We Have A Drug Problem. We Are Doing Something About It!

According to the Centers for Disease Control, North Carolina has risen to second in the nation for the highest increase in opioid-related deaths. Recent federal statistics show a 214% increase in opioid-related deaths from 2016 to 2017. The opioid crisis truly is as serious and as dangerous in our local community as we are led to believe. This problem is destroying families, harming our economy, costing millions in public funds, and literally killing people on a daily basis. This is a national issue, not just a local issue; however, if local folks do not take care of the issue at home it will continue to grow like an ugly cancer.

But: The good news! We can do something about it and people in our area are.

The Mitchell-Yancey Substance Abuse Task Force has been serving our community since 2009. The Task Force was established by a group of doctors and healthcare providers concerned about prescription drug abuse in our area. It is made up of key community leaders from across twelve community sectors, from doctors and faith leaders to education and law enforcement. Since its inception, the Task Force has grown to address all substance use abuse issues affecting our community through a multitude of partnerships and programs.

This past school year, the Task Force began Appalachian Youth to Youth – an after-school initiative that builds peer knowledge and skills to not only live substance-free lives but to also influence the lives of others in the community to do the same. Another recent initiative begun through the Task Force is Home Remedies: Community Options Addressing Pain and Stress, where community members can attend weekly sessions at the Maney-Phillips Center in Spruce Pine to learn about and take part in free complimentary/alternative medicine sessions focusing on pain relief and stress management such as Mindfulness, Chiropractic, Yoga, and Acupuncture.

The Task Force has also recently begun a new initiative called the Opioid Prevention Ecumenical Network (OPEN) made up of local faith community leaders and medical providers. Through this initiative, faith leaders are learning more about the medical methods of treating addiction and the medical community is learning more about the faith-based approaches to addiction treatment. These conversations are vital as those who are struggling with addiction need support physically, emotionally and spiritually to overcome the powerful grasp of addiction.

While we can point to successful programs in our counties, there is much work yet to be done.

Dr. Michael Newberry, MD and practicing Psychiatrist, knows especially for his research and work in the area of addictions, spoke to the Mitchell-Yancey Substance Abuse Task Force this summer. His research supports other medical findings that addiction is a disease, with significant medical and neurological implications, and is not a choice that a person makes or can control after the first experience with a substance - whether it is tobacco, alcohol, or other drugs.

Dr. Newberry points out that treating a person with an addiction initially requires detoxification. There are medications and devices which help suppress withdrawal symptoms during detoxification, but this is only the first step in treatment. The majority of patients who do not take part in other treatments and/or services following detoxification resume their drug use.

After detox, a person must find an avenue of treatment – whether through counseling, medication, community support, or a combination of all of these to achieve recovery. Research shows that community is one of the most important keys to beating addiction, and this is a vital role that the church plays. Mitchell County is blessed to have faith-based resources like Celebrate Recovery at Bear Creek Baptist and Hope 4 Mitchell County through First Baptist Spruce Pine. Currently, the United Methodist Church in Brevard provides support groups for both alcohol and drug addiction and are in the planning stages for a Celebrate Recovery program. These community initiatives offer genuine love and compassion, brothers and sisters who will walk beside people on their journey to recovery, and a pathway to spiritual renewal and healing.

And while all churches do not have the resources to put on such structured programming, all churches can love these individuals and families struggling with addiction; all churches can walk alongside without judgement, all churches can open the doors for spiritual healing.

An important thought to keep in mind for all churches was raised recently by Amy Earhart who is coordinating the Mountain Community Health Partnership (MCHP) grant to advance the goals of the NC Opioid Action Plan funded by the Governor. "As part of recovery, patients are constantly expressing a strong desire to have a church home; however, their fear of rejection and personal shame often prevents these connections from taking place. When patients are trying to change or maintain lasting shifts towards restoration of health and address recovery management needs, they often envision church attendance as a way to strengthen their lives and the families. I would like to learn about churches, who might welcome new members and their families striving for change. I would like to help make those connections and would like to know about the churches, who have open and accepting congregations, and consider themselves able to welcome our community.

No Regrets - Nothing Short Of Miraculous
By Pastor Dean Honeycutt
Mitchell County

Psalm 105:1 (KJV 1900)
1 O give thanks unto the LORD, call upon his name.

Psalm 105:1 (KJV 1900)
1 Praise ye the LORD.
O give thanks unto the LORD; for he is good:
For his mercy endureth forever.
Psalm 116:1 (KJV 1900)
1 At midnight I will rise to give thanks unto thee
Because of thy righteous judgments.
Psalm 135:2 (KJV 1900)
3 O give thanks unto the God of gods:
For his mercy endureth forever.
Psalm 135:26 (KJV 1900)
26 O give thanks unto the God of heavens:
For his mercy endureth forever.

I want to thank the Lord for His goodness to my family. God is always good and right. At all times God is acting in a way that benefits His children. Even when God is acting in judgement, He is still acting in love and benefit to all who belong to Him. Romans 8:28 (KJV 1900) “And we know that all things work together for good to them that love God, to them who are the called according to his purpose.”

The last 6 months has been a test of faith as our family had to trust God to provide and see us through some difficult times. I will not go into a lot of detail about our challenges because I am sure you have had your share of hard times as well. God is amazing as it humbles me to think of all the problems and concerns in the world that my God would look down on His glory and consider us. Like the Psalmist said, “what is man, that you are mindful of him?” (Psalm 8:4) But God is good and faithful, even when we suffer God is good. God however does not like to see us suffer or even go through difficult times. James 1:2–4 (KJV 1900)
2 My brethren, count it all joy when ye fall into divers temptations; 3 Knowing this, that the trying of your faith worketh patience. 4 But let patience have perfect work; that ye may be perfect and entire, wanting nothing.

1 Peter 1:7 (KJV 1900)
7 That the trial of your faith, being much more precious than of gold that perisheth, though it be tried with fire, might be found unto praise and honour and glory at the appearing of Jesus Christ:

As we go through difficult times we must have patience as God completes that perfect work in our life for His glory. That God would even consider using this in our lives is a miracle of love and grace. I must trust Him when I do not see the way.

So, God in providence provided and accomplished some amazing things in our life that I praise Him for and wanted to share with you. God has acted in this way before many times, but the events of the last six months have been nothing short of miraculous. When you have no means of providing like the widow woman of Zarephath with only a handful of meal and a little oil, and God provides a way that “the barrel of meal shall not waste, and the curse of oil not fail”, you must look up and give God all the glory. I want you to notice the widow woman had to be something, she had to feed Elijah first, and she had to continue to prepare food. Ruth the resources to fix a meal would be there. (1 Kings 17). James said, “faith, if it has not works, is dead, being alone.” (2:17) God did not drop the resources out of the sky for us; however, God worked in the lives of others to provide a way for us that was amazing. God has been so good to Paul and I and I wanted to praise Him and thank Him for His goodness and faithfulness and share it with you.

Thankfulness and gratitude take our focus of our self and our circumstances and place them on God and His goodness.

God is faithful. God bless you as you live a life of “no regrets”.

Bear Creek Baptist Church

Mitchell County State of the Child Conference
By Bruce Cannon
Mitchell County

Please note that on Saturday morning, October 17th, the first Annual Mitchell County State Of The Child Conference will be held. The location will be Bear Creek Baptist Church, 127 Bear Creek Church Road, Rahereville. The event will begin at 9:30am with light refreshments. The actual Conference will begin at 9:40am and will conclude with a lunch at Noon for all attendees.

The purpose of the Conference is to provide very important information about what children and youth in Mitchell County are being exposed to and having to deal with on a regular basis. Agencies such as the Health Department, Social Services, Board of Education, Sheriff’s Department along with many others will conduct breakout sessions. A few of the topics which will be discussed include:

- How to spot drug use and what to do if drugs are being used.
- Health Issues and Concerns – what to be aware of and how to protect our children.
- Criminal Activities – what to be aware of and how to avoid them.
- Education Needs – how to help students obtain the best education possible.
- During the last thirty minutes of the Conference attendees will be able to visit booths which will provide materials for further information.

Those needing to attend this Conference include parents, church youth and children’s leaders, educators, daycare workers and those interested in being a part of the solution in helping protect and care for our greatest resource: youth and children.

For more information please feel free to call 828-600-4331.

Rev. Bruce Cannon currently serves as the Senior Pastor of Bear Creek Baptist Church in Rahereville. Formerly he served as Director of Missions for the Bladen Baptist Association and has served on the General Board of the Baptist State Convention of North Carolina.

This is Why Life Is Worth Living

By Jessica Williams
Mitchell Country

Living in the drug life is so hard. I know what it’s like to feel so alone, scared, afraid, useless, helpless, angry and unwanted. Just wanting to run and hide from all you’re feeling and thinking. Oh if I make just a little more or shoot a little more it will all go away, but it just stays. All that you are trying to run from just becomes your demon. At first you can just pretend the demon isn’t there, but then he starts to slowly show his face. It doesn’t bother you too much at first. You try to blow him off, but then the drug (demon) starts to take over. You feel like there’s no way out, you keep doing more and more drugs until this demon has taken everything you have, your kids, your family, your car, your happiness, your joy, your self-respect and your hope. After your demons have this it’s time for the demons to continue to take even more until you have turned into someone you swore you would never become. You now feel like a demon yourself, so now that you are no longer a part of your family, you have a new family. This new family takes from those who really love you and you hurt them, yet you believe their are the ones that hurt you and don’t care for you anymore. So, you just start to become anger, have more self-pity, hatred toward everyone. Then you become your own demon, because now your demon is fighting with you and all your other demons. Everywhere you go you never feel safe, you’re always thinking that there is someone out to get you and now the only thing you want is to be loved. You think it’s too late or you ask yourself, “Do I even know how to love and if I try to fix things will it even matter?” Everywhere you go everyone is always looking down on me and you feel LOST like there’s no way out, like you can never be a better version of me, like you can never be that loving, caring mom you once were, the daughter that once would do anything for her family, the daughter that loved her family. The one who loved her church family and loved being around them. So, you sit and cry and you keep being parceled with your new demon family only to make things worse. Now you’re at the point where living doesn’t matter. So, what if I just go and die.”

The one who loved her church family and loved being around them. So, you sit and cry and you keep being parceled with your new demon family only to make things worse. Now you’re at the point where living doesn’t matter. So, what if I just go and die.”

You are praying to the one who Created you in his image, who has great plans for your life and me;Our God and Saviour, who loves you.
Yes You!
You are loved, Romans 5:8
You are chosen, 1 Peter 2:9
You redeemed, Ephesians 1:7
You are healed, 1 Peter 2:24
You have a purpose and amazing destiny, Jeremiah 29:11
And if you don’t know my God and you’re not saved well.
YOU CAN BE SAVED, Romans 10:9

Provision of God
By Jody Griffin
Avery and Mitchell Counties

To everything there is a season, and a time to every purpose under the heaven... (Ecclesiastes 3:1, KJV)

Last month as I shared about the miraculous Provision of God that made possible the One Day With God Camp here at AMCI, I implied there would be more said about the events of the Camp itself. While really there are too many experiences to count, the fact remains that the lives of everyone who prayed, who gave, who served and especially who participated were so very blessed by the experience! And it remains true that God was faithful indeed.

A few days after our Camp, one of the fathers who had been selected to experience this with his children came into my office. He asked me what his opinion was of the opportunity he had been given by God and by so many generous volunteers and growers who had sacrificed to make this day possible. His reply struck me as something every person should consider.

He said, “Chaplain, honestly...it was probably the best day of my life.” Perhaps he saw my response before it ever came. “So, did you love it?” He asked me, the last time I saw my children was almost two years ago, as I was being handcuffed and taken away in a police car. I’ll never forget the pain on their faces as I looked at them crying. What this day did for me and for my kids it was given as a chance to replace that terrible memory with a day full of wonderful memories. I’ll be going home in a few years, and now they know that I’m not the same man as the one that left them that day. Now they know that their Daddy loves them and they know that we all have a Heavenly Father who loves us and never leaves us.”

Later that week, I saw another one of the participant fathers who had been granted the privilege to participate with his son. This father had signed up and screened through to have this special day last year, only to have circumstances beyond his control prevent his son’s attendance. Oh what a day this father and son spent together this year! Words just cannot express adequately the blessings of forgiveness that were shared father to son AND son to father. This dad said, “I think missing out on the chance last year just helped me to appreciate the gift of this day THAT MUCH MORE! Last year, it probably would not have had as big of an impact on either one of us.”

We spoke of the truth of these words of wisdom from the Scriptures, how God’s timing is perfect and can be trusted and he said, “I think now before that, I certainly didn’t know it!”

Here are a few facts regarding the Camp that you helped make possible: 50 fathers and 6 children indicated that they had received Jesus as their Savior at some point during the event:

1. Two of the children’s caregivers who enjoyed a day of care and blessing through Forgiveness Ministry volunteers indicated that they had also been saved by grace in Jesus Christ during this time!

2. 66 Volunteers served at the institution with the men and their children, or at the Church where the children’s caregivers were being invited to experience some of the same blessings as those being experienced at the prison.

3. Churches provided vans to be used in transporting the children from the “gathering place” to the institution.

4. Other churches were represented through the volunteers who served by caring!

As you can see, God used Forgiveness Ministry to bring life-changing gifts to some incarcerated fathers and their children.

And God Bless You for praying and for supporting the ministry of High Country Prison Ministry, the wonderful organization that makes it possible for me to serve as Chaplain at Avery-Mitchell Correctional Institution! By God’s grace, the work continues!

Jody Griffin is pastor of Central Baptist Church in Spruce Pine and Community Fund chaplain at Avery-Mitchell Correctional Institution.

The Rest of the Story: Control v. Privatization
By Rev. Mark Crouch

One of America’s favorite radio and television commentators, the late Paul Harvey, once told the story of a city that burned down, October 8, 1871.

The city from “the late winter time, all through that long, torrid summer” had been “virtually bone dry.”

As Harvey put it, the city was unprepared. A heat wave upset the earth seemed to melt like butter. Beneath the towering crimson, pale yellow and white, men ran like ants for the river, “said Harvey.”

Harvey insisted that most people had never heard about the fire he was talking about. However, when it was revealed the starting story behind the story, saying: “For while fifteen hundred lost their lives in Petaluma, publicity favored another fire that very same night, in which three hundred died. The other fire, in a city to the south, you know a great deal about. The Great Chicago Fire. And now you know the rest of the story.”

The Great Petaluma Fire demonstrates how the way some events covered by the media can eclipse something similar taking place at the same time, which is bigger, but hardly mentioned.

One poignant example is North Carolina’s current opioid crisis. No one can deny the situation is critical. The Center for Disease Control reports that 2,332 deaths resulted from opioid overdoses in 2017. The economic cost to the state is estimated to be over $1.3 billion in 2015.

Still, as bad as this is, the opioid crisis pales in comparison to the statistics concerning alcohol abuse and its related harms. Alcohol abuse is the state’s third leading cause of preventable death. According to the North Carolina Department of Health and Human Services, there were 3,143 deaths due to alcohol in 2014. The economic cost to the state for alcohol abuse was approximately $77 billion in 2010.

This is not to minimize the tragedy of opioid overdoses. Compitively speaking, the opioid crisis is a fire in itself burning out of control. One might say it’s the Chicago Fire. The Petaluma Fire, however, the much larger one, represents the state’s problems with alcohol.

The media in North Carolina has extensively covered the opioid epidemic, calling on state officials to help end the suffering. However, when the state’s auditor made allegations of mismanagement by the Alcoholic Beverage Control agency, the state quickly turned its attention immediately on that news to make a pitch for privatization, and, thereby marginalized millions of innocuous proportions related to excessive drinking. Paramount in their thinking was lesser issues of purported government inefficiencies, free markets, cheaper liquor, and more accessibility to strong beer – not the well-being of their fellow citizens.

Those media outlets lifted-up Rep. Chuck McCrady (R-Henderson) to hero status. They lashed him for his promise to introduce legislation that would support “some reform to the current quagmire approach to alcohol sales.” I’ve carefully considered these arguments before; they’re smoke and mirrors. Sadly, if proponents are confronted with the incontrovertible scientific data that demonstrates a privatized system exacerbates alcohol-related harm as compared to North Carolina’s current system, they seemingly respond with the same indifference as Cain, who asked concerning his brother, “Am I my brother’s keeper?” (Gen. 4:9).

Admittedly, alcohol-related harm has changed over the years. Something that hasn’t changed, except to worse, are alcohol-related problems. What hasn’t changed is the need for a system that can effectively balance the public’s desire to have access to liquor, while also driving down dangerous consumption rates. Government-owned has definitely has an anesthetic and responsibility in that area.

When a full and robust debate ensues on the question of which is better, a privatized system of alcohol sales or the state’s current control system, I am confident North Carolinians will see that our state’s ABC is superior in every way.

And that will be the rest of the story.

