the life of a wild bird there is no place in God’s plan that would prevent His children from the freedom He promises in His Word. I think it’s no coincidence that as I write I’m beginning the Bible study “Breaking Free” by Beth Moore. This study is based on the book of Isaiah described by her as “a book about the captivity of God’s children, the faithfulness of God and the road to freedom.” She goes on to say, “Like Israel and Judah, much of our own captivity is caused by failure to remove obstacles such as unbelief, pride, idolatry, prayerlessness and spirit-quenching legalism.”

The first temptation Satan put before humanity was doubting God’s Word and even though he has been defeated he’s still in the business of putting doubt or unbelief to the minds of God’s children. Until the chains of unbelief are broken we are destined to be held captive. Isaiah’s account of the Kings of Judah and Israel goes straight to pride as being the reason for many of their failures. “The pride of those kings and the New Testament Pharisees is easily recognizable,” John described Dorotheus as one “who loved to have the preeminence.” It’s also easy for us to recognize pride in a bossful person but pride can take on many disguises. Oh, how we humans love to be praised and honored, win medals and get pat on the back for our accomplishments and completed tasks. Pride says, “I don’t need help.  I can do it by myself.” Mark 7:20-23 tells us what Jesus thanks of pride and arrogance. There it is, right in the midst of a list of horrendous evil things such as murder, theft, fornications, slanders, etc. It’s described as a vice that can defile a person. It takes a lot of gumption to confess pride in one’s life. Why? Because it’s one’s pride! Romans 12:3 Do not think of yourself merely as you ought, but rather think of yourself with sober judgment. Anything we do or accomplish should bring glory to God rather than to ourselves.

In Luke 16 Jesus told a parable of those who stood and prayed God their “good deeds,” even fasting twice a week and paying tithes. They certainly looked good from the outside, but Jesus said they “trusted in themselves” which leads us to the third obstacle that must be removed, idolatry. “Not me,” self says. Self, I have news for you. An idol is anything or person that consumes you more than God. Therefore, there’s a possibility an idol in each of our lives goes by the name of “ME.” It’s all about “ME.” The way we „worship” that idol is by self-satisfaction. The gifts we lay at the foot of “ME” are time, money, activities, sports, entertainment, friends and even family. Anything or person we treasure more than a relationship with God through Jesus is an idol. Some of the Old Testament kings participated in temple worship but were guilty of leaving “high places” for pagan worship. We Christians must destroy any “high places”, those secret idols, in our lives that we think we are hidden from others… but God knows.

As I began studying these obstacles individually I became aware of how easily they can be stacked one on another, building a wall that entraps. Failure to remove the obstacles of unbelief, pride and idolatry (ME) leads to prayerlessness. After all, by then I don’t need God even if my outward appearance and actions say otherwise. Going through life without asking God for guidance is like traveling a road without signs or maps depending only on one’s instincts. How lost we would be with all the unnecessary twists and turns. It’s easy to see how taking God out of the formula results in the last obstacle to freedom, Spirit-quenching legalism. Unlike the other obstacles legalism affects others as well as the individual. The words of Jesus in Matthew 15:8-9 hits the nail right on the head. This people draws near to me with their mouths and honor me with their lips, but their hearts are far from me. In vain they worship me, teaching the commandments of men. Colossians 2:6 See to it that no one takes you captive through hollow and deceptive philosophy, which depends on human tradition and the elemental spiritual forces of this world rather than on Christ. In Acts 21:22 the religious people were adamant about those who were not like them entering into their congregations. The early church had to deal with their past traditions and so must we. It’s possible that someone whose skin color is different, not dressed a certain way and/or not carrying a particular Bible translation can be shamed. And we’ve get so structured that the Spirit is prevented from ministering? Are there certain things we do just because we’ve always done it that way? Paul warned the Thessalonians was “Quench not the Spirit.” The International Standard Version puts it this way. ‘Do not put out the Spirit’s fire.” Pouting on a bucket full of traditions and legalism is a sure way of putting out the Holy Spirit’s fire.

Only God knows why the swallows in the bird house did not take flight but I know what can keep me from the freedom I have in Christ. Will you join me in removing these barriers and any other obstacles from our lives that would prevent us from the Spirit-filled life promised by the “Truth” himself? Jesus said that He is the Truth and His Truth will set us free. We have the choice – become week in captivity like my back yard swallow or break loose and soar on wings like eagles. (Isaiah 40:31)
Shine For Him
By Ed Couper

A little boy loved Jesus very much, and enjoyed hearing his mom and dad read Bible stories to him. Every day he invited Jesus to come into his heart and live there. This boy considered Jesus to be his best friend and hero.

Children are naturally interested in how they are growing. So, one day he asked his father, "Daddy, how tall am I?" "Last time we measured you, you were three feet tall," his dad responded. One day as his son was standing beside his dad, he asked his dad how tall he was. Dad said, "six feet, two inches." Then his son asked him, "How tall is Jesus?" Surprised, his father said that he was not exactly sure, but maybe Jesus was tall, like a tall basketball player. After a pause, this little boy seemed relieved about inviting Jesus to live in his heart. He said, "Daddy, if Jesus is so tall and I am so small, He must be sticking out of me."

This young boy's response to his dad about Jesus reminds me of John 3:30. "He must increase, but I must decrease." One of the greatest prophets realized this too, John the Baptist. To me there is an important spiritual principle: when more of self disappears, the more of Christ appears. When we lift up Jesus in our lives, he will use our life and mine to draw others to himself. Remember reading a book years ago, where the author said, "People would rather see a sermon than hear a sermon that day."

So, what does it mean to be called a Christian today? Here is an excellent definition: "For to be a Christian is to be Christ like. Jesus is a perfect pattern and we need to imitate His example. A Christian is a representative of Christ." (Evangelism, pg. 641)

Paul writes these words in 2 Corinthians 3:18: "By beholding Him we become transformed." God's ideal for each one of us is for His light to shine brighter through us as we continue to walk with Him through His Spirit.