Neither say they in their heart, Let us now fear the LORD our God, that which groweth up, both the former and the latter, in his season: he reserveth unto us the appointed weeks of the harvest. Jeremiah 5:24
By Doug Harrell

As I write this I just happen to be celebrating my 75th birthday and it is a little sobering to say the least. None of us know the number of days that we will live or what our struggles will be along the road of life, we do not have a crystal ball that shows the future and we are probably lucky that we do not. Having faith and patience along the way is critical if we are to face the day with grace and peace in our hearts, as the years pass I understand that more and more. We really live in a world of instant gratification today, to snap and click and it is done. God does not work like this and his timetable is often much different from ours. Learning to wait upon his timetable is one of the hardest lessons we learn, if we ever truly learn it, in life. “But they that wait upon the Lord shall renew their strength; they shall mount up with wings as eagles; they shall run, and not be weary; and they shall walk, and not faint.” Isaiah 40:31 KJV

Learning to wait takes a degree of faith and patience that many of us, myself definitely included, find lacking at times. I have found through the trials and struggles of life that delving into the Word is the only true way to develop the faith we need. “So faith cometh by hearing, and hearing by the word of God.” Romans 10:17 KJV It takes a commitment on our part to spend time each day to have some message time between ourselves and God. Quiet time that is not interrupted with all the pressures of the world around us. Can assure you that if you are fortunate to live long enough, you will have challenges, maybe mental, maybe physical or maybe both, we don’t know but they will come. Being able to face the day with certainty only comes with the true understanding that we are children of the King and that we are His handiwork. Without this fact, there is nothing but a dead end that ends in a dust heap. “New faith is the substance of things hoped for, the evidence of things not seen.” Hebrews 11:1 KJV

Learning to face daily challenges with joy in our hearts is key to a happy and fulfilled life. So many people lose that joy to the circumstances that come their way and I don’t want to sound glib about it, but we pretty much make the decision about our attitude ourselves. We can choose to accentuate the negative or the positive, there will always be an ample supply of each to go around. We need to always remember the little song, “wist the negative, accentuate the positive and don’t mess with mister u-between”. We cannot control the cards that we are dealt in life, but we can control how we play the deck and this needs to always be on our minds. I have found that when I start having a pity party, if I take the time to just look around, I have a world full of things to be thankful for and I would suggest that that would be true for most of us. “Know ye that the Lord he is God: it is he that hath made us, and not we ourselves; we are his people, and the sheep of his pasture.” Enter into his gates with thanksgiving, and into his courts with praise: be thankful unto him, and bless his name.” Psalms 100:3-4 KJV

In life, a large percentage of our happiness will depend on our attitude, work on controlling what you can, accept what you can’t and give thanks to the Lord daily for the many blessings that come your way each and every day.

Marlene’s Meditations

What Does a Cabasa and Hebrews 11:32-33 Have in Common?

By Marlene Hout

Syracuse: 11:32-33 And what shall I more say, for the time would fail me to tell of Gideon, and of Barak, and of Samson, and of Jephthah, and of David also, and Samuel, and of the prophets: Who through faith subdued kingdoms, wrought righteousness, obtained promises, stopped the mouths of lions.

Has your attention ever been completely caught by something? My mouth drops open, hanging in mid-air. My body freezes, not moving a muscle. And my brain brings thoughts to a later point.

That happened to me recently with this discovery. I had known the person for 31 years who showed this to me, and it was my daughter. But she never mentioned it. Do you know the definition of a cabasa and can you recognize it? It is the ancient section of a North African city, a winter melon, or a musical instrument?

This little story reminds me of the Bible’s ability to capture our complete attention with its rich and colorful content. Our familiarity with the story blinds us to the fact that we sometimes are unaware of its depth and intricate nature.

For years I thought I knew Psalm 23, the happy place for Christians, the retreat for weary soldiers in God’s army, and the promise of eternal life. But when my husband’s sermon spoke of a journey, it dawned on me that this is a new way to focus on perhaps the most famous Psalm of all. He described the ruts in a journey, the different kinds of travels, and the types of scenery along the way. Mesmerized, I drank it all in, realizing that my earthly life was, indeed, a planned-by-God adventure filled with lavish spiritual gifts and vibrant experiences of faith.

The Bible is filled to the brim with astonishing insights into human nature. The Word flows through the pages, intricately weaving the 66 books into one magnificent, glorious tapestry that reveals Jesus, a loving Savior. And the ancient pages spring to life as we daily walk with the Lord.

As we discover its messages, the Bible becomes a powerful tool, able to crush our enemy much better than we could ever hope. And yet, sometimes we reach down into the darkness and nearly rescue us from the pit of despair and hopelessness. Even better, the shining brightness to which it lifts us reveals the Son shining bright above our storms. But, more than that, when we read, study, and meditate on the unknown tucked within the 88,280 words, the Lord honors His Word, and we are enriched, made wiser, and prepared for life.

Read the Bible constantly. Compare Scripture with Scripture. Look through many lenses until you find your own nuggets of golden truth. Study your career in the chapters. Read about people with the same personality, gifts, and skills as yourself. Search verses for patterns and the relationships between people. Plumb the extent of unique and unusual stories that are filled with majesty and wisdom.

You will never be the same.

Like learning about the cabasa did for me, let the Bible bring you to a sharp focus of concentrated study. Marvel at the Author and His boundless desire to share Himself in a deep and satisfying relationship with you. Allow the wonder of His love to wrap you in soft velvety blankets of peace and anticipate His challenges to bring brick courage to your later life.

What is a cabasa? Here’s the answer:

- Cabasa: a winter melon of a variety with a wrinkled yellow rind and sweet flesh
- Cabash: the area surrounding a North African city, typically in the old part of a city
- Cabasa: a modern-day Latin percussion musical instrument invented in the 1500s. The ones today look like a metal serrated cylinder surrounded by metal beads on a necklace. It has a handle and the player shakes it, rubs the metal beads against the serrated part with the hand and uses combinations of these movements to create an unusual rhythm. To hear how it sounds, go to www.marlenehout.com

Be totally immersed in the Bible as I was with the cabasa. His Word can satisfy your soul and abort your attention for life!

Many members with substance use disorders and those in recovery.

Addiction must be treated as a chronic disease which is defined by Dr. Newberry as one “which cannot be prevented by vaccines or cured by medication, nor do they just disappear.” (Whose quote is this?) It’s up to us to come together as a community to truly address substance use disorder. Together, we can prevent substance use/abuse and we can help those struggling with addiction move to a better tomorrow.

Toe River Arts

Sam Maren

By Kate Groff
Yancey County

Toe River Arts instructor and musician, Sam Maren held two concerts this past week to introduce 7th and 8th grade students at both East Yancey and Case River middle schools to Traditional Arts Program for Students (TAPS) classes. For almost a decade, TAPS has been offered in the middle schools in both counties. Participants learn about the region’s musical heritage while learning how to play the guitar. Classes are free as are the loaned instruments that kids take home during the school year to practice.

And as part of the program, the instructors and some students will take the stage at the 33rd Annual Music in the Mountains Folk Festival on September 22 in the Town Center. For more information about TAPS, the Music Festival, or Toe River Arts, please call 828-682-7215 or visit the website, toeartists.org.
What Franklin Graham Wants
Followers of Islam to Know
By Franklin Graham

At the core of the Islamic State doctrine is the belief that their adherents are waging warfare against unbelievers—infidels—in order to usher in an apocalyptic end-time battle in which Islam will finally and ultimately triumph.

Many Muslims believe that the Syrian town of Dabiq—near Aleppo—is the location predicted by the prophet Muhammad for this confrontation. In the ISIS journal Dabiq, the dark, evil mind of the terrorists is clearly stated: “As the world progresses toward the Saint-Michael wars (the Great Battle), the option to stand on the sidelines as a mere observer is being lost.”

Of course, the Bible speaks of a great conflict at the end of the age that will be waged at a place called Armageddon. The location is often interpreted as the mountains of Megiddo, located on the north side of the plain of Jezreel and frequently identified in the Old Testament as a military stronghold.

Described by the Apostle John as the “battle on the great day of God the Almighty” (Revelation 16:14), it will be the Lord Jesus Christ who returns in glory to vanquish every foe: Satan, his demonic legions, and all who are allied with the prince of darkness and have refused to bow their knees to the Savior. Here’s the true, biblical apocalyptic vision:

“I saw Heaven standing open and there before me was a white horse, whose rider is called Faithful and True. With justice, he judges and wages war. His eyes are like blazing fire, and on his head are many crowns. He has a name written on him that no one knows but himself. He is dressed in a robe dipped in blood, and his name is the Word of God. … He treads the winepress of the fury of the wrath of God Almighty. On his robe and on his thigh he has this name written: King of Kings and Lord of Lords” (Revelation 19:11–16).

The demented, false theology of Islam motivates and compels radical Islamic terrorists to murder, rape, pillage, plunder, and wreak havoc and destruction in the name of their god.

Led on by the destroyer—the devil himself—they blindly march on in their fatal journey to ultimate doom and destruction in the lake of fire where, along with the devil and all who reject Christ, they will be eternally punished for their unbelief and rebellion.

This is why I want the followers of Islam to know there is a God who loves them, cares for them, and sent His Son to die for them on the cross for the forgiveness of their sins. They don’t have to die in a holy war or jihad to please God. They don’t have to strap bombs to their chests to enter into Heaven. All they need to do is repent of their sins and place their faith in the risen Christ, and they can receive the gift of everlasting life.

The Apostle Paul was a man bent on the destruction of the church, eager to persecute believers wherever they lived. He even participated in the death of the first two who became Christians, Stephen. But God overflowed his heart with love, saved him, and he became the foremost apostle for the sake of the Gospel.

Writing to his young protégé years later, Paul vividly described that experience: “Even though I was once a blasphemer and a persecutor and a violent man, I was shown mercy because I acted in ignorance and unbelief” (1 Timothy 1:13). He even called himself the worst of sinners (1 Timothy 1:16).

The only cure for corrupt ideologies and false religions is a personal encounter with the living God, who “wants all people to be saved and to come to a knowledge of the truth” (1 Timothy 2:4). Only God can transform a murderous terrorist into a servant who is willing to die for the sake of His Name.

In the end, the one universal grievance that must be addressed by every person of every age is our own sin and rebellion against God. The only solution is a transformed heart.

Reverend Franklin Graham is President and CEO of the Billy Graham Evangelistic Association and Samaritan’s Purse, an international Christian relief organization.

There hath no temptation taken you but such as is common to man: but God is faithful, who will not suffer you to be tempted above that ye are able; but will with the temptation also make a way to escape, that ye may be able to bear it.

Baseball Hats and Wisdom

By Tracy Jessup

“At night the Lord appeared to Solomon in a dream and said, ‘Ask what I should give you.’ And Solomon said, ‘You have shown great kindness to your servant, my father David, by placing you on the throne of Israel. Now, O LORD my God, you have made me king over a people as great as any on earth. Give me wisdom and knowledge so that I may govern your people effectively and bring justice to those who are oppressed. Otherwise, who could govern this great people of yours?’”

--- 1 Kings 3:5-9

In April of 2015, I ran in a one-mile run/walk event on campus honoring the memory of Mike Roebuck, long-time assistant athletic director for academic services at Gardner-Webb University. It was a sunny day and I had neglected to bring a hat from home. Since I am in an ongoing combat with actinic keratosis (AK) caused by damage from exposure to UV rays, I knew it was in my best interest to find a baseball hat.

Those who know me well know that I am very frugal (some might say cheap, but I prefer frugal). I have plenty of hats at home, and I was not about to go the GWU campus shop and purchase another hat. So, I called my dear friend and colleague, Rusty Stoupe. I figured if anyone could get me a baseball hat, it would be the head coach of the GWU baseball team.

Rusty told me that he was sure he could find something that would work. As I walked into his office, he apologized for not having a new hat, but kindly offered one of his old hats and said that I could keep it. I was thrilled! Not only would my head be protected, but I also got a free hat!

As I looked at the hat before placing it on my head, I noticed that on the underside of the bill Rusty had written his uniform number (?) and the biblical reference, 1 Kings 2:9. I asked Rusty about it, and he told me that it was his prayer as a husband, father, and coach. Rusty realized that in his own strength and wisdom, he was incapable of providing the leadership needed for his family, assistant coaches, and student-athletes. Only God could provide the understanding and discernment to lead the people entrusted to his care. Solomon is presented in 1 Kings 3 as someone who prefers relationships over things. The first relationship mentioned is with the Lord. “Solomon loved the Lord, walking in the statutes of his father David” (v. 3, 6). A second relationship important to Solomon was the people over whom he ruled as king. Both relationships seem to promote the request Solomon makes of God.

Relationships make Gardner-Webb University special. When I think about Gardner-Webb, I think about the relationships that are nurtured between students, faculty, staff, and administrators. Our brand pillars (Christian community, partners, and student-centered) all point to the mission we place on relationships. At the heart of this emphasis is our mutual desire to love God with all our heart, soul, mind, and strength and to love our neighbor as ourselves.

As a new academic year begins and we strive to be true to our purpose to advance the Kingdom of God through Christian higher education, we recognize that we are incapable of accomplishing this purpose on our own. We acknowledge the importance of our relationships with God and with one another. We give thanks for God’s great and steadfast love demonstrated in our lives both individually and corporately. And we pray that God will give us the ability to işe one another and to discern what is right and good.

Prayer: Lord, give us a God-listening heart so we can lead your people well, discerning the difference between good and evil. For who on their own can capable of leading your glorious people? (adapted from The Message, 1 Kings 3:9)

Dr. Tracy Jessup serves as vice president for Christian Life and Service and senior minister at the University. He is a graduate of Gardner-Webb with a B.A. in Music and earned his M.Div. degree at Samford University’s Beacon Divinity School. He completed his Ph.D. at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln. He also teaches in the undergraduate department of religious studies and enjoys the opportunity to serve the local church through interim pastorates, pulpit supply, and preaching revival services. He and his wife, Teresa, have two children, Christian and Anna.

Located in the North Carolina foothills, Gardner-Webb University is a private Christian liberal arts university that prepares students to become critical thinkers, effective leaders, and compassionate servants in the global community. "I Have Found My Sheep Which Was Lost!"

By Preacher Chris Rathbone
Mitchell County

Several years ago my family decided to travel to the Linville Falls picnic area for an evening of grilling out and looking to the overlooks to see the falls. My boys loved going to places where they can run, jump, and explore the woods. The evening had been wet with a strong storm which had passed through that afternoon but was gradually clearing. We were able to grill our hot dogs and enjoy our evening together in spite of rain draping off of the trees. The weather cleared and we left the picnic area and traveled across the Blue Ridge Parkway to the visitors’ center to park and then began walking the trail to the overlooks. There were only a couple of other vehicles in the parking lot. I guess the earlier rain had kept most people away that evening. There was a small group of people that walked past us as we were getting ready to start across the bridge and continue out the trail. We had only been walking for a minute or two when we heard someone frantically calling out a name. Being parents, I and Michelle both knew by the way the woman was screaming out the same words that was going on. A mother had been separated from her child and was searching desperately for him. We immediately turned back and started toward the voice and saw her running across the bridge toward us.

She told us that she thought the boy had gone to the restroom and had been waiting for him but he never came out. You can imagine what must have been going through her mind. Here was a ten-year-old boy in the woods by himself close to a river and high cliffs all around, and not to mention thinking that there could have been someone who took him. As a parent, I could tell by the look on her face with the tears flowing down her cheeks how distraught and helpless she felt. I asked the boy’s name, age, and a description of what he was wearing. I told her to go back where he was supposed to be and we would search along the trail. While we were searching, we could hear the mother’s voice screaming and calling out in anguish the boy’s name, hoping and praying for a response. I whispered a prayer, “Lord, please help us find this boy!” We walked out the trail, keeping my own boys close, and I began to call out the child’s name. Thankfully, in just a few minutes, I saw a young boy peering around a bush beside the trail that matched the description the mother had given. Though I knew his name, he was a little reluctant to respond to a stranger’s voice. I introduced myself and my family and told him my name was searching for him. A look of relief came across his face. As we came across the top of a hill where I thought mom could hear me, I cried out loudly, “We found him!” I immediately came running and the boy ran to his mom and what a wonderful reunion we witnessed. It was such a blessing to see them both together, both with tears flowing down their faces, so relieved to be together. My wife was holding back tears and I was holding back from shouting! The boy had simply taken the wrong trail.

Through this experience, the Lord reminded me of a parable that He gave in the scriptures. In Luke 15:1-7, Jesus spoke of a man who had a hundred sheep and one is lost, that man would leave the 99 and search in the wilderness until he finds the lost sheep. When he finds that lost sheep, he lays it on his shoulders, rejoicing. When he returns home, he even calls his neighbors together and says, “Rejoice with me, for I have found my sheep which was lost”. Jesus then goes on to say, “I say unto you, that likewise shall the Son of man be glorified among the heathen, and that the angels shall be made to rejoice in the presence of the Father of the Son of Man.”

Friend, if you are lost without Jesus, if you are on the wrong trail in life, I want you to know that He is searching for you. Unlike that child who was reluctant to respond, the stranger’s voice, when you hear Jesus calling, you will immediately recognize Him. My plea is that you will respond to Jesus, repent of your sin, place your faith in what He has done on the cross, and follow Him as a sheep follows a shepherd. He is waiting for you to answer! Him back in faith so that there will be joy in heaven when that announcement is made. “Rejoice with me for I have found my sheep which was lost!”

Studies Beginning for Fall
BY Angie Duncan
Mitchell and Swain Counties

Students and adults are invited to join BSS! Join over 70 ladies and men from various churches and counties who came together once a week locally to study the Bible, the inspired Word of God. In this year’s study, entitled “People of the Promised Land,” men, ladies and children will hear and learn factual and applicable information from the lives of people from the books of the Bible including those from Josiah to Solomon.

Weekday classes begin on Thursday, September 12th at 3 local locations: Thursday in Spruce Pine from 10-11:30 AM at First Baptist Church; 6-7:30 PM at Grace Baptist Church; and on Tuesdays in Burnsville 6:55 PM to 8:25 PM at Higgins Methodist Church. However, BSS offers classes to men and women on the other side of the world, which has an effect on the Bible class in our group. Participants prepare as assigned portion of Scripture to discuss in small groups for 40 minutes, then the groups come together for a time of worship where they hear a trained Teacher Leader give a live 30-minute lecture or a recorded lecture on the same Scripture just discussed in the small group. The “Satellite” classes in rural communities often have a recorded lecture, yet our Teaching Leaders from Asheville visit the classes and give live lectures on occasion. There are also on-line classes available to anyone. You may go on-line to www.bssinternational.org to check it out. Many churches of various denominations open their doors to these weekly classes and welcome BSS groups. BSS participants are very appreciative of hospitality extended by local churches so that these Bible classes may be made available. During the school year BSS has breaks closely aligned to the time of school schedules: i.e. Fall Break, Thanksgiving, Christmas, and Spring Break, etc. The group also plans a day trip to Higginson Methodist Church. Come to the first class to sign up, Thursday for ladies, Tuesday evening for men, or attend as soon as you can so as not to miss out on all of this wonderful opportunity to learn more about real people who lived on this earth and how they related to God in their daily lives. For further information on Day Women’s BSS contact Angie Duncan at adelwoodduncan@gmail.com or 828-367-0991, Evening Women contact Angie Woody at 828-347-3340, or for the Men’s Evening Class in Burnsville contact John Simpson at 828-220-0299 or go to Higgins Methodist Church in Burnsville on Tuesday evenings at 6:35 starting Sept. 11th. Please join in and pray for 4 Children’s Leaders to be called from these ladies enrolled in BSS Classes who will be willing to train so that we may begin a wonderful Children’s Program of studying the Bible at a child’s level through songs, activities, and stories in Spruce Pine Day Women’s BSS class where we have 6 groups of ladies meeting in the daytime. BSS does weekly training for leaders in Asheville at the base classes. Women Leaders train on Tuesday mornings and men leaders train on Monday evenings. All are welcome!