When my family and I lived in Canada, I had the privilege to have Bible studies with a young man, who was a boxer, training to be in the Olympics. What impressed me the most about him, was his long and arduous training regimen. With all his efforts, it did not guarantee he would be chosen to be a member of the Canadian boxing team. Nor, if chosen win any medals. All this training and struggle resulting in just a few winners, is for a perishable prize and fleeting fame. It is interesting that my friend abandoned any practice that would not enhance his chances to win. No sacrifice was too great for him to reach his goal.

It is amazing that in our spiritual Olympics, the prize never perishes or fades, we can neglect such a great and eternal salvation. It is because Christ, who was victorious, that we too can run the race before us, we can be victorious, we can all go for the imperishable gold. Paul describes this spiritual Olympics we are all engaged in, in Hebrews 12:1, 2: "Therefore we also, since we are surrounded by so great a cloud of witnesses, let us lay aside every weight, and the sin which so easily ensnares us, and let us run with endurance the race that is set before us. Looking unto Jesus, the author and finisher of our faith, who for the joy that was set before him endured the cross, despising the shame, and has set down at the right hand of the throne of God." In this text, we find the secret of victory in Christ. All the ingredients for winning the prize of Christ-likeness are here. Christ-likeness is the goal in the spiritual race is our journey towards His kingdom.

A little girl was walking with her mother into church. The stained-glass windows depicted Christ's disciples and the sun's rays were shining beautifully through the windows. She said, "Mommy, now I know what good disciples are like, the light of Jesus shines through them."

God bless you, as you shine for Him.

Ed Couper is the pastor for the Burnsville and Erwin Hills Seventh-day Adventist Churches. Previously he served churches in Ontario (Canada), New York, Kentucky and North Carolina. He also is a retired Chaplain, Lieutenant Colonel, having spent 27 years in the US Air Force. Pastor Couper and his wife of 23 years, Carol, have four adult children: Melanie, Kaylee, Morgan and Drew. He enjoys sharing the love of Jesus and encouraging others to prepare for His soon return.
ACROSS
1. He said, ___, Father, all things are possible unto thee (Mark 14:36, KJV)
5. They were hungry and thirsty, and their lives ___ away (Ps 107:5)
10. Five gold talents and five gold (1 Sam 6:9)
11. With silver, iron, tin, and lead, they traded in thy (Zech 27:12, KJV)
16. Remember, O Lord, your great mercy and (Ps 25:6)
17. Their calls ___ through the windows (Zeph 2:14)
18. There is only ___ between me and death (1 Sam 20:5)
19. Twenty male goats, two hundred ___ and twenty rams (Gen 32:14)
20. He made a ___ of cherubim of olive wood (1 Kings 6:23)
21. You will be a wanderer on the earth (Gen 4:12)
22. Represent four kingdoms that will ___ from his nation (Dan 8:22)
23. Righteous is a tree of life, and he who ___ souls is wise (Prov 11:30)
24. Below the lions and bulls were of hummed work (1 Kings 7:29)
25. Such is the fate God ___ the wicked (Job 26:25)
26. But the ___ of healing (Hos 13:13)
27. Your hand will ___ hold on all your enemies (Ps 23:5)
28. Fantastic, first-rate (Job 34:3)
29. The ___ words as the tongue tastes food (Job 34:3)
30. Killed some twenty men in an area of about half an (1 Sam 14:14)
40. From foundation to ___ were made of blocks of high-grade stone (1 Kings 7:19)
41. In nakedness and ___ poverty, you will serve the enemies (Deut 28:48)
43. Remains only a single seed. But if it dies, it produces many ___ (John 12:24)
44. Jesus replied, "Foxes have holes and birds of the air have ___ (Matt 6:20)
45. Just book of the Bible (abbr) (Ps 8:23)
46. Pure gold, more rare than the gold of ___ (Isa 13:12)
50. Sir, your mana ___ ten more (Luke 19:16)
52. The place of the Skull (which ___ it is called Golgotha) (John 19:17)
53. Christ Jesus came into the world to ___ sinners (1 Tim 1:15)
55. All the male goats ___ the left are streaked (Gen 31:12)
57. Whoever lives and ___ in me will never die (John 11:25)
61. Consciences have been seared as with ___ iron (1 Tim 4:2)
62. When the ram’s ___ sounds a long blast they go up (Exod 19:11)
64. Vines and fig trees, pomegranates, ___ oil and honey (Deut 8:9)
65. The blind receive their sight, and the ___ walk (Matt 11:5)
66. Son of Seth (Gen 4:26, KJV)
67. They will ___ the ruined cities that have been devastated (Isa 66:14)
68. Now my life ___ away; days of suffering grip me (Job 30:16)
69. When they had ___ three or three and a half miles (John 6:19)
70. Animals take cover, they remain in their (Job 3:8)

DOWN
1. Peter followed him ___ off unto the high priest’s palace (Matt 26:58)
2. His was made of silver, ___ of gold (Song 3:10)
3. We put ___ into the mouths of horses to make them obey (James 3:3)
4. Also there ___ olive trees by it (Zech 4:3)
5. He will ___ those who fear the Lord (Ps 11:13)
6. Large shields, the ___ and arrows, the war clubs and spears (Ezek 38:19)
7. The serpent beguiled through his subtlety (2 Cor 11:3)
8. A voice of one calling in the (Matt 3:3)
9. The laws of the Medes and Persians, which cannot be ___ (Dan 6:8)
10. An ox from each leader and from every two (1,920)
11. The hollow of Jacob’s ___ in the sinew that shrunk (Gen 32:32, KJV)
12. The dogs came and licked his ___ (Luke 16:21)
13. Whose ___ may go (Ecc 10:9)
14. For I was an hungry, and ye gave me ___ (Matt 25:33)
15. Their sailors came alongside to trade for your ___ (Ezek 27:9)
16. For that day is great (Jer 36:7)
17. Up to the rings of the ephebd with a ___ of blue (Ex 28:28)
18. Strike the tambourine, play the neadow instrument and ___ (Ps 81:2)
19. He touched her hand, and the ___ left her (Matt 8:15)
20. I will strike every horse with its ___ and with madness (Zech 12:4)
21. They will ___ and a wonder to you (Deut 28:46)
22. A good ___ cannot bring forth evil fruit (Matt 7:18)
23. The Lord needs it and will ___ it back here shortly (Mark 11:13)
24. This is the account of the ___ of the father of the (Gen 36:9)
25. Do not commit adultery." "Do not murder," "Do not (Rom 13:9)
26. Will be forgotten for seventy years, the ___ of a king’s life (Isa 23:15)
27. Into the eternal kingdom of our Lord and ___ Jesus (Phil 1:11)
28. For great is your love, than the heavens (Ps 103:4)
29. They ___ and slandered like drunkards (Ps 77:17)
30. Every kind of clean animal, and its ___ (Mate 14:3)

SOLUTION ON PAGE 14
Hospice and Palliative Care of the Blue Ridge

Moved with Compassion
By Brent Price
Mitchell County

We hear it almost every day. You learn of a person who is struggling and broken, someone whose circumstances don’t appear to offer much hope. You may feel sorry for them and might feel a real surge of sympathy. But we all know how hard it is to get too close to misery and misfortune. They’re just “pitiful.”