Ecclesiastes Chapter 3

1 To every thing there is a season, and a time to every purpose under the heaven:
2 A time to be born, and a time to die; a time to plant, and a time to pluck up that which is planted;
3 A time to kill, and a time to heal; a time to break down, and a time to build up;
4 A time to weep, and a time to laugh; a time to mourn, and a time to dance;
5 A time to cast away stones, and a time to gather stones together; a time to embrace, and a time to refrain from embracing;
6 A time to get, and a time to lose; a time to keep, and a time to cast away;
7 A time to rend, and a time to sew; a time to keep silence, and a time to speak;
8 A time to love, and a time to hate; a time of war, and a time of peace.
9 What profit hath he that worketh in that wherein he laboureth?
10 I have seen the travail, which God hath given to the sons of men to be exercised in it.
11 He hath made every thing beautiful in his time: also he hath set the world in their heart, so that no man can find out the work that God maketh from the beginning to the end.
12 I know that there is no good in them, but for a man to rejoice, and to do good in his life.
13 And also that every man should eat and drink, and enjoy the good of all his labour, that it is the gift of God.
14 I know that, whatsoever God doeth, it shall be: there is nothing that can be put to it, nor anything taken from it: God doeth it, that men should fear before him.
15 That which hath been is now; and that which is to be hath already been, and God requireth that which is past.
16 And moreover I saw under the sun the place of judgment, that wickedness was there; and the place of righteousness, that iniquity was there.
17 I said in mine heart, God shall judge the righteous and the wicked; for there is a time there for every purpose and for every work.
18 I said in mine heart concerning the estate of the sons of men, that God might manifest them, and that they might see that they themselves are beasts.
19 For that which befalleth the sons of man befalleth beasts; even one thing befalleth them: as the one dieth, so dieth the other; yes, they have all one breath, so that a man hath no preeminence above a beast: for all is vanity.
20 All go unto one place; all are of the dust, and all turn to dust again.
21 Who knoweth the spirit of man that goeth upward? and the spirit of the beast that goeth downward? to the earth.
22 Whence came we, and whither go we? Who knows the way to the house of living?
23 I know that, when God shall take away my breath, I shall have no more spirit in me.
24 The genius of man is as the branches of the forest.
25 He that is born of the woman is of few days, and full of vexation;
26 He cometh out of his mother’s womb a howling child, and goeth into the world in pain.
27 And when his days are fulfilled, he returneth unto God, who gave him birth.
28 He shall go to his grave, but he can but wait, and hope for a good report; yea, he shall be filled with good hope.
Clint's Chronicles on the Funny Farm

The Rest of the Story

Doug Harrell

Clint’s first day on the farm! It does not seem possible that that day was almost nine years ago, how time flies. The story is still as good as it was the day he wrote it and even funnier than it was when it was first written! My old Jeep is still on the farm, but I have not started it in a couple of years. No doubt it would still run, but the bed probably would fall off for sure this time around. Jeez, I was too busy to have the time to leave a message behind me this past summer. Clint will have to have a chance to visit in retirement to remind me of those days of joy, glee and memories of the farm during Clint’s time there.

Funny Farm
A Cornucopia of Catastrophe, or
A Hedge Podge of Hilarity
Or
A Diary of Danger

I now know that you don’t care how I tide these little misfits, your interest runs no deeper than to put up my moods and near misses with moldswell. Whatever I go people approach, stare at, make their heads, smile and say, “Can’t wait to see what you did next!” Just last week a lady “liked” one of my Facebook posts and asked, “Aren’t you the ‘crazy farmer’ from the Funny Farm?” Well yes ma’am, I am one and the same!

Day I On The Farm

It was late March, 2010, when I arrived at Harrell Hill Farms. I hauled the Big City of Hendersonville, NC, a mere 1/2 hour away but it might as well be another planet. Imagining myself a “country boy” all my life, to try to picture my father working a farm is a total fantasy. Thinking I was born in the mountains in Hendersonville, consider my shock as my eyes beheld the hills of Yancey and Mitchell County. Holy smoke!

I figured my buddy Doug Harrell would have mercy on my first-ever Farmer Clint day. You know, maybe I could carry a stick of firewood, possibly feed the cows, do whatever it is that greennorns do when they first set out to be farm hands. But nooooooo, I was left to tote the food. I was a goner... Doug, with being too busy to eat, carry to raise or fellow. I was in the back to 10:00 am and ate at 6:00 am; seems like a civilized schedule, don’t you think? The notion of arising at 4:30 am was never a part of my thinking... until today.

I must confess that the serenity of an awakening farm is something very special... the unfiltered sunlight peering over the mountains, critters and their morning sounds, the total lack of traffic noise and city sounds, was somewhat heavenly. Plus, Doug prepared breakfast pancakes with homemade syrup... oh, and I had my first-ever taste of pure sorghum molasses, man alive that was flat! Although partially asleep I still liked the way my new life was developing...

Unsafe At Any Speed

In previous tales I made mention of “Blackie”, my assigned mode of transportation and a vehicle I came to honor and adore. It is an ancient, let’s say 1965 model Jeep truck (I’m not sure that is correct but I am the one telling the story) Anyway, Doug escorted me into the high morning air and into the back of the Jeep, scarlet, most decrepit looking vehicle you can imagine. Admiring my new side of the road, “What an improvement to drive with!”

With that slight, mischievous, crooked grin I’ve come to love. Doug explained that this would be my farm truck for the day. I made every effort to be impressed and grateful, trying not to barf.

There were a few things I should know about “Blackie”... first, never turn the ignition totally off when stopped... it freezes the switch preventing you from being able to start the vehicle again; the brakes were a bit dicey, so it was wise to keep a hand on the emergency brake; the door handle on the driver’s side tended to “work itself off” (how does an inanimate object “want to do something”???) leaving you unable to get a seat, the window on the passenger’s side is left rolled up... OOGS, too late! (If you begin rolling it down, if it falls, it inside the door and you need the jaws of life to retrieve it); you gotta put the slider in 1st gear when parked, otherwise it has a tendency to roll downhill since the emergency brake kind of sorts doesn’t work, notice the truck bed is being held in with a couple of rocks...

I arrived at this Funny Farm in my 2004 F150 Ford truck as my “ride of choice”. Doug would later chastise me for driving a “city truck”.

But Farmer “Virgine” Fitchie: Fertilizer

My assigned task was to “side dress” Christmas trees with fertilizer... using a foreign object which Doug called a “packer” (more on that in a moment). I drove the short distance from the farm house to the barn on Harrell Hill Road to fetch a gazillion bags of fertilizer. Remember, if you can, that I was not the svidet, fit Farmer Clint you know today... no, I was around 300 lbs. of pure whale. Who, at the time I finished loading those 5000 pounds of fertilizer on this death-trap of a Jeep I felt as though I had done a week’s work – and it was only 6:30 am.

Trip Sliding Away

I was dispatched to the home of Larry Harrell, Doug’s brother, HIGH on a hill off Hwy 226. When I saw the driveway I was reminded of the grist mill where I was raised on the hill... not sure if that is the same hill, or not. I motored up the first leg of this death driveway finally arriving at the top. Knowing that I would have to carry the 400 gallon pounds of fertilizer bags I decided to drive the Jeep into the Christmas tree patch... bad idea!

FIRST LESSON for Farmer Clint... a 50 year old Jeep with questionable brakes, heading downhill on wet grass (yes, 60 lbs.), is liable to either right off the edge of the cliff. As I maneuvered this bucket of bolts, or better said as it maneuvered me, my life flashed before me... I was sliding uncontrollably toward the precipice on grass stick as slick, soon I would be toast... and this my very first day! When I got to wondering eyes should appear to be a tidy dogwood tree protruding from the cliff’s edge... putting Blackie into a power slide, okay so it put it own self into a power slide, the Jeep came to rest precariously on the very lip of the cliff, held in place by the twig. I quickly disconnected, dropping the erratic door handle in the grass (noe on that later). It was a near thing, happy to be alive. Immediately I phoned a friend in Hendersonville, recapping my first hours on the farm, and warned him that he may need to rescue me from this madness!

Rubber On The Mountain

I was encouraged by the way Doug described the backpack thing... “You don’t have to carry the bags of fertilizer, you just pour them into the backpack and use this little drop to the poles that are around.” Yeah, yadda yadda yadda...

First, of all, there are about 5,000 trees that I will have to dance around...

Second, the 5,000 trees are planted on the side of a MOUNTAIN... a BIGG Mountain...

Third, I am FAT, VERY FAT, and I have to walk my chubby self sideways on the mountain.

Fourth, when you dump the fertilizer into the little backpack thingy it weighs 50-60 lbs.

Fifth, when you add 60 lbs to the backpack thingy, and then add that to 300 lbs. Farmer Clint walking sideways on a HUGG Mountain...

Sixth, did I tell you that my right ankle is fused? Well it is... that means it is more like a hockey stick than an ankle, it does not bend and has no flex...

Seventh, when a FAT man with a fused ankle tries to walk sideways on wet grass, he will be a BIG MOUNTAIN and his foot doesn’t bend he is very prone to FALL OVER...

Eighth, when a FAT man – with a fused ankle – carrying 350 lbs falls down the BIG MOUNTAIN, he doesn’t just fall, he ROLLS a long way...

Ninth, it is very hard to get back up when a FAT man is lying on wet grass, on the side of a BIG MOUNTAIN, with 310-360 lbs. attached!

But get up I did! Over and over and over again, I fell my chubby cherubic self down the BIG MOUNTAIN, spilling fertilizer as I barrel rolled down the hillside... but I always rose and climbed back to say last position.

Rescue #1

As the sun set behind the beautiful mountains of Mitchell County I heard the roar of the diesal approaching my Christmas tree patch... at last I was to be rescued... it was Doug on the Kioti® tractor. That ever present smile on his handsome face, he joined me alongside Blackie, hooked a BIG chain to it and pulled me safely. Back at the barn, un-armed, Doug asked, “Well, Puell, how was your first day?” Not to be outdone by this Paulus Buysse of Harrell Hill, I replied, “It was great Doug. Can’t wait for tomorrow!”

Praise the Lord, for the very first time – BUT NOT THE LAST – Ihad cheated death on the Funny Farm!

Still humbled in the hills,

Farmer Clint

Employees Receive Scholarship
By Amber Dillinger
Mitchell and Yancey Counties

Mountain Community Health Partnership (MCHP) is proud to announce that two of our staff members are the recipients of the Bernstein Scholarship. Awarded annually, these scholarships help to relieve some of the financial burden on health center employees by helping to pay for both the clinical education of rural clinic staff members and the college education of their dependents in any area of interest. Scholarship recipients are selected by the Jim Bernstine Health Leadership Committee, a committee made up of members of Foundation’s Board of Directors and friends and family of Jim Bernstine. Since its inception in 2005, more than $75,000 has been awarded among 32 scholars representing 9 health centers.

Casey Griggs, CMA is the Quality Improvement Manager for MCHP and she has been working at the Celco Health Center for 5 years. Casey attended ETSU and is working towards a Bachelor of Science. Her long term goal is to become a Physician’s Assistant. Casey said, “I am honored to be one of the recipients of the Jim and Sue Bernstine Scholarship. This scholarship will help pay for my tuition as I pursue a Bachelor of Science at East Tennessee State University.”

Santana Wright, CMA is the Site Manager for our Celco Location. She has been working at Celco Health Center for 6 years. She is working toward her Associates in Business at Maryland Community College and plans to continue for a Bachelors in Health Care Management. Santana says that “I am honored to be one of the recipients for the Bernstine Scholarship for 2018!”

Mountain Community Health Partnership is a collaboration of 1 local health centers (Bakersville Community Health Center, Celco Health Center, and Spruce Pine Health Center). As a Federally Qualified Health Center, our goal is to provide high quality care to Mitchell, Yancey, and surrounding counties. For more information, or to learn more about our health center please contact: Amber Dillinger, Outreach Manager 828-688-0511 dillinger@macph.care

6th Annual Women Seeking God Freedom Retreat
By Shelly Grindstaff
Mitchell County

October 5th-6th at High Pastures Retreat Center

"Inviting ladies of all ages, to join us for our 6th annual Freedom Retreat at High Pastures Retreat Center in Burnsville, NC on October 5th-6th. Our theme this year is "Women in Waiting." Have you found yourself in a season of waiting on God? Waiting on His timing, His will, His direction. Waiting on answers to prayers that never seem to come? Or maybe the answer that comes is not what you are waiting for. What does God want us to do as His daughters in waiting? Join us for a time of worship, fellowship and renewed strength from testimonies of women who are learning to wait on God.

You will hear testimonies from local women Ashley Clark, Haley Johnson, Jamie Pate and Shelly Grindstaff. Worship will be led by Wendy Ellis. This is a non-denominational event lead by Shelly Grindstaff. She has a heart to see the body of Christ joined together in unity through worship and broken women find the freedom that is only found in Jesus Christ and the Truth of His Word.

It begins at 5:30 on Friday October 5th with dinner at High Pastures followed by worship, speaker and testimonies from 6:45-9. Saturday it begins at 8 am with breakfast followed by worship and speaker from 8am-2pm with lunch being served at 12. Cost is $60 for retreat, room and 3 meals. Staying is encouraged to have focused time with the Lord, away from distractions but there is option of conference only for $30 if you can not stay for whole conference. Meals can be purchased separately as well. Registration and deposit for room and meals are needed by Sept. 21st. Space is limited. Registrations can be picked up and dropped off at Higgins UMC church office in Burnsville, The Bridge Church in Spruce Pine or contact Shelly Grindstaff (336) 835-4860 or email her at Shelly@higginsumc.org. Also, you can follow us at Women Seeking God on Facebook and pront from there.

Shelley has been serving in ministry for 25 years. She has led women's ministry called Mary Ministries for 10 years at various churches she has served at but she is in a waiting season herself the past 2 years. She felt led by the Spirit to break the Freedom Retreat 7 years ago to bring women together for encouragement and to see captives set free. She currently attends The Bridge Church in Spruce Pine. She also works as a nurse at the Taney County Health Centers.

Facing, Crisis, Battling Giants
By Pastor Steve Williams
Mitchell County

The day of small problems seem to be a thing of the past. It's seems that every problem we find ourselves up against becomes a Giant. And most people today would tell you unless you receive a miracle the problem you are up against is going to defeat you. Are you in need of a Miracle? Most people would respond with a YES. And to some of you that are reading this article a miracle may be your only hope, and therein lies wrong asking for a miracle. But before we should ever ask God for a miracle we must be sure our lives illustrate a life of righteousness, and holiness that would invite the power of God into our situation. God will perform miracles when they meet His purpose, but more regularly we will see miracles when we meet His conditions. We should not ask God to do more for us in a time of crisis if we are presently doing less than He has asked of us in our daily walk with Him.

We all know this story of David battling Goliath. And we also know something less than a miracle would not help David in this situation. And what God did in David's life is still considered one of the greatest miracles in history. The stones David picked up that day and put in his pouch did not appear to be enough to overcome his giant, but God had proven many times that he can take the smallest things and use them to perform the greatest miracles. David only had a sling and he, with God directing the crew, was able to defeat Goliath the giant. Some have picked up the javelin of an ass and was able to kill a 1000 Philistines with it. Moses only had a rod, but God used Moses' and his rod to do many miracles. In Exodus 4:12 God used horses to drive out the Amorites who were going to try to defeat the children of Israel. All these miracles remind you of an old song:

"Little is Much When God is In It."
Chorus: Little is much when God is in it,
Labor not for wealth or fame,
There is crown, and you can win it,
If you go in Jesus name.

This just proves God can use whatever we have, no matter how small, to defeat our enemies providing we have the right heart. Little Faith Moves Mountains. The Bible says in Matthew 7:28 And Jesus said unto them, Because of your unbelief: for verily I say unto you, If ye have faith as a grain of mustard seed, ye shall say unto this mountain, Remove hence to yonder place, and it shall remove, and nothing shall be impossible unto you. So when you are going up against something bigger than you don't worry, God can take care of you and your problem. So, remember sometimes "God puts Goliath's in our lives to bring us the David"'s.)

Words of Wisdom:
- Rick life is made up of mistakes and learning, waiting and growing, practicing patience and being persistent. Billy Graham.
- Courage is contagious. When a brave man takes a stand, the spines of others are often strengthened. Billy Graham.
- The greatest legacy one can pass on to one's children and grandchildren is not money or other material things accumulated in one's life, but rather a legacy of character and faith. Billy Graham.
- When health is lost, what is left is life. When life is lost, what is left is character. All is lost. Billy Graham.
- Something To Think About:
- What do Christians and airplanes have in common? If they back up they both will.

Walk A Mile In Her Shoes is Baaaack!

By Beth Davis
Mitchell County

Yes, folks, Walk A Mile In Her Shoes for Mitchell County SafePlace is back this year.....Saturday, October 6 at 10:00 on Locust (Lower) Street at Central Park. Mitchell County's finest and fairest man will take to the streets in their fabulous red high-heeled pumps to raise money and awareness in our fight to combat Domestic Violence.