When confronted with the pain and suffering of others, many of us are guilty of simply offering a blessing and commending our way. “I’ll be praying for you!” trails behind us as we leave some “pitiful” person to their struggle. In the second chapter of James we are challenged to respond very differently to those whom we might be tempted to label as “pitiful.” “If a brother or sister be naked, and destitute of daily food, and one of you says unto them, Lieg down in peace, be warmed and filled; but you give them none of the things which are needful for the body: what does it matter? (James 2:15-16)

Pity, as I see it, offers no power. It allows us to dismiss persons. It creates distance and keeps us uninvolved. Pity avoids relationship and invites us from entering into the suffering of others.

Jesus did not look at the hungry multitude, offer a blessing and send them on their way. He didn’t turn to the discples and say, “Look, brothers. Aren’t these poor people pitiful? It’s a shame they didn’t bring anything to eat.” No. Jesus felt their hunger. He knew they didn’t have the means to purchase food. He was concerned for their well-being. “I will not send them away fasting, lest they faint in the way (Matthew 15:32).” Jesus hears the cries of the leptos, the blind, the hungry and the mourning and he moved to compassion. Corrupted flesh is made whole and unbeknotted. Darkness is turned to light as sight is restored.

The poor eat and are satisfied. Mourning is turned into dancing as the dead return to life. The word we know as “compassion” in its earliest form literally means “suffer together.” This is the work of bearing fruit. Here is the work of love, what it means to enter the lives of others.

Jesus is moved by the hurt and brokenness of those around him. So, do the only thing he can. He heals and feeds. He binds up the broken-hearted. He loves the unlovable. He embraces “the wrong people.” His love, rooted in compassion, transforms lives and draws attention to the suffering that is ignored by the powers that be.

I’ve been blessed to sit at tables where multitudes have been miraculously fed. I’ve been embraced by persons who felt they had little to offer and yet they offered more than anyone could imagine. Unaware of my own blindness, my sins have repeatedly been restored. I’ve celebrated the joy that follows mourning and know that even in the most desperate hours we need to be touched by a hand moved with compassion— to heal us, to restore us and to offer us hope.

Reverend Brent Price is a chaplain at Hospice & Palliative Care of the Blue Ridge.

A Meditation

Knowing the Lord
By Timothy Eller
Asheville County

In Exodus 3:14 Jehovah God told Moses to tell the children of Israel that I AM had sent him. He introduced himself as I AM and I AM at Moses at the burning bush. In Exodus 3:6 Jehovah identified himself as I AM the God of Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob. He makes himself also known in Isaiah 43:10:

Isaiah 43:10

To my witnesses, saith the LORD, and my servant whom I have chosen: that ye may know and believe me, and understand that I am: before me there was no God formed, neither shall there be after me. (KJV)

Yahweh said that Isaiah was sent to declare him as I AM. And that there never has been nor will be any other God formed except Yahweh. We find more about the I AM in Isaiah 43:25:

25 I even I, am he that blotteth out thy transgressions for mine own sake, and will not remember thy sins.

It is I AM that bloteth transgressions for mine sake and will no longer remember my sins.

As we study who was this Jesus, who was it that blotted out our sins with his Blood?

The answer is found in Isaiah 45:17-18.

17 But Israel shall be saved in the LORD with an everlasting salvation: ye shall not be ashamed any more of My name, saith the LORD, My righteousness is with Me, it is a thing that I will do: 18 For thus saith the LORD that created the heaven; He is the first and last: I am he that blotteth out thy transgressions for Mine own sake, and will not remember thy sins.

Who is this Jesus?

The Eller graduated from Carolina Graduate School of Divinity and has been involved in prisons and jail ministry for the past fifteen years. Currently he is operating in the capacity of a servant of Jesus Christ.

Check out our new Website www.brcnews.com
And find us on Facebook

Breakfast • Lunch
DT’S BLUE RIDGE JAVA
COFFEE SHOP & CAFE
828-766-8008
169 Locust St. (Lower St.)
Spruce Pine, NC
Daily 7:00am - 5:00pm
Closed Sunday
Go to Church

Lakeview Nursery has become Lakeview Mercantile & Garden
3 & 4 Generation Owners • 55 Years Experience • New Merchandise Shrubbery • Trees • Perennials • Organic Fertilizer, Pesticide, Soil, Plants
Concrete Fountains & Statuaries • Decorative Pots • Outdoor Bob Timberlake Furniture
665 Oak Ave. Spruce Pine, NC • 765-9133

www.brcnews.com

October 2017 - Blue Ridge Christian News page 39
Exclamations in Nature
Ken and Jan Metrop
Avery County

I cherish two special memories involving children and nature from our back-to-back trips to North Carolina and then to Colorado.

We had taken our 14-year-old grandson, Joshua — a nature lover — to a Christmas tree farm near his home. The farm also has animals to feed and tractors to wow the youngest of tractor lovers.

He had a blast. But, my favorite picture is of this little guy walking ahead of us amidst towering Christmas trees while waving his arms and talking out loud to them. The outdoors speaks to him and he couldn’t help but respond.

While on a hike in Rocky Mountain National Park a few weeks later, Ken and I and our friends, Howard and Alyson, passed by a man, dad and their young son. Inhaling the scents of the forest and enlaved by the wonder of nature, our souls were fed even more by this younger.

Ken and Howard were a little ahead of us when they heard the boy genuinely exclaim, “This is life.”

Then as we brought up the rear and the family drew closer to us, the boy asked in a voice of wonder and hope, “Can I move here?”

His eyes were alight with joy as he embraced the place and how it made him feel.

I couldn’t help but respond, “Sure. And I’ll move here, too!”

Of course, it’s not possible to move to a national park. But, the sights and sounds of such a place take up residence in us somehow. And that’s because it’s not simply “nature.” It’s a manifestation of who God is.

The Bible tells us in Romans 1: 19, 20, NIV, “For since the creation of the world God’s invisible qualities — his eternal power and divine nature — have been clearly seen, being understood from what has been made, so that men are without excuse.”

Many other Scripture references attest to the intricacies and varieties in God’s creation. And, yet, so often we want to explain it away as “mother nature” or the evolutionary theory. In reality, God has revealed himself through his creation so that we might be drawn to him — who is the more magnificent, awe-inspiring being behind creation.

And he longs to have a relationship with us.

We are given opportunities on every walk along a roadway where wild flowers grow, every hike into the mountains where waterfalls surprise us, awakening our senses; and, gazing into the night sky twinkling with endless stars to talk about our amazing creator God.

Nature explains his majesty. Let’s do the same and point our children to him.

Selah

Picnic in the Park
Ableize with autumn’s invitation... come picnic on food for body and soul.
God’s faithfulness is palpable in every season.
“He did not leave himself without witness, in that He did good, gave us rains from heaven and fruitful seasons, filling our hearts with food and gladness.”
Act 14: 17

Ken and Jan reside in Land Harbour in Avery County, where they have moved in retirement because they love our mountains. They have written for us in years past.
Bridge42 Church

Where Am I and How Did I Get Here
By Jason Koon
Burke County

I didn’t start off trying to be the pastor of an established Bible belt church. In the early days of my calling into ministry, I always imagined I’d be out on the Mission field somewhere, taking the gospel into the deepest, darkest reaches of the world. Somehow, I ended up here. Early on, I had a picture in my mind of what it might look like to be the pastor of an established Baptist Church in the Bible Belt, and I didn’t like it. Stringing in my study, comfortable, except for the tie that I kept close by in case a deacon dropped by unannounced. It was not my idea of taking the gospel to the nations. It didn’t seem as Christ-like to me as going to the majority world and living in poverty for the sake of the Gospel. But this is where I ended up. I didn’t “sell out” or go off track. I don’t think I sold out for the American Dream. Instead of pursuing the Kingdom of God, it’s just that as I went through college and my early years in ministry, it just naturally began to take a different form. I’m thankful for what God has given me.

So here I am myaphisi, I am in the Mission field and you are too. We are in one of the dark, largely unreached corners of the globe, but what makes the darkness in our context so mind-blowing is that a lot of it looks like light. We live in a world where many people are caught up in a false form of Christianized idolatry, a religion that has all the form but none of the power. We have potlucks, “Gospel Singing”, and good preaching, and there’s nothing wrong with those things. But the reality is, that most of the people who live in my neighborhood don’t really understand who God is, and many of those do, have so much else going on that the Gospel isn’t impacting their lives like the Bible says it’s supposed to. But everything’s fine, right? I file in, tilt my spot in the pew, and then file on to get back to the business of “real life.” Sometimes I even go on Wednesday night. I’m living for Jesus, right?

I think that we are going to need to begin approaching life as a Believer in the Bible Belt the same way that our older brothers and sisters in the faith approached raising the gospel to the unreached heathen on the other side of the world. People are living in darkness; 70% of my neighbors rarely, if ever, go to church, and I am becoming more and more convinced that many of those who do are no more worshipping the Christ of the Bible than the unconverted names who have never heard his name. Church, we are in the mission field. The lost are in our neighborhood, in our families, and in many cases in our own churches. If our lives are going to have the same kind of Kingdom impact as the lives of people like Lottie Moon, William Carey, David Brainerd, George Lisle and the countless others who came before us, they are going to have to start taking on some of the characteristics of those did. Most importantly, get a passion that all might hear the Gospel. From the man in Africa who has never heard the Gospel, to the man in North Carolina, teaching Sunday School, who has heard it thousands of times but never fully given himself to it.

Jason Koon is Pastor of Bridge42 Church in Morganton, NC.

MCHP

By Amber Dillinger
Mitchell and Yancey County

Recently a number of our patients may have received a letter from Blue Cross Blue Shield regarding their physician at one of the Mountain Community Health Partnership centers, Celeo Health Center or Reasorville Community Medical Clinic. The letter from BCBS of NC indicated that as of October 5, 2017, their physician is no longer in network with Blue Cross Blue Shield and that they have been assigned to a new provider.

While factually correct, the letter is misleading in that it does not clearly state that this happened because their physician has admitting privileges with Mission Health and Blue Ridge Regional Hospital and therefore was lumped in with all the other Mission affiliated physicians impacted by Mission’s decision to leave BCBS.

What are the facts you need to know?
Physicians and Providers at Mountain Community Health Partnership (MCHP) health centers, are in network with BCBS and Blue Medicare HMO and will continue to be in network, even if Mission Health does actually leave BCBS.
MCHP is NOT affiliated in any form or fashion with Mission Health. We’ve never been part of Mission, and never plan to be. MCHP and all of its health centers are community-owned and managed, providing primary care health services to patients in Mitchell, Yancey counties and surrounding areas.
All provider services provided at MCHP health centers are considered in network with BCBS and Blue Medicare HMO.
What do you need to do?
Unfortunately, BCBS is a large corporation and while we will work diligently to have BCBS correct our patients erroneous assignment to another provider, it may take a while. In the meantime, affected patients should call BCBS Customer Service Department to have them assigned back to their original physician at Celeo Health Center or Batesville Community Medical Clinic. The BCBS Customer Service Department is 1-888-310-4110.

We sincerely apologize for the inconvenience this may cause our patients. It’s unfortunate when patients are negatively impacted by the actions of others. Rest assured that your healthcare is our priority and we will continue to provide the highest quality of patient care possible to all of our patients.