This year Sheriff Donald Street and his deputies have challenged Spruce Pine Assistant Chief Mike Coughenour and his fellow firefighters to go toe-to-toe to see who can raise the most money. We welcome you to donate online at mitchellcountysafeplace.org, then follow the links to #TeamLawEnforcement or #TeamFireFighter. No amount is too small or too large!

We also have our usual suspects joining in: County Commissioner Chair, Matthew Vern Grindstaff, the ubiquitous Dr Dan Barron (of course), Mitchell News-Journal Editor Brandon Roberts, as well as the Bakersville Clinic Doctors...not to mention the Mitchell High School Wrestling Team, who doesn't just walk a mile in red slippers...they run the mile!

We'll also have a few new faces: District 47 candidate, David Whazard, County Commissioner candidate Bruce Korin, and NC State Representative 81st District candidate Howard Lusens.

All of these brave, determined men will be assembling teams of 5 to raise the most money, and compete for the coveted Clint Pollard Red Pump Trophy. SafePlace welcomes and encourages children to participate, and, yes, we have children's red shoes, too!

Participants will receive special commemorative T-Shirts, and treated to free, delicious BBQ Sandwiches courtesy of Pig & Grin in Burnsville. And we'll treat them to fabulous door prizes, thanks to our local, generous patrons and craftsmen. And don't forget the perfect starting tunes provided by our very own Bruce Bard! We'll also have T-Shirts for sale to the public.

We are so proud and so grateful to the good men of Mitchell County for making this bold statement in unison to show their support for the victims of Domestic and Sexual Violence which continues to plague our county. Most important, you'll remember Gale's Story in the August issue of the Blue Ridge Christian News. Well, Gale will also be there as our special guest.

We're counting on you and your family and friends to come out and support Walk...
Rebekah and Rebecca
By Kesa Kay
Yancey County

In the Bible, Rebekah offered water to a thirsty stranger, and as he drank its fill, she offered refreshment to his camel, too. She worked hard, and she gave freely to others in need. Rebecca Boone, wife of Daniel Boone, shared the courage and work ethic of her namesake. Just as Rebekah in the Bible left her homeland and all her family in Haran to be with her new husband, so did Rebeka Boone leave her grandparents and father who raised her in North Carolina, to go with her wild, exploring husband. Neither of these women knew if ever they would see the ones she loved best, ever again.

When the Biblical Rebekah gave water to the camels, she let them drink their fill. She didn't shrink, even though the thirsty man in front of her was a stranger to her. She did not know that he was the servant of Isaac, who would inherit all the holdings of Abraham and Sarah. She only knew that he was thirsty. Like her namesake, Rebecca Boone helped whosoever helped was needed.

In Genesis 24:38, Rebekah agreed to leave her family and go to her new husband, traveling far away. "And they called Rebekah, and said unto her, Whither goest thou with this man? and she said, I will go." Both Rebekah and Rebecca sacrificed mightily for their husbands and families. Neither of the women had easy lives.

Rebecca Boone moved more than 70 times. She gave birth to ten children of her own, raised six born to other mothers, as well. She outlived all but four of her children. Rebekah thought at first she might not conceive, yet eventually she had two sons, Jacob andEsau. They grew up discontented with each other, warring.

Genesis 43:60 says, "They bearded Rebekah, and said unto her, Thou art our sister, be thou the mother of thousands of millions, and let thy seed possess the gate of those which hate them." Both women had heavy hearts at times.

From these two women of the same name but such different lives and times, we can learn that hard work, steady commitment, and strong faith belong in everyday life. We have not been promised ease or the absence of suffering, but as women, we shoulder our burdens and do all we can to ease the pain in the hearts of our loved ones, never giving up.

And we must not expect perfection from ourselves, even as we do our best. These women weren't free from fault. Rebekah deceived her husband, and Rebeka Boone had some secrets, too. Their flaws remind us that we are humans on this earth and not always perfect. We can be forgiven.

Love Makes a Home. The Life of Rebecca Boone will be performed at 3 pm on Sunday, September 29, at the Thomas Wolfe Center for Narrative, 36 Montford Avenue, Asheville. The play contains 15 old time fiddle tunes, played by Bruce Greene, a Boone family descendent. The actress who plays Rebecca Boone has worked hard all her life, and helped her husband build their farmhouses with their own hands. As Proverbs 31:31 says, "Give her of the fruit of her hands, and let her own works praise her at the gate."

The Biblical Rebekah and Rebecca Boone both did their best. They kept their faith strong through troubled times. When they got tired in their homes, they found refuge in faith. Both of them had to learn to endure the consequences of their mistakes even as they kept loving and living, day by day.

EVERYTHING’S ALRIGHT
By: Joyce Joy Hendrick

At times when all the house is quiet,
So peaceful, hushed and still.
I smile in my favorite spot
Against the window sill.

When all the rain has ceased to fall
And all the earth looks green,
The birds begin their singing
And playing once again.

It seems that they are praising God
For all they have done
Then the highest cloud above
Peeps out the shining sun.

Now all of God’s creation
While glistening in its light,
With sparkling drops from heaven
Whispers… EVERYTHING’S ALRIGHT.

Paul’s Prison Letters written to Timothy, Philemon and the Ephesians, Philippians and Colossians Christians in prison contain some of the most quoted scriptures in the New Testament. Paul’s words are just as relevant today as they were then. Allow me to take the liberty to put some of those words into the form of a Letter from Prison to Us, the Church of 2018.

Paul, an apostle of Jesus Christ to the faithful in Christ Jesus, blessed be the God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, who has blessed us with all spiritual blessings. May the eyes of your understanding be enlightened: so that you may know what is the hope of His calling, the riches of His glory and the exceeding greatness of His power, which He willed to bestow on us. In union with Christ and seated with Christ in heavenly places. Church of 2018 it’s by His grace you are saved through faith and that not of yourselves. It is the gift of God, not of works lest anyone should boast. I pray to the Father that He would grant you to be strengthened with might by His Spirit and that you would be able to comprehend the love of Christ which passes all knowledge.

Every one of us is given grace according to the measure of the gift of Christ. When He ascended up on high He gave gifts to all for the perfecting of the saints, the working of the ministry and the edifying of the body of Christ that we not be tossed to and fro and carried about with every wind of doctrine. Church of 2018 put off concerning the former old self and be renewed in the spirit of your mind. Let all bitterness and anger and wrath and clamor and slander be put away from you, with all malice. Be kind to one another, tender-hearted, forgiving one another, as Christ also in you, has forgiven you, according to all that you have heard of Christ Jesus. The grace of our Lord Jesus Christ be with you. Church of 2018, Paul, a prisoner in Rome

Greetings!

My name is Anthony. I am an inmate in the North Carolina Department of Public Safety. I read your article “The Book” that was published in the January edition of the Blue Ridge Christian News. Your article increased my appreciation for the Bible and I have a copy of the Word of God. We have hundreds of Bibles available to us and all day to read and study but sadly many choose not to. We need God’s strength and direction if we are to live the Christian life by meeting the needs of others and lending a listening ear to the many men who are broken and are longing to have that empty void in their lives filled with something that is real and lasting. Of course that is Jesus Christ. It is our duty to share the gospel not only with our lips but with our lives. Studying the scripture is how we can equip ourselves. We tend to neglect the Word and then wonder why we don’t have joy and peace and are curious why our lives are failing apart.

I made a terrible decision. I regret that decision every day. It took a long time before I believe that God would come into my life and save me but He did. Today I am a child of God and He has entrusted me with the responsibility to minister to others. Incarceration allowed me to slow down enough to hear and take heed to the voice of God. He says if we draw near to Him He will draw near to us. We must be doers of the Word. God has been good to me over the years in which I have received three associate degrees, a Bachelor’s and currently working on my Master’s degree. God has instilled in me the ability to write and direct drama plays for the inmates creating an atmosphere where the guys can take a mental vacation for an hour or so and laugh while being exposed to the gospel. All my plays have a prison theme and speak about hope and delivery in Christ.

Thank you for sharing your article with the readers of the Blue Ridge Christian News. May the Lord continue to bless you and your ministry. I would appreciate your prayers.

In Christ,

Anthony

Anthony has a renewed hope of freedom from prison due to the Supreme Court ruling in 2012 which changed the law concerning crimes committed by juveniles. It’s not possible that he could be paroled. As a means of getting the necessary funds to hire an attorney to represent him a Prison Portraits project has been set up. On behalf of Anthony an artist is offering a one of a kind drawn portrait of you or a loved one. Upon receiving your portrait and 100% satisfied you can make a contribution of any amount to Anthony’s legal fund. I can personally vouch for the quality of these portraits. 33rd Annual Music in The Mountains Folk Festival
By Kate Groff
Sircney County

The Annual Music in the Mountains Folk Festival is coming to the Burnsville Town Center on Saturday, September 22 from 1:30 to 6:30pm. The Annual Festival, sponsored by Toe River Arts and now in its 33rd year, includes storytellers, ballad singers, dancers, bluegrass and traditional music on instruments ranging from banjo to dulcimer to guitar. This year Toe River Arts honorees Betty Smith, Betty was born in Rowan County, grew up in Guilford and now resides in Madison County and is recognized as one of our best-known musicians. She learned her skill on the fiddle, guitar, autoharp, pulley (similar to the dulcimer) and mountain dulcimer by practicing and playing by ear since she was in grade school. Also, a highly respected ballad singer, she has performed widely at festivals and more recently has taken on the role as an award-winning author and performer.

This year’s line-up is a definite winner. Encencce and station manager at WECR in Avery County, Phillip Greene, will do introductions. Also performing are well-known Marinas and Doug Tveten who will join with favorite ballad singer and storyteller Bobby McMilling, bass player and member of the band Amanda Mill, Judge Rebecca Eggers-Guyer, banjo and story teller, Brett Riggs with his musical partner and guitarist Pam. And not missing an opportunity to kick up the heels or toes on the wood stage, Madison and McKenzie Castell and Collins and Mollie Rian will accompany in dance throughout the night. The evening begins with the great mountain sounds of the Toe River Arts Traditional Arts Program for Students instructors (TAPS) with Sam Maran and a couple of their “star” students. This is an evening not to miss!

It will be music, music, music. You’ll find a rare evening of entertainment resonating to the old and new from our traditional performers. You won’t want to miss one hand-clapping minute of this evening’s fun! The show begins on Saturday, September 22 at the Burnsville Town Center (6 S. Main Street) at 5:30pm and will continue to echo through the hall until around 8:30pm.

Tickets are $14 adults, $12 for students and seniors 65+. Buy your tickets through Friday, September 21 and save $2. Tickets will be available at either Toe River Arts Gallery (Burnsville at 162 W. Main St. or Spruce Pine at 269 Oak Ave.) by the end of August. Children 5 and under are admitted FREE.

In conjunction with the Music in the Mountains Folk Festival and running September 15 through October 20, Toe River Arts will display the photographs of Cecil Sharp who, 100 years ago, documented the variants and versions of English and Scottish folks songs as sung by descendants of immigrants from the British Isles. The Burnsville Gallery exhibit of 24 of Sharp’s rare photographs will offer a stunning window into the life of Appalachian people. Betty Smith wrote and performed in the one-act, one-woman production of “A Mountain Riddle,” based on the life of singer/mandolin player, Celia Sharp, in 1916. “A Mountain Riddle” won the North Carolina Society of Historians’ Paul Green民权奖.

The Music in the Mountains Folk Music Festival is funded in part by a Grassroots Art Grant from the North Carolina Arts Council, a division of the Natural and Cultural Resources Department. For more information contact Toe River Arts offices at 828-652-2713 or visit the website, www.toeriverarts.org.

"Culture-blind" — or Cowardly?
By Shawna Thomas
Burke County

In Washington Irving's delightful The Sketch Book of Geoffrey Crayon, the author journals about his attendance at a venerable English country church. "The congregation was composed of the neighboring people of rank, who sat in pew unpunishedly lined and cushioned, furnished with richly gilt prayer-books, and decorated with their arms upon the pew doors; or the villages and parsonies, who filled the back seats and a small gallery behind the organ; and of the poor of the parish, who were rammed on benches in the aisles." (The Sketch Book of Geoffrey Crayon, "The Country Church.")

Washington Irving, p. 164)

One is immediately struck by the incongruity of the church seating arrangement: the wealthy enjoying lavishly decorated pews, but the poor unceremoniously inhabiting the back seats, and benches on the aisles. It is such a flagrant violation of the command of James 2.

"My brethren, do not hold your faith in our glorious Lord Jesus Christ with an attitude of personal favoritism. For if a man comes into your assembly with a gold ring and dressed in fine clothes ... and you pay special attention, and say, 'You sit here in a good place,' and you say to the poor man, 'You stand over there, or sit down by my footstool,' have you not made distinctions among yourselves, and become judges with evil motives?" (James 2:1-4)

Surely anyone attending that church who possessed both a Bible and a conscience could have discerned that this scenario was wrong — couldn't they? There are at least two explanations for this kind of blatant alteration:

1. They may have been "culture-blind." Believers in any setting can find it difficult to "escape" the cultural presuppositions they were nurtured in, and to detect contradictions between their culture and scripture. After all, those things seem to them to be "normal" they were brought up that way. This is one of reasons why C.S. Lewis recommended reading books and sermons from other ages, and why Leslie Newbigin encouraged Christian interaction with churches in other parts of the world -- these members of other times and places are not bound by our cultural limitations, and they can help correct our "culture-blindness" with the light of God's truth.

2. A second explanation exists. There is the distinct possibility that the wrong was indeed noticed even by some of those inhabiting that culture — but that those who detected it were not courageous enough to speak up about it.

Irving's account ought to cause Christians today to examine our own practices. When Baptist compromisers with scripture do we tolerate in our churches week after week, to which we ourselves are just as "culture-blind" as the ancient English were to theirs? And are those those of which we ARE indeed aware — as perhaps some of them were — but are we just too cowardly to speak up against them?

Four Things the World Needs to See from the Church (Part 1)
By Jason Koon
Burke County

Why doesn't anybody want to go to Church anymore? I hear this question with increasing frequency.

In fact, it's even the title of a recent book by Tozow Scholtz. We all knew church growth was down, and we should know by now that it's not just the Millennials who are skipping out. And now it's becoming increasingly clear that those who have managed to hang on are doing less and are more burned out. So, what gives? Why are American Churchgoers dropping like flies?

A recent study from the Barna Group attempted to answer this question. First, they asked people why they went to Church, and overwhelmingly, Americans responded "to be closer to God" or "to learn about God." This is encouraging; 71% of Americans are not looking for a big show, a cool rock band, a hip pastor, or a place to network; they're looking for something spiritual. So why are they abandoning Church? The answer is that while now Americans are looking for something spiritual, they're not finding it at Church. Only 44% of people who attend Church every week say they regularly experience God, and these are the ones who have stayed.

This means two things. First, about 56% of the people you currently worship with are probably hanging on by a thread. And secondly, something has gone drastically wrong. I think there are several reasons for these troubling statistics and the following are four characteristics I believe the world needs to see from the Church that will help us to begin to turn these trends around. These are characteristics we saw in generations past, characteristics that are essential if we are going to see the Church impact the world with the Gospel.

Integrity

Seventy-three percent of Americans identify as Christian, but only 35% attend Church regularly. Even more troubling, only 7% affirms seven basic teachings of the Christian faith, teachings like "Salvation is through grace, not works," and "Jesus lived a sinless life." This isn't academic, systematic theology; this is fundamental biblical teaching. Beliefs that Scripture says are necessary for salvation. In other words, chances are, when you go to Church this weekend, four out of every five people you worship with may spend eternity in hell.

As a result, the Church can't practice what it believes anymore. Because most of us don't even know what we believe. This is causing a breakdown in integrity. The Bible speaks often about integrity. 1 Timothy 4:16 says, "Keep a close watch on yourself and on the teaching. For some people will come in later days not having the Spirit of truth but pretending to know the Lord's will. That will be destructive to your souls because you are confused and hopelessly deceived in your love for one another."

There is also a promise in this verse. Paul writes that when we have integrity, when our minds, hearts, and actions line up like this then we will be a saving influence to the people around us. We wonder why nobody comes to Church? We wonder why don't we see people saved like we did years past? Paul has our answer. Our lives and decisions have gotten away from us. If we're going to see the Church impact the world for the gospel, we're going to have to understand and live out the faith we profess.

Jason Koon is Pastor of Bridge42 Church in Morganton, NC.

Being a foster family is not easy and often times can be challenging. Foster families open up their homes and their hearts to love a child. They are the ones that wipe away the tears and comfort the children letting them know it will be okay. Being a foster family means helping children heal and learn life skills that will last a life time. Many times, families are discouraged from becoming foster families, because they may be afraid of getting their hearts broken. Anytime you open up your home and experience life with a child there are struggles. Despite the difficulties that fostering can bring, many families continue to foster. Children need families to love them, nurture them and give them the guidance they need. Every child in foster care deserves to have a family to love them. Make a difference foster a child. Historical Inauguration of 16th President, Dr. Herbert L. King Jr.
By Nina Mantavrias
 Avery County

BANNER ELK, N.C. — Lees-McRae College will host the inauguration of its 16th President, Dr. Herbert L. King Jr., Friday, Oct. 5 on the campus in Banner Elk. The celebration will conclude a series of events honoring the institution’s location and its roots, “in the Mountains, Of the Mountains, For the Mountains.”

The 2 p.m. installation ceremony will be held in the Historic Commons and is open to the public. The ceremony will bring together college stakeholders—students, faculty, staff, alumni, parents, community, friends and former— and provide an opportunity to celebrate shared values and a commitment to the future.

Lees-McRae will commemorate King’s inauguration throughout the week. Wednesday, Oct. 3

Mountain Day of Service, 9 a.m.
Students, faculty, staff, and friends of the college will give back and work together on service projects in the community. All participating volunteers are invited to close the day with a celebration at Watauga Lake.