Please feel free to contact our Patient Advocate, Amber Dillinger with any questions regarding your Blue Cross coverage. Open enrollment is coming soon for Medicare and Amber is an expert in assisting patients making the best selection for their coverage. Amber can be reached at 828-668-6621.
For more information or to learn more about our health center please contact Amber Dillinger, Outreach and Enrollment 828-668-6621 adillinger@mchp.capecare Visit our website at http://bluecshc.org or http://www.celohc.icenter.com/medical/Article written by: Chuck Shelton, CEO

Anber Dillinger is the Outreach and Enrollment/Certified Application Counselor at Batesville Community Health Center

WE ARE COMMITTED TO DOING OUR BEST FOR YOU!
And Our Community

“INSURANCE is the most IMPORTANT thing a person has because it protects him against the loss of everything he has in the world.”
H.O. Hirt, ERIE Founder

www.brcnews.com October 2017 - Blue Ridge Christian News page 41
Armadillos
By Chris Lowman
Burke County

Did you know that God made animals with armor? One animal has armor that covers its entire body except for its mammary. It comes in many different colors: pink, red, black, gray, and yellow. This animal is nocturnal, and as omnivores which means it will eat pretty much anything! Have you figured out what animal I am talking about?

If you guessed an armadillo, you are correct.

There are 11 different varieties of armadillos. The smallest is called the pink fairy and weighs about three ounces. The largest is called the giant armadillo and weighs as much as 120 pounds! The three-banded armadillo is the only one that can walk on its belly. It has a long sticky tongue to eat ants and snails. Sharp claws and strong legs make digging burrows easy. Their eyesight is bad so they use their tails as feelers, and their sense of smell to help them get around. Armadillos live mainly in warm areas of the world due to their lack of body fat to keep them warm.

You can eat armadillos, they say it tastes like pork, but I highly don’t recommend it! Armadillos carry the bacteria that cause the disease leprosy, which you could catch from eating or handling them. This is the very same leprosy that is mentioned in the Bible, and has no cure.

Did you know that an armadillo’s armor is so strong that there have been stories of men who have shot them, and the bullet didn’t go through the shell? In fact, the shell was so strong that it sent the bullet bouncing back to the shooter! Now that is some mighty strong armor!

When I think of armor, I think of a knight in the Lord’s army fighting for the Lord against evil. I see him being confident that nothing can stop him because he is protected by the Lord with the armor that He gave him. He fought assured that good always wins over evil. Did you know that God really has given us armor to put on daily to help us fight our battles against the devil? We will talk about the individual pieces at a later date. Isn’t it awesome that God loves us so much he equipped us with armor to make it through each day against things we encounter? It might be a battle at school, or a decision of just a bag, or being scared of a thunderstorm. There are tons of things that we encounter each day but rest assured you are not doing it alone! God is with you always and will protect you in whatever you might endure.

Finally, be strong in the Lord and in the strength of his might. Put on the whole armor of God, that you may be able to stand against the schemes of the devil. For our struggle is not against flesh and blood, but against the authorities, against the cosmic powers of this present darkness, against the spiritual forces of evil in the heavenly places. Therefore, take up the whole armor of God, that you may be able to withstand in the evil day, and having done all, to stand firm. Ephesians 6:10-18 ESV

“Have I not commanded you? Be strong and courageous. Do not be afraid, and do not be dismayed, for the Lord your God is with you wherever you go.” Joshua 1:9 ESV

Dear Lord, I pray that you will show each child how to use Your armor. I pray that they will always have comfort in knowing that you are with them always no matter what. Help them be strong, brave and tough skinned like the armadillo in whatever they face. In Jesus’ precious name I pray. AMEN.

Bibliography:
http://www.bearafrica.com/armadillo-facts.html
https://www.fivecreekfc.com/52390-armadillos.html

Christy Lowman is a Christian author and illustrator who lives in the foothills of the Blue Ridge Mountains with her husband and two children. She writes and illustrating books for all ages. Some of her other stories are published with Guideposts and BCI. Christy gives all the glory to God in everything she does. A portion of every book sold from the Small Bible Character Series will be donated to battle human trafficking. If you enjoy her books, like her author page on Facebook and let her know! You can buy her books at https://www.amazon.com/dp/B01LZB1J6K/ref=sr_1_1?ie=UTF8&field-author=Christy-Lowman&ie=UTF8&qid=1506025684&sr=8-1&keywords=book&store=books& catastrophic�

You can reach her at: Chris Lowman at melanietlowman@gmail.com or through her website: www.christyloam.com.
Fight the Right Fight
Pastor Dan Quarillo
Burke County

1 Samuel 17 contains what is probably the most famous battle in all the Word of God, the battle between David and Goliath. The details of the story are fascinating, as a teenage shepherd-herder gained the approval of an entire army by being undaunted by fear. Before David ever fought Goliath, he was faced with two battles he chose to not fight. David refused to be sidetracked by smaller battles and thereby remained focused on the most important battle. We must remain focused on fighting the right battles; failure to do so may have disastrous consequences.

The first battle which David chose to not fight is the battle of false accusation. David was told by his father to take food to the army to see how the battle was going. It was customary for the families to provide food for the fighting men to sustain them. David did exactly as was told to do, but when he arrived, he was greeted by his oldest brother Elish. Elish was perhaps jealous over not being chosen to be the next king of Israel (1 Samuel 16:6-7). Regardless, his words were filled with anger and false accusation as he said, "Why comes thou down hither, and with whom hast thou left those few sheep in the wilderness? I know thy pride, and the naughtiness of thine heart, for thou art come down that thou mightest see the battle" (1 Samuel 17:28). David chose to not fight the battle of false accusation or to defend his honor. Rather, he dispelled the argument by simply stating, "What have I now done? Is there not a cause?"

The second battle which David chose to not fight is the battle of negativity. Nobody in the entire army was willing to face Goliath, nor did they want David to face Goliath (1 Samuel 16:30). Eventually, Saul received word of David's intentions and went to speak with David. Rather than encouraging him, Saul told David that defeat was inevitable. "Note what Saul said to David, "Thou art not able to go against this Philistine to fight with him: for thou art but a youth, and he is a man of war from his youth." (1 Samuel 17:33).

In essence, Saul told David, "You cannot fight against him and win. Victory for you is impossible!" Rather than fighting this battle, David simply recounted the victories that God had already granted him. We are often quick to defend our honor. Too many believers spar back and forth on social media as well as other outlets against false accusation. Meanwhile, the cause of Christ is ignored, and His people are no longer advancing His kingdom; they are instead advancing their own agenda. We hear all the time of things that cannot be done. We cannot allow negativity to discourage us. We must instead press on with that which God has called us to do. We cannot allow ourselves to be sidetracked from that which is most important. Would there have been a battle with Goliath if David and a knock-down, drag-out fight with his brothers? What if David had listened to the negativity of Saul? Let’s determine to fight the right battles and refuse to be sidetracked by that which is of lesser importance.

Pastor Dan Quarillo is pastor Morganton Baptist Church. Check us out on our website www.morgantonbaptist.net or find us on Facebook and YouTube.

Sudoku

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>7</th>
<th>6</th>
<th>1</th>
<th>8</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>9</td>
<td>5</td>
<td>3</td>
<td>2</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>4</td>
<td>1</td>
<td>2</td>
<td>6</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>9</td>
<td>2</td>
<td>3</td>
<td>8</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>1</td>
<td>4</td>
<td>5</td>
<td>7</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Solution on page 14

West Burnsville Baptist Church
By Wanda Harding
Ninety Six County

West Burnsville Baptist Church welcomes Pastor Terry Long as their new pastor beginning the end of October. Pastor Long is 31 years old, has fifteen years ministerial experience, and is currently serving at First Baptist Church, Charlotte. He has a Master of Divinity from Southeastern Baptist Theological Seminary and will soon complete a Master of Theology from Southeastern Baptist Theological Seminary.

Pastor Long and his wife, Joyce Tucker Long, have three daughters and a son to arrive baby boy, Mrs. Long, from Hamptonville, NC, is the daughter of a Southern Baptist pastor. She is a kindergarten teacher.

Check out our new Website-
www.brcnews.com
And find us on Facebook
Domestic Violence—
It’s Not Just Physical
By Tracy Black
Mitchell County

It was 10 o’clock when the hotline rang. The voice on the other end was timid and scared. "I think I’m going crazy," she said. I smiled to myself because I’d heard this phrase many times before. "Tell me why you cry that," she told me of many things that were happening in her marriage. The final straw was when she went to her friend’s baby shower and he tested her 34 times an hour. "What’s wrong with me, am I crazy?" No, my dear you’re not crazy, you’re abused!"

October is Domestic Violence Awareness Month, a time we set aside to shine a spotlight on domestic violence and the damaging effects it has on the victims and society as a whole. The problem is, we tend to focus on the physical violence and overlook that which causes more long-term damage that can sometimes last a life time. Emotional abuse is insidious and can make you feel like you are going crazy!

Emotional abuse includes verbal abuse such as yelling, name-calling, blaming, and shaming. Isolation, intimidation, and controlling behavior also fall under emotional abuse. Abusers who use emotional or psychological abuse often throw in threats of physical violence or other repercussions if you don’t do what they want. (Glenn & Sagar)

In the beginning, it is not uncommon for a victim to passively ignore some of the signs and comments put down. They occur sporadically and are often "peppered" with acts of kindness—leaving the victim feeling confused and unsure. Forgive and overlook are common. However, over time the road narrows between the acts of kindness and emotional and verbal abuse begins to narrow. Emotional abuse simply "creeps" away as you try to find, value, and esteem ourselves. Until one day you wake up and have no idea how you got there, taking your self, "how did that happen?"

Let me be clear: you have done nothing wrong. Abusers are just that good. Here are some signs of emotional abuse:

- Putting you down—especially in public is an attempt to shame you.
- Embarrassing you in public.
- Blaming you for their abusive and unhealthy behaviors.
- Threatening to harm you or your family. Often.
- Calling you derogatory names.
- Making you feel bad or guilty when you don’t consent to sexual activity.
- Using guilt-trip tactics.
- Making you feel guilty when you are doing something wrong or your behaviors are wrong. Making you feel like you are going crazy. "Lying about things they said.

- Making you feel like you are always doing something wrong.
- Isolating you from your family and friends.
- Making demands on you when you go out through numerous text and phone calls.
- Sniping you.
- Threatening suicide when you attempt to break up with them.

If you have experienced emotional abuse remember, it didn’t get bad overnight, so you won’t heal from it overnight. As they say, the first step to healing is acknowledgegment and to take that first step today and contact your local domestic violence program. You will find compassion and understanding.

Tracy Black is the Associate Director of Mitchell County SafePlace. She can be reached at 813-765-4011 or tracyblack@lighthouse.net

---

Allee's Offerings

Telephones
By Allen Buchanan
Mitchell County

"Hello? What?" "Can you hear me?" I don’t recall ever starting a conversation with those words when we used a dial telephone in the sixties. When it came to talking on the telephone, none of us had many choices. My first remembrance was of one that hung on the wall, was black with white numbers, and had a clear ring with holes associated with numbers which you rotated one by one to call another person. I was confused one spot while talking until the optional two-foot cord was available. All telephones had a spiral cord that you played with during your time talking.

One of our buzz words today is "social media." I don’t believe it’s that new. wasn’t "party lines" a form of social media? Usually, several people in your neighborhood used the same phone line to make calls. Very often when you picked up the receiver, you’d hear others talking. The polite thing to do was hang up and wait your turn. Sometimes those talking would hear you pick up and ask "who’s there?" Then you could join in. For those really brave souls, some might eavesdrop and listen to the conversation without joining in. Bad idea! If I remembered correctly the early years of social media was better known as "gossip." Mama, I don’t believe anyone refers to social media as gossip. As amazing as the telephone was yesterday, the ones that so many of us rely on today are truly awesome pieces of technology. The "cell phone or smartphone" as we know it offers so much more than simply talking to another person. Just today I heard that Apple has released a new version that uses "facial recognition" to allow you access to your own phone. With this technology, you basically just pick your phone up, look at it, and if it recognizes you, it’s ready to use. No more passwords to key in.