Thursday, Oct. 4

Inauguration Ceremonies, 2 p.m.
Representatives from the students, faculty, staff, alumni, and the community will provide greetings before President King is sworn in and bestowed with the symbols of office. Reception will follow in Spinks Park.

Annual Homecoming events, including alumni awards brunch, tailgating, and athletic events will continue Saturday, Oct. 6. Events are open to the public.

Friday, Oct. 5

Prayer Service, 10 a.m.
An interfaith prayer service at the Banner Elk Presbyterian Church will surround President King with blessings and prayer as he begins his tenure.

Inauguration Ceremonies, 2 p.m.
Representatives from the students, faculty, staff, alumni, and the community will provide greetings before President King is sworn in and bestowed with the symbols of office. Reception will follow in Spinks Park.

Shutting Down the Factory
by Jerry Lewis
McDowell County

John Calvin said that man’s nature is a “perpetual factory of idols.” Almost unnoticed, idols can creep onto the throne of our hearts and before we know it, we’re worshiping at their altar. Work. Sports. Money. Accumulations. Alcohol. Someone. Idols come in all shapes and sizes. So how do you shut down the factory? Here are a few steps:

1. Identify your idols. What allure you may not even recognize. The common way of referring to this is, “he has his own demons.” But this terminology deflects the blame from the real source. We all have sinful natures that produce customized idols. How do you know when something has become an idol? Jim Keller says, “When anything in life is an absolute requirement for your happiness and self-worth, it is essentially an ‘idol,’ something you are actually worshiping.” (Covenant Life)

2. Put away your idols. Once you know what they are, take the next step to get rid of them. If you’re a workaholic, adjust your work hours. If you’re an alcoholic, quit drinking—completely. If you’re addicted to gambling, don’t carry indiscriminate cash.

3. Get help. You will not successfully fight idols alone. You’re not equipped to battle alone. Scripture is replete with examples of people who, when left alone, self-destructed. (See Samson, King David, Ezechiel, to name a few.) Join a Life Group (email james@graceforlife.org). Get counseling (Chuck Tripp is a great resource: 828-863-7281).

4. Worship God. If the worship of God doesn’t replace whatever else you were worshiping, you will return to your idols. You are created to worship. Will it be God? Take 3 minutes to let the words of Lauren Daigle’s song sink in.

“Changes”
By Jacob Wilis
Yancey County

It is the thing most of us dread, CHANGE. Change means that sometimes everything is going along smoothly and, all of a sudden, things change. Sometimes changes in whatever form, whether it be a career change, relationship change or changes in health, can make us cringe. Even when the changes are considered a good thing, it can still be scary. Sometimes doing what is best may require a change in mindset, circumstances, or life, and we may become paralyzed by fear. It is at these times we must ask ourselves some hard questions.

First of all, is this God’s plan? Some changes are totally out of our control. If they are out of our control, God may not have willed it, but He certainly allowed it. If He allowed it, then there is some divine source of providence in the best and worst of ways. God has been following our Lord’s guidance and according to His will, then we can be assured of His divine providence in change. Fear is the opposite of faith. Fear says change will be unbearable, faith says change will be tolerable. Fear says change is to destroy and crumble, faith says change is about restoration and growth.

Isaiah 43:19 Behold, I am doing a new thing; now it springs forth, do you not perceive it? I will make a way in the wilderness and rivers in the desert.

Second of all, is this a challenge from God? Sometimes receiving the best God has for us in life requires us to make tough choices. It requires us not just to talk the faith talk, but to walk the faith walk. It requires us to make choices that lead to changes in our game. Sometimes we are just not comfortable, but it is necessary in the faith life. God challenges us in order to receive His best we must choose to forsake some things that give us security. That may be good things, but if we want God’s blessing, then we must choose the best thing. This requires changing our current plans, and sometimes, people in our lives. God wants this very best for His children, but we have to be willing to adjust and change our minds. Repentance literally means to change your mindset. When God asks us to actually make a change it is always for our best. All sin begins with a lack of trust in the love of God.Psalm 34:12 Tell and see that the LORD is good: Blessed is the man who takes refuge in him!

Finally, changes boil down to a test of faith. Change is uncomfortable, unexpected, and unpredictable. When Abraham was tested by God telling him to offer up his only son Isaac, he responded as the father of faith. It was a test of Abraham’s faith. All the promises of God rested in this young man Isaac. He was the seed from which all the saviors of the earth would be blessed. This God asked Abraham to kill the son who was given to him miraculously and must have seemed cruel. Sara gave birth to the boy when she was 100 years old. She had tried repeatedly and failed. Abraham and Sara had prayed, trusted (with Hagar and Ishmael), and sacrificed to God hoping for this son. Now he is here and God wants you to sacrifice him. Sometimes change challenges us to kill what we initially placed our hope in. Really the question was where Abraham’s hope lies. In God or of his son?

It was a test of Abraham’s love. The first time “unconditional love” is used in the Bible is when describing Abraham’s love for Isaac. Sometimes change means letting go of things we love. Isaac was old enough and big enough to go. The wood for the sacrifice, so be he knew that he might be laying down his life. He asked his father the tough question, Where is the lamb? Abraham then proved as strong as anyone in the camp saying, The Lord will provide himself a sacrifice. He loved his son, but he loved God more.

It was a test of Abraham’s faith. Abraham was acquainted with the character and nature of God. He knew that God had promised Isaac to be the heir of the promises of God. He knew if Isaac died that God had lied. He knew that God couldn’t lie, so what was his faith in?

Hebrews 11:17-18 By faith Abraham, when he was tested, offered up Isaac, and he who received the promises was in the act of offering up his only son, of whom it was said, "Through Isaac shall your offspring be named.” He considered that God was able even to raise him from the dead, from which, figuratively speaking, he received him back.

Abraham believed that if he killed his son, God would raise him from the dead. What did God do? He presented Abraham a ram, caught by its horns in a thickets, to sacrifice instead of his son. A ram caught by its horns denotes power. This happened on Mt. Moriah, where Jesus was crucified. God would provide. Himself a sacrifice for our sins, and the sins of the whole world. God wants a personal relationship with you. If you are being tested by change, will you trust the God who died for you? Will you allow him the privilege to guide your steps? If you do, this change will definitely lead to resurrection. Maybe you need to trust him as your personal Savior. Maybe you need to follow him where you don’t want to go. Maybe your life has been changed and it is out of your hand to control. Take heart that God will make a way, and God will change your life for the better. At the end of this change, we will make, God will change us forever into his image. There will be no more pain, sickness or death. We will receive a body like His and live forevermore.

Salvation Begins With God
By John McCoury
Room Mountain, Tennessee

"Since local churches are made up of human beings, saved by God’s grace, so church is perfect. But some churches are closer to the New Testament ideal than others. The church at Thessalonica was in that category. At least three times in this letter, Paul gave thanks for the church and the way it responded to his ministry. Not every pastor can be that thankful. What characteristics of this church made it so ideal and such a joy to Paul’s heart? An ELECT PEOPLE (1:1-4) The word church in 1 Thessalonians 1:1 means "a called-out people." Whenever you read about a call in the Bible, it indicates divine election—God is calling out a people from this world (Acts 15:13-18). Seven times in John 17, our Lord referred to believers as those whom the Father gave to him out of the world (John 17:2, 6, 9, 11-12, 24). Paul stated that he knew the Thessalonians had been chosen by God (1 Thess. 1:4). The crown of divine election confers some privileges and fruitions others often neither recognize is justified. A seminary professor once told me, "To explain election, and you may lose your mind. But explain it away—and you lose your soul!"

We will never understand the total concept of election this side of heaven. But we should not ignore this important doctrine that is taught throughout the Bible. Let's notice some obvious facts about divine election. Salvation begins with God. "God hath from the beginning chosen you to salvation" (2 Thes. 2:13). "Ye have not chosen me, but I have chosen you" (John 15:16). "He [the Father] hath chosen us in [Christ] before the foundation of the world" (Eph. 1:4). The entire plan of salvation has been worked out by God to love one universe forever. Salvation involves God's love. Paul called these saints "brought beloved"—not only beloved by Paul (see 1 Thes. 2:17), but also beloved by God. God's love made Calvary possible (Rom. 5:8), and there Jesus Christ died for our sins. But it is not God's love that saves the sinner; it is God's grace. God in His grace gives us what we do not deserve, and God in His mercy does not give us what we do deserve. This explains why Paul often opened his letters with "Grace be unto you, and peace, from God our Father, and from the Lord Jesus Christ" (1 Thes. 1:2). Salvation involves faith. "For by grace are ye saved through faith" (Eph. 2:8, 9). God saved the Thessalonians as Silas, and Timothy brought the gospel to Thessalonica and preached in the power of God (1 Thes. 1:5). Some people who heard the message believed and turned from their vain idols to the true and living God (v. 9). The Spirit of God used the Word of God to generate faith (Rom. 10:17). Paul called this "sanctification of the Spirit and belief of the truth." (2 Thes. 2:13). Salvation involves the Trinity. As you read this letter, you discover the doctrine of the Trinity. Christians believe in one God existing in three Persons: God the Father, and God the Son, and God the Holy Spirit. Keep in mind that all three Persons are involved in our salvation. This will help you escape dangerous extremes that either deny human responsibility or dilute divine sovereignty—for both are true in God's Word. As far as God the Father is concerned, I was saved when He chose me in Christ before the world began. As far as God the Son is concerned, I was saved when He died for me on the cross. As far as God the Holy Spirit is concerned, I was saved when He wrote the Word and trusted Jesus Christ. At that moment, the entire plan fell together, and I became a child of God. If you had asked me at that time if I was one of the elect, I would have been speechless. At that time I knew nothing about election. But the Holy Spirit witnessed in my heart that I was a child of God. Salvation changes the life. How did Paul know that these Thessalonians were saved of God? He saw a change in their lives. If you put 1 Thessalonians 1:3 next to 1 Thessalonians 1:9-10, you will get the picture: your work of faith you turned to God from idols your labor of love to serve the living and true God and patience of hope to wait for His Son from heaven The person who claims to have been saved of God, whose life has not changed, is only fooling himself. Those whom God chooses, He changes. This does not mean they are perfect, but they are possessors of a new life that cannot be hidden. Faith, hope, and love are the three cardinal virtues of the Christian life, and the three greatest evidences of salvation. Faith must always lead to works (James 2:14-20). It has been said, "We are not saved by faith plus works, but by a faith that works." If the Thessalonians had continued to worship their dead idols while professing faith in the living God, it would have proved that they were not among God's elect. Love is also an evidence of salvation. "The love of God is shed abroad in our hearts by the Holy Ghost which is given unto us." (Rom. 5:5). We are "taught together" (Eph. 4:12) by the Holy Ghost to love one another (1 Thes. 4:9). We serve Christ because we love Him; this is the "labor of love" that Paul mentioned. "If ye love me, keep my commandments" (John 14:15). The third evidence of salvation is hope, waiting for Jesus Christ to return (1 Thes. 1:10). The return of Jesus Christ is the dominant theme of 1 Thessalonians. It permeates every Thessalonian letter. Unsaved people are not eagerly waiting the Lord's return. In fact, when our Lord catches His church up into the air, unsaved people will be totally surprised (5:1-11). Faith, hope, and love are evidences of election. These spiritual graces are bound together and can come only from God. For further ex-

Catwaba River Baptist Association - We are happy to be partnering with pasto Paidal Medda of Victory Baptist Association as he works with pastors in India to reach communities for Jesus. Most pastors in India pastor more than one church and they walk wherever they go. They are in need of 100 bicycles to help 100 pastors take the Word of God from village to village. The Catwaba River Association is working to meet this need through the gifts of churches and individuals. If you, your Church, or a friend would like to donate a bike (pedals for pastors) please send a check for $80 to CRBA and put in the memo line "Pedals for Pastors". Every dollar collected will be sent to India and will be used to purchase bicycles. Please send all donations to 1812 US 70 E., Morganton, NC.

We will be collecting costs this year to be distributed to those in need in New York City. Please bring new or gently used costs (no books, toys or clothes) to our CRBA office in Morganton. We will collect costs during the months of September and October and will deliver them to a drop off location in North Carolina (Finalizing Eagle Bible College) where they will be collected (and distribute them) in New York. Again, if you bring used costs please make sure they are in good shape.

Appalachia History On The Walls Of The Burnsville Gallery

By Kate Grof

Yancey County

On September 15, Burnsville Toe River Arts will unveil 24 large photographs taken by music folklorist, Cecil Sharp and his assistant, Maud Karpeles. These images will take viewers back to a time when folks worked from sunrise to sunset, kids went to one-room school houses or not at all, and ate meals by hickory, and songs passed down from generation to generation on their porches at twilight. The exhibit continues through October 20 with a reception on October 5 from 5 to 7 pm at which Donald Hughes will speak about these black and white glimpses of Appalachia in the early 20th century. Hughes initiated the Appalachia Project to commemorate the centennial of Cecil Sharp’s visit to North Carolina and serves as its coordinator.

In 1916, English music teacher and ballad collector, Sharp and Karpeles, travelled the Appalachian region to document the songs and stories of that music. What they also collected were photographs of these peoples, in their homes, at work, in their best attires, poet, but perhaps not as commodified as a frontier of a century ago, and give a fascinating glimpse into the rural life and the rural life of this region’s ancestors.

They traveled challenging terrain to visit singers and record the notes and words of the songs. The end of their 6-week travels through North Carolina, Virginia, West Virginia, Kentucky and Tennessee, the two had collected more than 1,600 volumes of English ballads from 181 singers.

Out of their work came the English Folk Dance and Song Society based in Cecil Sharp House in London, the U.S.-based Country Dance and Song Society, and a number of new music bands. The collection of the people and the songs has begun both in the U.S. and abroad. In celebration of the centennial of his journeys and his collection of hundreds of songs, stories and photographs, the Cecil Sharp, the photographic exhibition, exhibit is traveling around the region.

As part of the Cecil Sharp in Appalachia Project, organizers are looking for descendants of the Burnsville and Marion singers who may have information about their ancestors’ connection with Sharp in 1918. Although the exhibit includes only the families for whom photographs exist (Many of the pictures Sharp took were returned back to the families as a way of thanking them for their time and voices and as a remembrance,) they are interested in speaking with descendants of all the singers included in this diary. If you are a descendant of someone who is included in Sharp’s diary, please contact descendent@cecilsharpphotograph.com or attend the Burnsville Gallery reception on September 21 and speak with Donald Hughes.

The exhibit runs in conjunction with the 31st Annual Music in the Mountains Folk Festival on Saturday, September 22, from 5:30 to 8:30pm at the Burnsville Town Center (106 South Main Street). Please call the Burnsville office, 828-682-7215 for tickets and more information.

For more information about the exhibit or other Toe River Arts programs and events, please visit torriverarts.org. For the last over four decades, Toe River Arts worked to connect the community with the arts to enhance and improve the quality of life of its residents, and improve the vitality of its towns.

A Solid Piece of Protection
By Christy Lowman
Burke County

Did you know that there is an animal that has a piece of armor attached to their body that they can actually curl themselves inside of and snap it closed? The said turtle’s armor is from its shell. The shell is attached to the turtle’s lower ribcage and spine and is a permanent piece of protective armor, like a breasplate. Its shell is bone and covered by scutes. Scutes are the hard plates on top of its shell. The top part of a turtle’s shell is called a carapace while the bottom is known as the plastron. Unlike other turtles, mud turtles have one or two bony ridges on their plastron. This turtle is able to draw all of its body inside their shell unlike most turtles. The hinge allows them to bring up the bottom shell to meet the top shell making it a solid piece of protection.

Mud turtles have one other defense mechanism besides their shell. They have glands on the side of their bodies that secrete a sticky liquid when they feel threatened. This and their unglued shell make it hard for predators to eat this turtle. Mud turtles grow between 3-5 inches, with the males being larger than the females. They can live up to 50 years! Mud turtles are semi-aquatic reptiles, who prefer to spend most of their time on land instead of in water. They are omnivorous, stacking on nuts, insects, fish, tadpoles, worms, seeds and clams leafy greens found in ponds. They will burrow a few inches in the mud in the winter to hibernate during the cold weather. There are four subspecies of mud turtles. Eastern, yellow, Mississippi, and espoused. You can find the Eastern mud turtle here in North Carolina.

Did you know that you have your very own protective shell? It is called the breasplate of righteousness. It is the last piece of the armor of God that we need to discuss. Do you know how to be righteous? Righteousness means to be just. Righteousness means to be morally right or justifiable. In other words, we are to put on the breastplate of righteousness to help us live correctly the way God wants us to. We are to stand up for what is right in God’s eyes when someone is doing something wrong. When we follow God’s laws, and are righteous, we are blameless. We have the duty to tell others when they are wrong and assist them in doing what is right as well. When people see that we are living a godly life, they will notice that we are different than the rest of the world. They will be curious about why we act this way leading to an opportunity for you to tell them about Jesus.

So, put on your breastplate of righteousness and live differently in the world for Jesus! Let people know you belong to God not only by what you say but by how you act. Most importantly, tell everyone you see about Jesus!

Dear Lord, please guide us as Christians to speak boldly about you. Help all who are working to be seen what you say but by how you also announce, protect us as we stand up for you and that we live differently and justly in this sinful world. Help us to choose to do right instead of wrong. Equip each day with all of the armor of God while guiding us to be brave and courageous! In Jesus’ name we pray. AMEN

Stand firm then, with the belt of truth buckled around your waist, with the breastplate of righteousness in place. Ephesians 6:14 NIV

And then He told them, “Go into all the world and preach the Good News to everyone. Mark 16:15 NLT

I Have Been Blessed
By Allen Buchanan
Mitchell County

Does the name Mike Compton mean anything to you? What about the song, “I HAVE BEEN BLESSED”? On Wednesday, November 25, 2015, Mike released this song and today many Christian sing to each and every word as their testimony.

I too have been blessed. When the world looks on me and sees an overweight man sitting in a power wheelchair with an oxygen mask on my face and they realize all my limitations, they wonder how have you been blessed? I am still here! I am very much alive and Jesus lives in me. I do believe there are blessed people who don’t have a clue who Jesus is and the difference He makes living within your heart. Blessed with Jesus goes deeper than blessed worldly.

I haven’t always been described as my second paragraph states. At age 3, doctors told my parents that I had Muscular Dystrophy and twelve years would be my life. Doctors don’t know everything. One thing for certain, my parents knew Jesus and they trusted in Him and not the doctors. Once my parents learned of my fate, the opportunities of blessings began. Throughout my life, they have lovingly encouraged me. Life didn’t stop at age 12 as doctors predicted. I’m 60 and still going…yes, I have been blessed!

In the Bible we read 2 Samuel 9:13 — So Mephibosheth dwelt in Jerusalem: for he did eat continually at the king's table. and was lame on both his feet.

Throughout God’s word, the lame are mentioned many times. In the prophecies, many of them are healed. I walked for 35 years. As my strength began to weaken, I would rent a wheelchair for weekend trips. Slowly I became more dependent on a wheelchair. Twenty-two years ago, I went to a wheelchair full-time. I proved that if God wanted me to walk, He would give me a new pair of legs. I accepted it. Amazingly, my muscles did not require my feet to work. “I have been blessed”!

When I hear missionaries speak of their work in foreign lands, I’m a convert to know about people with limited mobility. Too often they are magically excluded from daily life because they have no way of moving around.

In America, if you have a disability, you are blessed with equipment to allow you to live independently.

Having rented standard wheelchairs for years, I didn’t have a clue how technical ordering my own could be. I got my first wheelchair in 1984. Since I was going to be sitting everywhere I went, the chair had to be comfortable and easy to maneuver. Therefore, it was fixed just for me by the Seating and Mobility Clinic Specialist at CarePartners Health Services in Asheville, NC. Imagine the job she encountered with a man 6’6” tall!

One ministry which I took part in was founded by Joni Eareckson Tada. Joni is an evangelical Christian author, radio host, and founder of Joni and Friends, an organization “accelerating Christian ministry in the disability community.” To learn more about Joni, visit joniandfriends.org. Another ministry of Joni’s is Wheels for the World. It provides the gift of mobility and share Jesus with those affected by disability worldwide.

After moving on to my second wheelchair, I wanted to offer my first one to someone in need. After connecting Wheels for the World, my wife and I delivered that chair to a drop-off point in Morganton, NC. Today, I have my 5th chair which is a powerchair.

Unfortunately, I have yet to locate a ministry for donating powerchairs. Many countries don’t have the necessary electricity needed to maintain these chairs.

If you have been blessed with a used manual wheelchair or medical equipment such as walkers, crutches, or cases and would like to put them to good use, I encourage you to contact Joni’s Wheels for the World.

Pray for Pastor Andrew Brunson

As Christians, we are all told in the Bible that one of the greatest joys and privileges as a believer in Christ is to suffer for our faith. The Bible is full of passages commending Christians who suffer in this way and offers various words of encouragement to those undergoing persecution. Paul writes in Philippians 1:29, “For it has been granted to you on behalf of Christ not only to believe in him, but also to suffer for him.” These words ring true for our brother, Pastor Andrew Brunson and his family.

Many of you may have heard about Pastor Andrew Brunson on the news. Pastor Brunson was born in Black Mountain, NC and has been a Pastor in Turkey for over twenty years. His church, Imaret (Resurrection) Church, is located in the city of Izmir. Brunson went to renew his Turkish visa in 2016 when he was taken into custody. Turkey claims false charges against Brunson, claiming he is guilty of terrorism, spying, and attempting to overthrow the Turkish government.

The Turkish government refuses to release Brunson despite demands made from all levels of U.S. Government. President Trump levied recent sanctions against Turkey as retaliation for their wrongful imprisonment of a U.S. citizen, promising to continue these measures until Brunson is released.

As a member of Congress, I believe it is important to raise awareness for Pastor Brunson, not only as a U.S. citizen, but also as a brother in Christ. As citizens here in the United States, we have a duty to speak out and advocate for his release.

Last month, I told you about two proposed constitutional amendments that will be on the ballot for voters this November — Victims’ Bill of Rights and Right to Hunt and Fish. Two other proposed constitutional amendments that will be on the ballot are Maximum Income Tax Rate of 7.0% and Require Photo ID to Vote.

If approved by voters, the proposed Maximum Income Tax Rate of 7.0% amendment would reduce the maximum allowable income tax rate in our state from ten percent (10%) to seven percent (7%). This amendment allows voters to reject a return to the days of out-of-control spending, high taxes, and multi-trillion dollar deficits. A Civitas Poll earlier this summer found that 80 percent of voters approve an income tax cap. In 2019 our state’s income tax rate will drop to 5.25%. In the event of an emergency or a recession, should the $2 billion Republicans have placed in our state’s rainy day fund be insufficient, lawmakers would have the ability to bring in additional revenue, other than raising taxes, at a sales tax increase. Since assuming leadership of the General Assembly in 2011, legislative Republicans have overturned the state’s tax code, lowering rates and eliminating dozens of loopholes — resulting in the vast majority of North Carolinians keeping more of their own tax dollars. The changes have also helped create hundreds of thousands of new jobs and consecutive budget surpluses. If voters approve, the Maximum Income Tax Rate of 7.0% amendment will help ensure the state does not reverse course on these reforms and return to burdening North Carolinians with some of the highest taxes in the Southeast, as it did when Democrats last controlled state government last to 2013.

Require Photo ID to Vote is another important, common sense proposed amendment that will give the opportunity to approve in November. Voters will choose whether to make North Carolina the 34th state to require citizens to show a photo ID in order to cast their vote in person. Currently, North Carolina is the last state in the Southeast not to have some form of voter ID at the polls. Voter ID would help safeguard citizen votes at a time when uncertainty exists around the security of the electronic election process. Voter ID would put to rest questions of voter fraud by folks of all political parties. Voter ID was upheld by the United States Supreme Court in 2008. Not surprisingly, because it is common sense, polls have shown voter ID is hugely popular in North Carolina and across the country. A June Civitas Poll found that 69 percent of all respondents support this proposed Require Photo ID to Vote amendment.

I hope you will join me in voting “For” both of these amendments on Election Day. As always, please share your thoughts with me or issues related to state government by emailing me at ralph.hise@ncleg.net or calling me at 919-733-3460.

This week, the Senate Intelligence Committee heard from third-party experts on short foreign influence operations’ continued use of social media platforms to sow discord and divide Americans. These assaults on the democratic foundation of this republic cannot stand, and our Committee, in a bipartisan fashion, is addressing the issue head-on.

Russia continues its aggressive and pervasive influence campaign against the United States to create chaos in the virtual domain and create potential dangerous physical confrontations between unwitting Americans. The Russian-affiliated cyber actors want to spread disinformation, provoke societal conflict and undermine public faith in our democratic institutions. Yesterday’s experts confirmed that these operations were never about elections, they were meant to exploit divisive issues like race and religion to sow discord. These actors want to weaken America.

As I told our addons this week, some feel that we as a society are sitting in a burning room, calmly drinking a cup of coffee, telling ourselves this is fine. That’s not fine, and that’s not the case. The challenge we face — preserving our American rights while defending them against a hostile foreign power — is a difficult one, but the Senate Intelligence Committee is uniquely positioned to foster this critical conversation. We are now entering the 20th month of our investigation into Russia’s meddling in the 2016 U.S. elections. In recent months, we have released a series of initial findings, provided recommendations to help improve election security, and unanimously passed out of Committee an Intelligence Authorization Act that will ensure the United States Intelligence Community has the tools, resources, and authorities needed to defend our nation.

We’re fighting for nothing less than the integrity of our society, and we need to enlist every person we can. What happened in 2016 is just one look at Russia’s attempts to erode the world’s faith in democracy by weakening history’s greatest example of it. We cannot and will not let them succeed.
Mob brings down statue at UNC Chapel Hill

A group of "protestors" — more accurately, a mob — brought down and damaged the Silent Sam statue on the UNC Chapel Hill campus on Monday.

A video can be found on YouTube.

After watching the video, try this as an interesting exercise: listen to the sound in the video, but do not watch. If you support the event that took place last night at UNC Chapel Hill, just imagine those sounds in our community as a group destroys something that is important to you.

Violence and the destruction of public property will not be tolerated in the state of North Carolina. Mob actions pose an immediate threat to the safety and well-being of not only our college campuses, but to the community at large.

Everyone involved in the destruction of the Silent Sam statue should be arrested and charged immediately.

House Speaker's response

Speaker of the House Tim Moore (R — Cleveland) released the following statement regarding Monday's events at UNC Chapel Hill. A video can be found on YouTube.

"There is no place for the destruction of property on our college campuses or in any North Carolina community. The perpetrators should be arrested and prosecuted by public safety officials to make clear that mob rule and acts of violence will not be tolerated in our state."

Summer is coming to a close, school bells are ringing across western North Carolina, marching bands are tuning up and high school football fans are anxious for their favorite teams to take the field. As another school year begins, I wanted to share some of the notable good news from the NC General Assembly regarding K-12 education.

Since 2011 Republican lawmakers in Raleigh have shown a strong commitment to public education by doubling the share of new state spending for public schools compared to the eight previous years (2002-2010) under Democratic leadership.

From 2011 through 2018, based on figures provided by our bipartisan Fiscal Research Division, the Republican-led General Assembly has appropriated twice as much from state budget growth to public schools when compared to 2003-2010.

Over the past 8 years, fifty percent (50%) of the new state spending (budget increases) in North Carolina have gone to K-12 classrooms, while just twenty-five percent (25%) of state budget growth was appropriated in public schools from 2003 to 2010.

Our K-12 Education systems increased share of state spending has been driven by five consecutive teacher salary increases that produced the third fastest rising teacher pay in the United States and provided nearly half of North Carolina teachers at least a $10,000 raise since 2014. Average teacher pay in North Carolina is now over $53,000.

But not only has K-12 budget growth increased under Republican leadership, total annual spending on public schools has also increased.

By contrast, last decade, from 2003 to 2008, Democrat lawmakers raised annual spending on public schools by about $1 billion, increasing the K-12 appropriation from $6 billion in 2003 to $7.8 billion in 2008. However, between 2009 and 2011, Democrats drastically cut education spending by over $700 million because their tax-and-spend approach and lack of a sufficient Rainy Day Fund left North Carolina drastically unprepared for an economic recession. As a result, when Republicans took majorities in 2011, the state was facing a $2.5 billion deficit, and on top of that, owed more than $2 billion to the federal government.

During the period of 2009 to 2010, what conservatives have called "The Lost Decade", previous Democrat administrations raised taxes four times, hiking rates by $729 million in 2003, $879 million in 2005, $543 million in 2007, and $1.8 billion in 2009, while putting less than a quarter of that new spending towards public schools.

Contrast this with state budgets enacted from 2011 through 2018 under Republican leadership, where we have lowered the state's sales tax rate, personal income tax rate, and corporate tax rate, saving taxpayers nearly $22 billion over the past eight years.

But even while cutting taxes, our state has enjoyed annual budget surpluses averaging $400 million, through conservative budgeting and growing our economy. How have Republicans accomplished this? By consistently committing to sustainable budget growth that is in line with both inflation and population growth. By doing that, we have never increased our state's total General Fund spending by more than 3.5% per year.

In closing, since 2011, my Republican colleagues and I have enacted long-term fiscally responsible budget policies to ensure our state can maintain in rapid growth in education spending and prevent drastic cuts in an economic emergency. Today, we have a record $2 billion in our Rainy Day fund, the largest in state history, and approximately 10 times what it was in 2010 under Democrat leadership.

Now that the federal government has finally followed North Carolina's lead and enacted historic tax cuts with President Trump's leadership, our economy continues to strengthen, and for the first time that I recall in my lifetime, there are more jobs available than there are people on unemployment.

This is great news for college graduates who only a few short years ago had little opportunity for employment after graduation.

So, as a new school year begins, I wish all of the teachers, parents, and students across western North Carolina a successful and enjoyable year.

And as always, if my office can ever assist you with state government, please don't hesitate to contact me.

Let Us Hear With an Ear for God
By Timothy W. Iron
Burke County

As we gathered at 8 AM to begin work this past Saturday on the Spiritual Retreat, we began with prayer. We asked God to protect us and to give us strength, guidance, and wisdom as a team. We also asked that this building be used to serve Him in whatever capacity so that in our work we would be serving God.

The overcast skies were constantly looming ever closer. The weatherman had predicted 100% chance of rain, so I found myself barely able to make out the markings on the saw before the dawn's first light. I was even more thankful that it had not yet begun to rain. Each night this past week, after a full day at school, I would drive home, change clothes, and dash out to the work site to continue building as long as the last vestiges of light would allow. Even so, the necessary pieces of framing were still being done at night by the work crew showed up for the first night group effort. Once we were all assembled, there was Jim Fate, a neighbor and Airtime Pilot; Leroy Mayne, my neighbor, mentor, and retired Scout Executive; John “Flech” Church, another friend and Paralegal, and lastly my son, Jonathan; all brothers in Christ. Quietly, as we worked, I found I was trying to get to the plywood sheathing on the roof. However, it was too late.

But in all things, my focus is to always give thanks. Even when things don’t go as planned, there is a certain level of gratitude which must be appreciated. Looking back, the things we accomplished Saturday were things that would have been impossible for one to do alone; at least not easily and in a timely manner. This group of men had the answer to the unforeseen problems that would arise, but God knew.

In all we do, there is always a purpose.

And in the end, we were learning.

One of the many things that had to yet be done was to put up the rafter collar ties. Since we had the manpower, three of us stood on the second floor collar; Leroy on the ladder and Flech and I holding up the two ends of the collar while carefully balancing on the ladder while holding a four-foot level as we carefully puch each rough cut 2x6 in place. At one point, the ladder shifted, and he became unstable. Shifting his footing, the level slipped out of his hand and came crashing down onto the left side of my head.

Most of the time, my lid is my eye. My initial reaction was, “Whoa, now that felt good.”

The bells were still ringing in my head when Leroy asked, “Did that hurt?”

We both laughed. In truth, it stung pretty good. “But hey,” I thought to myself, “at least I’m still conscious.”

However, as I lay upstairs with Leroy, the look on his face was that of concern. Leroy had been a father figure to me since we first met. The first day we walked into his home, which is now ours, there had been a feeling, some special kind of something I could recognize but didn’t know what it was. The realtor lady, who would later become a sister in Christ to me, Melissa Reid-Murphy, was showing us Leroy and his family’s home. Like in the movie, “West Side Story,” there was something baked into that home. Later, we would learn that when they were building the house, Leroy and Annette went around and wrote scriptures on the 2x4’s. When we would meet for our most unusual, pre-prayer interview, we would feel eyes on us each other for years. It was then Leroy because my mentor in many buildings of life, but most importantly, was one of the first.

So, as Leroy looked down at me from the top of the ladder with that look, I knew there was something more.

I lay in bed, I felt the feeling of responsibility weigh on me. Trying to abide any of his self-imposed guilt, I replied, “Ok, it’s just another one to go with all the others,” and laughed it off.

“Maybe we could get Jesus to touch it and heal it,” Flech chimed in about that time.

Instantly, my mind raced to the scriptures. Amongst the rings still dissipated, like echoes off the distant mountainside, there was no recollection of such an act that I could recall. “Bad Jesus healed the servant,” I asked out loud. Both Leroy and I looked at each other yes. The scene in the Garden of Gethsemane where Jesus was playing out in my head, but for some reason, the hollowness had slipped through my comprehension all these years. “Later I will have to look that up,” I thought to myself as we carried on.

Since everyone had other commitments, as is normal for a Saturday, we finished around noon and parted our ways, myself being thankful not only for the help but the fellowship as well.

However, as if it were confirmation of God’s presence that morning, Flech messaged me the scripture later in the afternoon to which my thoughts had been pointing at the dedication—Luke 22:50-55, “And one of them smote the high priest of the high priest and cut off his right ear. And Jesus answered and said, Suffer ye thus far: and he touched his ear and healed him.”

As my eyes read, and then reread the passage, the scene began to play out before me. Jesus, standing in the shadow longs of the morning, long before

Psalms 104

By Pastor Terry Cheek Th.D.
McDowell County

September begins a new year with many local churches and with it new and revived opportunities for reaching people with the gospel and encouraging the Church with their daily Christian walk. September 2018 is no different concerning this column. There are many men and women around us who want to be in church at least every Sunday morning, however their health or living arrangements prevent it. Many of these folks are hungry to learn more of God’s Word. Beginning this month, I will begin posting a short Bible study as my monthly column. Maybe you know someone hungry for God’s Word yet unable to attend Church? If so, pass this along to them. Feel free to use it to evangelize and encourage. Let’s begin our journey through God’s Word with a study of creation.

We will study from Psalm 104, take your Bible and join me there. As we begin let’s think about things that come first. You probably know the first book of your Bible is “Genesis” and it begins with “In the beginning God created the heaven and the earth” (1:1). From this verse it’s obvious the main character of the Bible is God! As such, it is impossible for anyone or anything to imitate God. Isaiah 44:4 reminds us “Thus saith the Lord the King of Israel and his redeemer the Lord of hosts: I am the first, and I am the last, and beside me there is no God.” The only individual to make a similar claim with truth and wisdom is Jesus Christ, see John 1:1.

From Psalm 104:5-9 we are given a picture of God’s Sovereign Power. Let’s begin with creation of earth. From verse 5 we see God as an architect. The Psalmist is telling us that no human being or power other than God Himself can remove or move the earth from its established position. It stands to reason, the one responsible for laying the foundations of the earth possesses the only authority to move or remove it as He commands. I have a question for you to seriously consider. Often our world seems out of control, when your world is out of control does it affect the way you pray? Why or why not?