If you buy the latest and greatest smartphone, I strongly urge you to learn what it can do other than making calls. You have basically got a computer small enough to hold in your hand. I use my iPhone to track appointments and contacts, read daily devotions, order medicine refills, banking, music, news, GPS, movies, photography, games, and the list goes on and on.

We all give Alexander Graham Bell the credit for inventing the telephone because he was the first to obtain a patent in 1876. Can you imagine Bell on his telephone telling Tim Cook on his iPhone?

There’s no doubt that the telephone was a great invention and one which we probably never will do without. Yet it lacks one thing, it does not allow us to communicate with God. Only prayer will do that! No App needed. God gave man the knowledge to invent the telephone and He instilled the ability to pray with talk with Him into each of our hearts. When we are born, there is a void within each heart and soul that only Jesus can fill. At the moment, we realize this, and that we are sinners in need of a Savior; we are given the ability to pray.

As Nicole C. Mullen sings, "When I Call on Jesus, all things are possible." Call, pray or talk, that’s all you have to do to speak with Him. That’s awesome!

---

Auto insurance that’s not on autopilot.
ncfbins.com

828-765-9678
Mitchell Co. Farm Bureau
Bakersville, NC
(828)688-3745

Auto - Home - Life - Health - Bank
157 Skyview Circle
Spruce Pine, NC 28777

FARM BUREAU INSURANCE

Auto - Home - Life - Health - Bank

www.BarnesNews.com
October 2017 - Blue Ridge Christian News page 44
Burke United Christian Ministries

By David Burleson
Burke County

Burke United Christian Ministries would like to thank our entire community, especially our sustaining churches and individual donors, for your support over a very busy summer. Because of the assistance of our community and outstanding volunteers, BUCM was able to provide the following over the summer months:

- Back to School Clothes for over 600 Burke County Students
- Provided Clothes for 905 Individuals
- Assisted 136 Families with Baby Supplies
- Assisted 880 Individuals in a Financial Crisis
- Provided Case Management Services for 127 Individuals
- Supplied 7,348 individuals with groceries from the BUCM Food Pantry totaling almost 400,000 lbs of food.
- Provided 467 individuals with showers and over 875 with hygiene products
- Served over 39,578 meals in the soup kitchen

This assistance was provided because of a supportive community, a caring staff and dedicated volunteers who provided over 11,000 hours of service. It definitely takes all of us working together to provide a hand up to those who are hurting.

As we all know, the volunteers are the essential piece to every organization in our community. Year after year, volunteers contribute time and energy to assist at agencies. During the last fiscal year, volunteers at BUCM gave 36,513.06 hours.

People volunteer for many different reasons, such as: helping others, making new friends, fighting boredom, establishing a new direction in life, giving back to the community or being a part of an agency that is making a difference.

The Burke United Christian Ministries would like to invite members of our community to partner with our ministry and serve with us. Here are some volunteer opportunities:

- Food Harvesting – Go to local grocery stores and restaurants to pick up donated food.
- Clothing Closet – New opportunity – Assist clients in our clothing closet as they shop with a clothing voucher. The social workers write up a clothing order that allows the client to shop. Volunteers assist clients and then tally up their selection. No money is exchanged.
- Sorting, Inspecting, and Hanging – Interested in being behind the scenes of the clothing closet or Saved for You Clothing Store? Volunteer to prepare items for the sales floor or clothing closet.
- Warehouse – Unload, sort, and organize perishable and non-perishable food
- Assist in stocking the Food Pantry. Help keep the warehouse, freezers, and refrigerators organized.
- Clerical Support – Assist with production of newsletters, bulk mailings, flyers, and more.
- Willing to do whatever or being on-call – Is your volunteer time flexible? Are you interested in just being called on in a time of need? Volunteers to be called on when the donations are plenty or support is needed in the food pantry, clothing closet, dining room, front office, or anywhere in the ministry. We are especially in need of a kitchen team for times when something comes up for the scheduled team or in times of bad weather.

Wanting to volunteer, but not sure where. Submit an application and let’s talk about how you can make a difference with BUCM. BUCM asks volunteers to commit to a schedule, if possible. It could be weekly, bi-weekly, once a month. This gives us the opportunity to plan and prepare for volunteers. For on-call volunteers, commitment is not required. Without volunteers, we would be unable to operate, so we are willing to work with you to fit your schedule.

Along with volunteers, sustaining churches and individual donors, there have been many other groups and organizations that have supported the ministry of BUCM. These groups and organizations have sponsored special food drives:

- The East Burke and Freedom High School Communities during the Sidekine
- Hunger Food Drive
- Headlines of Morganton
- Four Corners of Morganton Municipal Church
- Lakeview United Methodist Church
- The Bended Knee Cowboy Church
- Raintree Wesleyan Church
- South Side Baptist Church
- Pleasant Ridge Baptist Church
- Archer Western Contractors
- The Valdese Rotary Club
- The Burke County Retired Teachers

The next food drive to support the Burke United will be held at the Benton V's Draught Football Game on September 29. If you are attending the game, be sure to bring non-perishable food to donate at the gate.

BUCM is also blessed to have many of our community grocery stores and restaurants support us with donated food. Our ministry could not meet the needs of our clients without the following:

- The Food Lion Stores of Burke County
- Walmart Supercenter and the Neighborhood Walmart
- Bilo
- Food Matters
- Pizza Hut of Morganton and Valdese
- Moonlit Pizza
- Pie Hole Pizza
- Delish
- Timberwoods
- Abele’s

BUCM would also like to thank those who supply gently used clothes in place to the Saved for You Clothing Store and Clothing Closet. Every item sold in our clothing store goes back into our ministry. A big thank you also goes out to the Burke Organization Youth Philanthropists through the Community Foundation for donating grant funds to supply shoes for students.

As we have stated many times, our ministry is stronger because of your support and participation. Remember that our ministry is here to assist those in Burke County who need a hand up. Feel free to give us a call at (828) 332-3075 or visit www.bucm.net.

David Burleson is Director of Burke United Christian Ministries

---

Historic Valdese
Visitvaldese.com 888-VALDESE

Upcoming Events in Valdese

Bluegrass at the Rock Season Tickets Available NOW!
$75 per person - $17 savings on the season
Includes: The Gibson Brothers, The Clonely's
The True Grass Band with Sideline, Volume Five, and Nu Blu!