Let’s move our study from creating earth to commanding the waters in Psalm 104:6-9. From our Psalm in verses 1-2 we understand that God is portrayed creating Himself with honor and majesty, covering Himself with light. We understand from verses 6-9 that He now covers the earth with deep waters, and at some time these waters stood above the mountain tops. These particulars verses seem to add clarity to Genesis 1:2. The Psalmist almost characterizes the water as a rebellious child, receiving rebuke and, and being to their assigned places.

From the Old Testament we understand quite clearly that God has sovereign power over His creation. God is powerful, personal and sovereign in all things. God is to be revered and faithfully served by those made in His image, and my family that includes us all. It’s time again for another question. During times of frustration and discouragement when you feel life is out of control, how can you use the passage to remind yourself, God is in control?

Let’s skip down to verses 24-30 and spend time considering Gods sustaining care. Verses 24-30 can also refer to this as God’s providential care. From our reading we quickly realize God’s care for His creation. Yes, judgment will one day cause God to destroy and recreate His earth but until sin and fallen man have pushed Him to do this God will continue to reveal life through the wonders of our seasons and beauty of His creation. Thinking about God’s providential care and His sovereignty gives me another question for you. What situations other than Sunday church services will prompt you to praise God? Why? As we continue to think about providential or sustaining care we cannot forget about the small things of life. Verse 25 talks about the small and great beasts. The earth is full of wonders and discoveries. They are all big and small part of God’s creation. When there are modern discoveries how do they affect your view of God and His creation?

God’s love and authority is found in His creation, His command, and His care. These are not limited to the earth and water, the moon and sun, these include you and I made in His image.

I hope you find blessing, hope and encouragement in this column—my prayer is for it to strengthen your relationship with God through His Son Jesus Christ.

Feeling Burned Out?
By Pastor Kurt Bomar

Mary County

It happens. We all go through some version of burnout. The question is, is it unavoidable or is there a way to be vaccinated from it? To get a clue, let’s look at the first case of burnout recorded in the Bible.

Lk. 16:1 Aaron’s sons Nadab and Abihu took their censers, put fire in them and added incense; and they offered unauthorized (or strange) fire before the LORD, contrary to his command. 2 So fire came out from the presence of the LORD and consumed them, and they died before the LORD.

While this burnout is a more literal than what we experience, I think there is a lesson we can learn from it.

Nadab and Abihu were supposed to take over the priesthood position from Aaron. I’m sure they were excited at the prospect of entering this coveted position. In fact, they were so eager that they broke a major rule. They were only supposed to get the fire for their censers from the Holy fire that was on the Altar. This strange fire in their censers came from their own source—not from God. The result is that their careers were short-lived.

I believe the continually burning fire on the Altar is a picture of the continual fire of the Holy Spirit. That is where we get our energy—not from our own resources or energy. Examples of strange fire in our lives are ministry for ministry’s sake, ministry for our own fulfillment’s sake, or ministry for other’s sake. These all may be very warming to us for a while, but in the end they will cause burnout. The only fire that will never turn out the fire from the altar of Calvary. Those who, like Paul, are consumed, motivated, and compelled by the love Christ demonstrated on Calvary will serve Him with passion, effectiveness, and intensity when they draw their last breath side of eternity.

So, if you’re feeling a bit burned out, I suggest you go back to the Altar, the altar of Communion. There you can re-align your motivations and get an emotional re-set because the love of Christ is a fire that never burns out.

Selah. (think about it.)

Burke United Christian Ministries

Many Thank-You’s
By David Burleson

Burke County

God has richly blessed Burke United Christian Ministries (BUCM) over the summer with the opportunity to serve those in our community who needed a hand up. During the month of June, July and part of August, BUCM was able to supply the following to our community:

- Assisted 12,335 individuals with some type of support
- Fed 16,051 individuals in the soup kitchen
- Provided 4,559 individuals with over 175,000 lbs. of food from the BUCM Food Pantry
- Assisted 1,542 individuals with clothing
- Provided laundry vouchers to 117 individuals
- Provided 69 families with diaper vouchers to be used at St. Matthews Methodist Church
- Provided 33 individuals with fans for cooling
- Provided 145 with $23,695.53 worth of financial crisis assistance
- Assisted over 55 individuals in our new LIFE enrichment center with educational and job skills opportunities

Every other year, BUCM does a picnic themed fundraiser. This year BUCM sponsored Picnic on the Parkway on Saturday, August 18 at the Morganton Elk’s Lodge. A big THANKS YOu goes to everyone who assisted and supported our Picnic on the Parkway. There are not enough “Thank You’s” to go around, but here goes. To Mary Ellen Weise for her determination, commitment, and tireless efforts. To Tara Colabelli for her tirelessness, persistence, and energetic spirit. To Wendy Miller for her creativity, decorating skills, and culinary expertise. To Roberta for his culinary and packing skills. To Ted Carothers, Glen Ken, Al Benomt, David Weise, Sidney Stith, Martha, and Matt Kirby for being willing to do anything that was asked of them. To Diane and Billy Bristow for their willingness to stay late and clean up after the event. To Jared Bailey for being an excellent DJ. To Jimmy Allen for being the best possible DJ. To the Elk’s Lodge for allowing us to use the facility and to Cathleen Bragg for her staff for the great food. Most importantly, thank you to all those who attended and supported the picnic. By all indication, everyone in attendance had a great time.

Thank You to Our Sponsors

BUCM has been blessed to partner with the Burke County School System and the Outreach Center to support our students by providing their back to school needs. BUCM will continue to honor the vouchers distributed at the August 16 Build a Backpack program until October 1. On Saturday, BUCM served over 60 visitors in our clothing closet by providing clothing, socks, underwear and shoes. Thanks to Denise Blandpass, Ayla Rutherford, Audrey Little, Chaw Phang, Martha and David Simpson and Max Davis along with several students and families for helping hand out the clothing.

Last year, we supported over 600 students with back to school clothing.

In the world in which we live, it takes our entire community to meet the needs of our neighbors. Each of you are a vital part of our community and it is essential we work together to provide the necessities to all our citizens in need. Please know that there are many ways we can partner together to assist others.

Please remember to keep BUCM and me in your thoughts and prayers. There are many difficult decisions we are called on to make and through prayer we can continue to make the appropriate decisions for our ministry. Thank you again for making BUCM a wonderful, caring place for others.

Spiritual Mile Markers
By Rick and Cindy Mercer
Barnes County

Many years ago, a good friend asked me if I had documented my “spiritual markers.” I thoughtly didn’t understand her question at the time, but it wasn’t long before I realized the importance of her inquiry. She had encouraged me to think back on my spiritual journey. As I began to reflect on the beginning of my spiritual journey, I found great encouragement of the many “milestones” I had been traveling with Jesus. Many years have passed since our conversation, and of course, the journey has morphed from individual spiritual markers to the blessing of spiritual markers with friends, family, and church members along the way. It became apparent that spiritual memory is crucial in the Christian life.

If we neglect to leave spiritual markers at the key crossroads of our life…we have the tendency to lose our spiritual bearings. These “markers” are important. They remind us of where we have been and where we are going. Remember the Israelites? They experienced a miraculous pilgrimage. Forty years of wandering in the wilderness was the cost of doubting God’s power to give them victory. We know the rest of the story. God showed up with an awesome miracle when the waters of the Jordan were parted so they could pass over and continue their conquest. Just like God knew that at times, the Israelites would face intimidating enemies, and would need a reminder that He was powerful enough to protect them…God knew that we would need that too.

And like the Israelites upon entering Canaan, have you been tempted to think that you made a few mistakes in your journey? Interestingly, God instructed them to build a monument on the banks of the Jordan River. Whenever they returned to that spot, they would see the monument and be reminded of God’s awesome power! The marker’s significance was to give them confidence to meet the new challenges they faced.

So, it is with our “spiritual markers” that we take inventory of the moments we make decisions that define a particular time in our life when we can clearly see how God was and is guiding us.

Remember the times when God called out to you to embrace principles and precepts in His word? Those are spiritual markers we need to remember. These markers have defined who we are spiritually. And they provide focus and encouragement for the days ahead. So many times, when God has spoken powerfully in regards to a commitment that should be made, I have written those moments down in a journal. Reflecting on spiritual markers helps us to make sense of what God is doing in our life. And when it comes time for spiritual discernment and direction…we do not have to fear; for we know God has been with us and will continue to be with us on our journey.

Our family put a spiritual marker on the map almost four years ago when God directed us to serve God’s people in the beautiful town of Morganton, NC. We made the journey from NE Oklahoma and have been abundantly blessed serving as the pastoral family for the Morganton Seventh-day Adventist Church. The friendships and memories we have made in this community have placed special marks on our hearts…never to be forgotten. But, we are on a journey, and God has called us to serve now in Northwest Arkansas and experience new spiritual markers. God sees the big picture and by faith we trust His plan is good, very good.

Thank you for the opportunity to love you and grow with you for the time God allowed our paths to cross. We look forward to spreading eternity with each of you!

“…and the children of Israel did so, just as Joshua commanded, and took up twelve stones from the side of the Jordan, as the Lord had spoken to Joshua.” —Joshua 4:9

Mitchell County 4-Hers

Attend NC 4-H Congress:
By Kaylee Brown
Mitchell County

This year’s 4-H Congress, held in Raleigh, NC, July 21st-July 24th, attracted more than 500 young people and their adult leaders for activities including presentations on a variety of subjects, leadership and citizenship training, service opportunities, officer elections and more. Mitchell County 4-H’ers received honors during the State 4-H Presentation Competition. Claudia Chandler received Gold in the Health and Fitness category, 14-18 age division. Jessy-Kate Glenn, honorably placed 4th in the Home Presentation category, 14-18 age division. David Harrison received Silver in Fisheries and Aquatic Resources category, 9-10 age division. Charlotte Hubbard was an honored state presentation participant in the Poultry Production and/or Preparation category, 11-13 age division. Jacie Silver received Silver in the Bugs and Bees category, 11-13 age division. Also accepting honors was Jodi Silver in the Fisheries and Aquatic Resources Category, receiving Bronze in the 11-13 age division. Mitchell county 4-H is proud to have such talented youth participants in state presentations this year.

On Saturday evening after state presentations 4-H’ers eligible to attend 4-H Congress (13 years and older) enjoyed opening assembly activities. Over the next few days 4-H Congress attendees from Mitchell County enjoyed leadership and learning workshops, 4-H dances, a county cultural experience, Clover Gala, 4-H office elections, and the Hands to Service Project. Those in attendance included Claudia Chandler, Emily Jordan, Jacie Silver, and David Harrison.

This year at the 4-H Cloverbud Luncheon, held on Monday July 23rd, Mitchell County 4-H’ers were honored for their hard work in their academics through scholarship. Congratulations to the following 4-H Scholarship recipients. Their accomplishment in 4-H combined with great academic success will surely serve them well as they further their education. Jessy-Kate Glenn, daughter of Darrin and Susan Glenn of Spruce Pine received the Robert and Helen Raimo 4-H Scholarship in the amount of $1,000. Daniel Silver, son of Jonathan and Amanda Silver of Spruce Pine received the Mitchell County 4-H Discovery Scholarship in the amount of $500.

Mitchell County’s very own Jessy-Kate Glenn was an AIRE participant and had her interview during 4-H Congress. We would like to congratulate her on her success. Jessy-Kate Glenn, daughter of Darrin and Susan Glenn of Spruce Pine was a selected winner in the AIRE competition. AIRE – Application, Interview, Resume and Essay competition – is a four-step process by which youth are chosen to attend national 4-H events including National Congress, National Conference and International Leadership Conference. As an honored recipient Jessy-Kate will be attending National Congress in Atlanta, Georgia later this year.

During this year’s Clover Gala, the 2017-2018 4-H district officers were recognized as well as 2018-2019 4-H district officers. Jessy-Kate Glenn was recognized as the outgoing 4-H West District President, while Luke Silver was recognized as the incoming 4-H West District President. Congratulations to both Mitchell County 4-H’ers as they have served and continue to serve the West District in such an important role.

The final day of 4-H Congress was bittersweet as the Mitchell County Delegation loaded up the van and headed over to the NC State Fairgrounds for the closing events of 4-H Congress. The closing event this year was our NC 4-H Service Project, which is a conference with community service event. In total 114 4-H’ers had over 500 meals for those in need. It’s no wonder how this goal was accomplished as 4-H is North Carolina’s largest youth development organization, equipping more than 247,000 young people each year with the skills needed to heal and improve the world around them. Please see the Mitchell County 4-H Facebook page for all 4-H Congress pictures at http://www.facebook.com/Mitchell-County-4-H-22882109309

Mitchell County 4-H enjoyed their county cultural experience by Kayaking on Lake Johnson in Raleigh, NC.

My name is Kaylee Brown. I am most recently from North Carolina State University, where I attended college and graduated with a degree in Animal Science. I grew up in a small town called Robbins in Moore County, North Carolina. I grew up showing horses, raising livestock, and working on my family farm. I am very excited to call Mitchell County my new home, and I look forward to being a part of this wonderful community.

Kaylee Brown, 4-H Agent Mitchell County, Joshua Silver, Jodi Silver, and Luke Silver, sons of Jonathan and Amanda Silver of Spruce Pine. Also, Wayne Buddleison, account manager with Duke Energy

Rain, Rain... Please Go Away!

By Ken and Jan Metrop
Avery County

Do you remember that little children's chorus that went something like this, "Rain, rain, go away, come again another day? Little children want to play. Rain, rain, go away?"

Here in the mountains, that refrain was resounding through valleys and mountain tops.
And it wasn't just the children who wanted to play. It was the adults, too, longing to go out and take and experience the outdoor spots available pleasing. "Please!"

Many other states felt the same effects of this unusual rainfall... echoing the song near and far.

We purposely bought flowers for our planters after May 15 to avoid springtime clover or frost. We created the outdoor barbecue we had foreseen for a hanging Fuchsia, hoping to attract humming birds. To our delight, a variety of Perennials, a Penta, a colorful array of Zinnias, and Rose Glow Lantana graced the porches.

Then the rains started and never let up. Occasionally, a bright ray of sunshine gave us false hope only to have the rains return even more fiercely. Tempered the soaking and harsh treatment the flowers were taking... bringing in a few for reprise. But, the flower boxes, screwed tightly to our porch railing, couldn't be moved.

However, the sadness I felt for these flowers couldn't compare to the ache in my heart for those who experienced flooding in their homes. Or friends who lost their home, car, and other belongings to a massive fire when everything had been so drenched. And there is the loss of visitors to outdoor recreational areas that depend on tourism for their livelihood.

Some wondered if it was time to build as ark!

In fact friends of ours were traveling to visit the enormous ark in Kentucky and asked us to go along. Looking outside at the pouring rain, my husband quipped,
"Maybe we should build a ark."

The rains we've had serve as a reminder of another childhood song that teaches us to build our spiritual houses on Christ, our solid Rock.

"Though the rain comes in torrents and the floods arise and the winds beat against that house," says Matthew 7: 23, NLT, "it won't collapse because it is built on bedrock." Jesus admonished his listeners with this parable to listen and wisely follow his teaching.

Those who don't are "like a person who builds a house on sand... when the rains and floods come... it will collapse with a mighty crash." (Vs. 26 & 27)

Rain or shine, let's establish our lives on Jesus who is dependable, trustworthy and faithful. Selah

CONSIDER THE LILIES
Look! Jesus says to us.
Look at the lilies and see their beauty.
They don't worry about too much or too little rain.
They receive what is sent and are dressed to arghily.
Be like them.

"If God cares so wonderfully for wildflowers... he will certainly care for you."
Matthew 6:30, NLT

The Love of God
By Billy Graham

The following is adapted from the message Billy Graham preached June 2, 1973, to some 1.1 million at Yeoido Plaza in Seoul, South Korea.

In 1952, I was here in Korea. It was at Christmas-time, and it was very cold. I've never been so cold in all my life, and I loved along with what is now the DMZ. I was at Heartbreak Ridge, and on Heartbreak Ridge there were 12 soldiers who were huddled together. An enemy snaked through the middle of them. It was going to go off in three seconds.

A soldier saw it and jumped on top of it. He grabbed it, balled it to his heart, and it exploded. He died, but his buddies were saved. They took what remained of his body back to the United States, and when they held the memorial service for that soldier, the source of the sermon was the same text that I want to use today: John 15:12.

It says, “Greater love has no one than this, than to lay down one’s life for his friends.” Jesus said this just before he went up to go to the cross to die for the sins of the world. He was having his last meeting with His disciples. And He said, “I have loved you and given myself for you. Love one another” (John 15:12).

Billy Graham preaches to troops during the Korean War in 1952.

A big tornado hit not far from where I live. It destroyed many houses. One man was in the basement of his house, and he had two little boys. He heard the storm coming. He heard the house falling down. He grabbed his two little boys and put himself on top of them. People found them later. He was dead, but his two sons were alive. He had given his life for his sons.

The Bible says God loves you. I want to think about God for a moment. Do you believe in God? The Bible tells us what kind of a God He is. He is the ruler of the whole universe. In the beginning God created heaven and earth (Genesis 1:1). The Bible says, God is not only the creator, but God is a spirit. The Bible also says, God does not have a body like yours. And because God is a spirit, He can be everywhere at the same time. When I am here in Seoul, I cannot be in New York at the same time because I am limited by a body. But God is everywhere. The Bible also tells us that God never changes. The Bible says, “I am the Lord, I do not change” (Malachi 3:6).

The Bible teaches that God is a holy God. And because God is righteous and holy, He is also a God of judgment. There is a judgment day coming.

Jesus said, “Every idle word men speak, they will give account of it in the day of judgment” (Matthew 12:36). The Apostle Paul said God has appointed a day on which He will judge the world (Acts 17:31). You will have to give an account of every word you ever said, every thing you ever thought that you said or did.

But the Bible also teaches that God is a God of love. The reason God created the human race in the first place was because He loved. He wanted some other creature in the universe to love. So, He created man and gave him in a beautiful garden. God said, “You can have all the fruit in the garden except one tree. There is one tree in the garden that you’re not to touch. If you touch it you will die” (Genesis 2:3-4) and Eve looked at it, and then the devil came and whispered in her ear, “Take some of it. It will make you wise, and it will make you like God, and when God saw that you did touch it in the garden of Eden” (Genesis 3:1-2).

Eve could stand the temptation no longer. She picked up the fruit and started eating. She got sick. Then the man saw it, and he got sick. And every person since then has been sick with a disease called sin. It wasn’t the fruit made sick. It was the fact that they had disobeyed God and broken God’s law. And the whole human race has that disease. We read the newspapers. We watch television. We know that something is wrong with the human race. What is it? The Bible says, “all have sinned and fall short of the glory of God” (Romans 3:23) and “The wages of sin is death” (Romans 6:23).

The Bible teaches that there are three kinds of death. There is the death of your body. All of you are going to die. We know that. But you can also be alive and your soul dead. Today there are many people whose body is alive but whose soul is dead toward God. And you don’t have peace, you don’t have joy, you don’t have happiness, you don’t have assurance that you’re going to Heaven. It is your soul that’s dead, and your soul needs God.

The third kind of death is when your body dies but your soul lives on, separated from God. And the Bible says for that soul, the future life becomes one of weeping and wailing and gnashing of teeth. The Bible has many words to describe the future of the lost soul. The Bible uses the word perish. The Bible uses the word condemned. The Bible uses the word punishment. The Bible uses the word everlasting fire. The Bible uses the word hell.

Whatever word is used, this death is a terrible thing. “For what will it profit a man if he gains the whole world, and loses his own soul?” (Mark 8:36). But the Bible tells us that God sent His Son to rescue the world in spite of our rebellion, in spite of our sins. God said, “I love you. I love the human race. I want to forgive them of their sins.” But how could He do it? He said, “If you rebel against Me, you’re going to die.” And He said, “If you come and put your life on the line for me and call on My name, I will forgive you. For them, I don’t know what they do.” (Luke 13:34).

He loves you so much that if you had been the only person in the world, He would have died for you. “Greater love has no one than this, than to lay down one’s life for his friends” (John 15:13). You’re a friend of Jesus. He died for your life for you.

And then something else happened. On the third day, He rose again. He is alive! And some day, the Bible says, He is coming back. Someday we will look up and riding on a white horse will be the King of kings and Lord of lords, our Lord Jesus Christ. And those of you who know Christ, those of you who have given your life to Him, you are going to reign with Him. What a glorious future we have, those of us who love Jesus Christ!

Now, what does He want you to do? First, He wants you to repent of your sins. The Scripture says, “God…now commands all men everywhere to repent” (Acts 17:30). If we are to be saved, if our sins are to be forgiven, we have to repent. Repentance means that you confess you are a sinner and you are willing to turn from your sins.

Second, receive Christ into your heart by faith. The Bible says, “Without faith it is impossible to please Him” (Hebrews 11:6). You come by faith. You cannot work your way. You come by simple, childlike faith—like a little child would come to his or her father.

Third, speak confess Christ. All the people Jesus called, He called publicly. You must be willing to take a public stand for Christ. Would you do that today? Let Him come and change your life. He will give you a new life for everyone. You will be concerned about your neighbor. It will make you a new father, a new mother, a new boy or a new girl. I am going to ask you today to receive Christ.

Today, “I am willing to turn from my sins; I want Jesus in my heart.” 1973 Billy Graham

Scripture quotations are taken from The Holy Bible New King James Version. Give your life to the One who loves perfectly.

Smart Helmets Alert Staff To Hard Hits On The Gridiron
By Cheryl Stueffer
Burke County

As Burke County high school football teams prepare for the upcoming season, coaches and trainers are using new technology to get inside players' heads—or at least their helmets. All four football squads—have received new Riddell helmets equipped with Riddell's InSite Training Tool. The technology inside the helmets monitors hits to the head and alerts coaches and trainers to possible concussions.

"These smart helmets have sensors that are wirelessly connected to sideline devices that let coaches and trainers know when a player takes a hard hit," explained Burke County Public Schools Superintendent Dr. Larry Pustum. "The player can come to the sidelines and get checked out before going back into the game. But, if it's an extremely hard hit that the helmet measures, the player can get more attention on the sidelines and go through the concussion protocol procedures."

The web-based, impact monitoring technology records nearly every head impact that occurs and builds data on players and the hits they take. The helmets are equipped with sensors on the front, top, sides and rear and record exactly where and how hard a player takes a hit. The information goes to a national database to assist with studies on concussions but also gives local coaches an extra tool to help players with prevention techniques. Coaches can use the information to influence player behavior by helping correct the way they hold their heads.

The technology also provides an extra set of eyes for when a coach or trainer may miss a hit.

Myron N. Stephens, Sports Medicine Manager for Carolinas HealthCare System Blue Ridge said: "We are excited that Burke County Public Schools is investing in the health and safety of our student-athletes. The new InSite technology sensors located within the football helmets give our team of athletic trainers another tool to use. The sensors detect the collisions, not that a player has sustained a concussion, that occurs during practices and games. If the collision is of the 95 percent of players position (i.e., QB, Linebacker, etc.) it notifies our team of athletic trainers with an alert. This can be helpful, especially if we wasn't able to witness the collision. We look forward to the upcoming football season and seeing what information we may give in terms of the health and safety of our student-athletes."

Here's what the head coaches are saying about the new helmets:

- D Angelo High football coach Chris Powell: "Overall, the kids love them. They love how they fit and that they are lightweight. We use our monitors in practice and as a coach I love it. I can evaluate the impacts after practices and then use that to teach kids better ways to tackle, block, etc. It's a great teaching tool."
- East Burke High football coach Mark Butzameyer: "East Burke started preparing this summer for impact monitoring. Our trainer, Sara Woods, has done a tremendous job in implementing the technology. Our trainer had our players set up in July and did a trial run. East Burke monitors our players every day we wear a helmet. I think that anything we can do to make our players safe in a contact sport will only help enhance the game. Players continue to play as they always have. We tell them the commitment that East Burke High School and Burke County Public Schools have toward their safety. I think the game is as safe as it has ever been - helmets, coaching methods, not using head as a head point to contact, etc. We as coaches need to educate our players' parents more about the safety measures that are in place. The preservation of our game depends on it."
- Freedom High football coach Luke Little: "I think they are a great asset to have and will keep the kids safer. If we had enough training stuff, they would be used a lot more effectively. It is hard for one person to deal with injuries, keep up with the heat and humidity and monitor a sensor device. To be used to its fullest, we need more training stuff."
- Patton High football coach Jonathan Browning: "I think it is a good thing to have another tool to evaluate the amount of contact our players have from day to day and on any particular play. I'm anxious to see the monitoring system in action this week during our scrimmages. All the feedback I have heard from parents has been positive. I think it is reassuring to them to have a system that alerts coaches and trainers to high impact collisions."

Pustum said, "Because of this innovative technology, our players can practice and play smarter. The overall goal is to reduce blows to the head and in turn lower the risk of concussions and brain damage. This will not eliminate concussions but will help us better manage them. I would like to thank our school board for their insight and willingness to allow us to take advantage of this later technology."

The Classroom of God’s Instruction

By Pastor Dan Quirleo
Bork County

Recently, people of all ages began another school year. Some students began their education career, while others began their final year of classes. Students battled a wide array of emotions as some were anxious, others were excited, and some were noxious. They are embarking on a new school year in which they will be challenged and taught new concepts. Some assignments will be more difficult than others, but they are all designed to further educate them in the classroom.

As believers, we are being taught in God’s classroom of instruction, a classroom unlike any other. It is a classroom that is designed to further our spiritual growth and the advancement of His kingdom. Its lessons are difficult at times, but we must remember the overall purpose of God: the well-being of His children. Romans 8:28 states, “And we know that all things work together for good to those who love God, to whom also are the called according to His purpose.” The individual willing to submit to His divine instruction will learn many lessons along the road.

All throughout the Word of God, we find individuals who learned such lessons, often through difficult and trying times. The heartbreaking trials that Job endured led to a vision in which he saw God as never before (Job 42:1-6). In spite of passing the years of trials, Jacob Abraham “staggered not at the promise of God through unbelief, but was strong in faith, giving glory to God” (Romans 4:20). Years of mistreatment allowed Joseph to see God’s guiding hand every step of the way (Genesis 50:20). Moses faced the challenge of leading a vast number of Israelites out of the bondage of Egypt to the Promised Land. How did he do so? Hebrews 11:27 teaches, “He endured as seeing Him who is invisible.” The disciples were personally instructed by Jesus Himself throughout His earthly ministry. They learned the importance of faith, the necessity of obedience, and the trap of self-confidence. Of all the things they observed Jesus do, I have always been amazed they asked, “Lord, teach us to pray.” (Luke 11:1). At times, they seemed to repeat lessons, a truth that is quite encouraging to us today. But even when they were being taught things, Jesus still lovingly corrected and instructed them, patiently realizing their human weaknesses.

The Word of God provides us with instruction today. Paul told Timothy, “All scripture is given by inspiration of God, and is profitable for doctrine, for reproof, for correction, for instruction in righteousness: That the man of God may be perfect, thoroughly furnished unto all good works.” (2 Timothy 3:16-17). When its content is studied, its truths applied, the Word of God will produce a godly individual. It is here that we find God’s primary method of instruction.

Every student eagerly anticipates graduation day. For the believer, this graduation will not occur this side of eternity. But graduation for the believer will be unlike anything he has ever experienced, for he will then receive his glorified body following the rapture. John wrote, “Beloved, now are we the sons of God, and it doeth not yet appear what we shall be: but we know that, when He shall appear, we shall be like Him; for we shall see Him as He is.” (1 John 3:2). John tells us that we, while we look forward to being like Him and seeing Him as He is, we have the responsibility now to purify ourselves into the very image of Christ. Ask God to create a sensitive heart that is eager to receive His instruction and learn all the lessons you can. The reward is truly out of this world.

Managing Anger so It Doesn’t Manage You
By Joyce Meyer

When we attended the 10-year anniversary celebration of Marcy Multipied in the St. Louis, Missouri area, one of the young ladies graduated from the program shared an eye-opening testimony. She said that her father committed suicide when she was a teenager and the pain of that situation led her to start drinking and using drugs. When she realized her life was falling apart, she went to Marcy Multipied for help.

The thing that really stuck with me was when she shared that as she went through the program, she came to realize that her problems started at the time her father committed suicide because it made her aware that he took his life and left her family. She couldn’t get well and overcome her addiction to drugs and alcohol until she got over being angry with him.

Many times we have issues in our lives because we are angry about something, but we don’t know it. I believe that for many people, the root of their problem is due to the fact that they are angry at God because their lives haven’t turned out right, or they are angry with someone who has hurt them. They may even be angry at themselves for some reason.

The word “anger” is one letter away from “dangers.” Benjamin Franklin is quoted as saying, “Whatever is begun in anger ends in shame.” And “anger is never without a reason, but it seldom has a good one.” It’s important for us to be aware of any anger issues we have because they can become dangerous and create damage in our lives.

Our Anger Epidemic
We live in an angry society, and we see the effects of it in problems like road rage, which has surged over the last few years. I recently researched statistics on anger and discovered that an estimated 1 out of 5 Americans has an anger management problem. 2 According to an article I read in Newsworld, people are coming in droves asking for help with anger management. Enrollment in anger management classes is booming and the demand for counselors is at an all-time high.

The Holy Spirit is the ultimate anger management Counselor. Jesus says in John 14:26 (AMP), “But the Helper (Companion, Advocate, Intercessor—Counselor, Strengthener, Standby), the Holy Spirit, whom the Father will send in My name...He will teach you all things.” We can be confident that when we go to God, He will give us the help we need to face the truth about ourselves and overcome our problems.

What Anger Looks Like
Dallas Willard, who was a professor of philosophy at the University of Southern California for 47 years and a best-selling Christian author, defines anger as “a feeling that seizes us in our body and immediately impels us toward interfering with, and possibly even harming, those who have thwarted our will and interfered with our life.” He also says, “Anger will evoke anger on the other side.” In other words, one person’s anger feeds another person’s anger.

We all get too angry. You may not be the kind of person who gets mad, but you may still get angry over what the Bible calls “wrong thinking, unfounded, stupid” (2 Timothy 2:23 AMP).

I wasted so many years of my life being angry about things that didn’t really matter and trying to control people. I was never going to be able to control the truth. In fact, there is nothing better than peace! And God’s peace in our soul equals power in our lives.

So, if you want more power and energy in your life, you can’t be angry all the time.

Find Freedom from Anger
In order to be free from anything, we have to face truth and take responsibility for our behavior. Blaming other people or circumstances and making excuses never changes anything.

John 8:31-32 teaches us that if we abide in Christ, continually obeying His teachings, we will know the truth and the truth will set us free! I want to encourage you to go to God first when you are angry. Tell Him honestly how you feel and make a determined decision to forgive. There is no sense wasting your life being angry about something that happened years ago— or even something that happened earlier today.

Take a few moments and pray something like this: “I need Your help, Lord. I don’t want to deal with my anger. I want to be free of my anger. I want to be free of the anger I hold toward You because of Your love, grace, mercy, and the power of the Holy Spirit in my life. I don’t have to act on those foolish feelings that can cause problems in my life and hurt me and others.”

Spend time quietly waiting on God with an open heart to hear what He has to say to you. Study His Word says about anger and being angry. And trust Him to help you make positive, healthy changes that will bring more of His peace and power into your life.

Will YOU Walk for Life?

McDowell County residents plan to step out and show their support of life at the 7th annual Walk for Life. The event is scheduled for Saturday, September 22nd, at the YMCA outdoor walking track.

“We are planning for another great turnout,” says Amy Dowdle, event coordinator. “In past years, we’ve had a crowd of about 400 people, and we hope for the same show of support this year.”

The Walk for Life offers something for everyone...live music, free refreshments, face painting and balloons for the kids, and lots of door prizes. Participants may take home tickets to area attractions such as Chimney Rock Park, Tweetsie Railroad, or Wilderness at the Smokies. They may also win gift certificates to local restaurants such as FatZ, Country Side BBQ, or Holly’s Dari. Local businesses have also stepped up to donate prizes such as an Amish rocking chair, beautiful handmade wreaths, photography packages, salon gift certificates, and much more. New this year is a Kids’ Door Prize Table with special prizes just for young participants.

“This once-a-year fundraising event is how we raise money to help keep our doors open,” says Dowdle. “Our Center is a busy place and we help a lot of local families.” This year’s Walk for Life goal is $30,000.

For anyone interested in participating in the walk, early registration is only $15 and guarantees a t-shirt in your size on event day. Folks can register online at www.mcpccac.org, or can download forms from the website. Pre-registration is not required before the event, but doing so by the September 13th deadline will guarantee the registrant a free Walk for Life t-shirt.

Registration begins at 9:00 am, and the walk starts at 9:30 am. The morning wraps up with awards and door prizes at 11:00 am.

Seven-year old Pierce Hollifield has participated in the walk since he was a baby. His grandmother, Denise McCormick, is the Director at the McDowell Pregnancy Center. "In his sweet, childish voice, he has issued this challenge... ‘Will YOU come walk with me? Will YOU help babies and kids like me?’”

The Maryland Community College Foundation will host the 2018 Yancey County Dream Home Tour on October 5 from 10 am-4 pm. This fun fundraising event benefits student scholarships. Tickets are available at www.maryland.edu or by calling 828-764-1233. MCC Practical Nurse graduate and scholarship recipient Jennifer Sampson shares her educational journey, achieving life goals, and expressing gratitude for those who helped her reach her dreams along the way.

By: Jennifer Sampson

"Once upon a time, when I was a little girl, I dreamed of being a nurse. My mother worked at the city hospital and would sometimes take me to work with her. I would wander the halls staring at the nurses in amazement. As I matured, so did my compassion and desire to help others – specifically the elderly. My plan was to obtain a nursing degree immediately after high school, but a series of unfortunate circumstances prevented me from graduating on time. It wasn’t until 9 years later that I faced my personal giants, returned to school, and earned my High School Equivalency. Afterwards, I worked up the courage to pursue my dream. After a decade of setbacks and successes, I was awarded a Diploma in Practical Nursing from Maryland Community College on December 15, 2017.

I am a Staff Nurse who cares for elderly patients at the Foley Center at Chestnut Ridge in Bowling Rock, NC which is part of the Appalachian Regional Healthcare System. I am also taking additional classes here at Maryland so that I can become a Registered Nurse. Moreover, I am working toward satisfying the requirements that are necessary to become a Nationally Credentialed Geriatric Nurse. Finally, if all goes as planned, my professional goals will culminate with me becoming a nurse educator.

There are absolutely no words to describe how walking in your dream feels. All I can say is that this feeling was made possible by the many scholarship donors in our community who are consistently making a difference in the lives of others. Scholarships provide help for students like me for tuition, fees, supplies, and gas to commute to our classes and labs or clinical rotations. Because of those who give, I have been given an equal and unfettered chance to be an active participant in the economy and enjoy the subsequent peace and prosperity that comes to successful individuals.

I now have a new sense of contentment and purpose. I walk with my head held up a little higher, not in pride, but in the knowledge that I am maximizing my fullest potential within. My basic needs are being met, and I am beginning to experience an increased sense of personal peace and prosperity. Thank you all for investing in me! This is my story: a tale of victory, restoration, progression, and fulfilled dreams.

I would like to leave you with two thoughts. The first is that education is key to a life without poverty. The second is that philanthropy still works and is vital to a healthy community and nation. With these two elements, many can break free from the cycle of financial insufficiency and become productive members of society. In the words of the religious philosopher St. Paul of Tarsus — "Be ye steadfast and unmovable, always abounding in good works, knowing that your labor is not in vain."