Now Looking for CRAFT VENDORS!
Celebrate Christmas in November at the Old Rock School, Saturday November 11th from 9am-4pm

Valdese Annual Treats in the Streets
Trick or Treat the Merchants Downtown from 4-6pm
With Costume Contest & cash prizes immediately following presented by the Valdese Merchants Association.
New this year Monster Bash at 5pm & Haunted House!
For more information please go to visitvaldese.com
Simmons named Principal of the Year—Childers named Assistant Principal of the Year

By Cheryl Shuffler
Burke County

When people ask Freedom High School Principal Felicia Simmons how many kids she has, she takes the enrollment number at her school and adds three to it. Simmons’ motto is “family first” and to her family includes her husband Monte, children Karlie and Michael, plus her students, faculty and staff. This mother of 1,120 was named Burke County Public Schools Principal of the Year last Thursday night before the start of her new school family’s home football game against East Burke High School.

“I am humbled that my peers would vote me principal of the year,” Simmons said. “All of my colleagues deserve to be principal of the year. All of us work hard and put in great and hard work and put in hard work and put in hard work and put in hard work and put in hard work. So, I share this with all of my principal colleagues.”

Burke County Public Schools Superintendent Dr. Larry Punnman surprised Simmons with the honor on the football field last Thursday night. “I was in shock,” Simmons said of her immediate reaction.

Punnman also surprised Jim Childers as Assistant Principal of the Year at the game. Childers is the athletic director, assistant principal, and assistant football coach at East Burke High School.

The principals and assistant principals of Burke County Public Schools voted Simmons and Childers for the honors. Punnman said of both, “I see in Mrs. Simmons and Mr. Childers what our colleagues do and that is their dedication and passion for education and they are working very hard all day and all through the night to make sure that our students are successful.”

Simmons said she feels the honor means a lot to her. “It is a great honor to be named principal of the year,” Simmons said.

Some of those quotes include:

“When you write your story of your life, you must let anyone else hold the pen.” (Harley Davidson ad)

“It takes a village to raise a child.” (African proverb)

“Anyone who includes others in their lives.” (Stewart Parvin)

Simmons said she lives by these philosophies. She said, “I love being around the kids. They keep me young. I love seeing them become leaders.”

Simmons’ path to leadership went through West Caldwell High School and Winston-Salem State University. It was at Winston-Salem that she met her husband, Monte. Monte, the head football coach and a PE teacher at West Caldwell High School, played football for the Winston-Salem State University, and Simmons was on the band flag and dance squad.

Simmons has a bachelor’s degree in early childhood education and started her teaching career as a seventh-grade language arts teacher at Granville Middle School. She received her master’s degree from Gardner-Webb University. She was assistant principal at Hiram and principal at West Lenoir School of Technology before coming to Burke County Public Schools in 2012. She has been principal at Walter Johnson and Table Rock middle schools and was named principal at Freedom this summer.

She thanked the faculty and staff at her previous school, Table Rock, and her new school, Freedom. “They are wonderful and have been so supportive, and they get credit for this honor of principal of the year, too.”

Being named assistant principal of the year, Childers said, “I was really caught off guard in receiving this award. There are so many more deserving people in this school system for this award. I will say that I truly blessed to work with the people I do. The entire staff at East Burke makes my job easy.”

Like Simmons, Childers, too, has roots in Caldwell County. He graduated from Hibriten High School and attended Catawba College. He played football, basketball, and baseball in high school and football in college. He has bachelor’s degrees in special education and physical education and has a master’s degree in administration from Gardner-Webb University. Childers spent 10 years teaching special education for the Caldwell School System. In 2001, he came to Burke County Public Schools serving as principal at East Burke Middle School and assistant principal at East Burke High School. He coached football at Hiram and Catawba College and spent the last 10 years coaching football at East Burke High.

Childers and his wife, Jill, have three sons, Brett, Chase, and Matt. Brett and Chase are sophomores at East Burke High School, and Matt is a science teacher at East Burke Middle School.

Supper is now served at Forest Hill

Forest Hill Elementary School’s cafeteria will soon ring the bell for three meals a day. Burke County Public Schools and Chartwells has moved in East Wall after the Bell supper program to Forest Hill Elementary at 304 Am St. Moremen, adding a late afternoon/early evening meal to breakfast and lunch programs. The supper program is open to anyone in the community and is free to all children ages 3 to 18. The supper price is $3 for adults. The hot meal is served from 3 to 6 p.m. each week on school days starting Thursday, Sept. 21. The program also includes a homework club and nutrition activities from 3 to 4:30 p.m. each day.

East Wall After the Bell menu items include barbecue chicken, baked spaghetti and a pancake breakfast for supper, just to name a few. The program is funded by WUSA through the USDA, and averaged 80 meals served at its previous location.

Burke County Public Schools Superintendent Dr. Larry Punnman said, “We are pleased to offer this additional meal to students and their families. We have a new afterschool program at Forest Hill and are excited that the community has access to a good, healthy, hot supper. Parents don’t have to worry about cooking, and they can feed their children for free. It really is a relief on their pocketbooks and our time. We are grateful for our partnership with Chartwells to be able to take advantage of this opportunity through the USDA. Chartwells does a fantastic job of providing a healthy meal to our students daily.”

Visit www.k12.nc.us to view the monthly supper menu.

Cheryl Shuffler is the Public Relations Officer for the Burke County Public School System.

A Caring Partner at Home

When Florence was unable to live independently, her daughter Mary became the round-the-clock caregiver. When her medical needs became too much for one person to handle, the compassionate team at CarePartners Hospice insured that both Florence and Mary’s physical, spiritual and social needs were being met.
Explore new pathways

Be part of an elite group that thrives in a university setting and appreciates the healing atmosphere of a mountain community.

Private Bath & Kitchenette
Phone/Cable Included
Physician Scheduling with Transportation
No Entrance Fees

LOCATED ADJACENT TO MARS HILL UNIVERSITY
170 South Main Street, Mars Hill, NC 28754

Assisted Living at Its Best
Ask about Our Levels of Care

Mars Hill
RETIREMENT COMMUNITY

www.marshallretire.com
Call today to schedule a visit!
(828) 689-7970